Trial

1 (In open court; trial resumed)

2 THE COURT: Good morning. Have a seat. All right.
3 Ready to proceed?

4 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes, your Honor.

5 BERNARD KURY,

6 called as a witness by the Defendant,

7 having been previously duly sworn, testified as follows:

8 CROSS-EXAMINATION

9 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

10 Q. Morning, Mr. Kury.

11 A. Good morning, sir.

12 Q. Mr. Kury, it's true, is it not, that Guidant was very
13 concerned in evaluating the tentative proposal from Boston
14 Scientific about the ability to obtain prompt antitrust
15 approval; isn't that right?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. And speed was critically important, wasn't it?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And when Boston made its definitive offer on January 8th,
20 one of the things it touted was the fact that it had a binding
21 definitive agreement with Abbott; isn't that right?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. And the fact that there was an agreement in place with 24 Abbott provided considerable comfort to Guidant along those 25 lines, didn't it?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - cross

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. Now, Guidant had a board meeting on January 24th, 2006, to
3 decide whether to terminate the J&J merger agreement; did it
4 not?

5 A. I don't recall the date, but around that time that
6 happened, yes.

7 Q. As of that meeting, putting aside the January 9th call with 8 Mr. Deyo and Mr. Hilton, you did know that Johnson & Johnson
9 was asserting, based on the facts known to it, that there had 10 been a breach in the agreement; is that right?

11 A. Well, we had the memo from Deyo on the 23rd and also there
12 was a follow up on the 24th, which we discussed yesterday.

13 Q. I think you told me yesterday that you understood that 14 letter of the 23rd to be asserting a breach?

15 A. There was a strong smell of breach in it, yes.

16 Q. And you had not terminated the Johnson & Johnson/Guidant
17 agreement as of that date; is that right?

18 A. No, that was happening after the board meeting.

19 Q. And you had never received any legal analysis in writing
20 from Skadden or anyone else as to whether or not Abbott was 21 permitted to get due diligence under the J&J Guidant merger
22 agreement, had you?

23 A. Is your question a written advice?

24 Q. Yes.

25 A. No written advice.

ECHPGUI1

Kury - cross

1 THE COURT: Did you ever seek any advice from a
2 litigator?

3 THE WITNESS: No.

4 THE COURT: With all due respect to Mr. Mulaney, he's 5 not a litigator, right?

6 THE WITNESS: He is not a litigator.

7 THE COURT: And you had Johnson & Johnson writing a
8 letter that had a strong smell of breach, which should conjure
9 an image, and so you understood that that potentially could be 10 a lawsuit, right?

11 THE WITNESS: Yes, but Mr. Mulaney may not have been a
12 litigator, but his firm certainly had the resources --

13 THE COURT: Well, do you know whether Mr. Mulaney
14 talked to anybody who was a litigator?

15 THE WITNESS: No, I did not.

16 THE COURT: Do you have a chief of litigation or did
17 you have a chief of litigation at Guidant or somebody who was 18 in responsible for litigation in-house?

19 THE WITNESS: There may have been someone who had
20 primary responsibility for overseeing litigation, but that -- I
21 can't even remember who it was, and it wouldn't have been a
22 person that I think would have any particular insight into the 23 process because they had not been involved in a discussion with 24 regard to any of the agreements.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead.

ECHPGUI1

Kury - cross

1 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

2 Q. So just to follow up, at that point, you did not, either
3 yourself or through Skadden, seek to do any additional analysis
4 on this question; is that right?

5 A. Right. That's correct.

6 Q. And the reason you didn't is because you concluded that
7 J&J's position was lame; isn't that right?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. If you'd look at Kury Exhibit 83, the top e-mail is an 10 e-mail from you to Mr. Mulaney; is that right?

11 A. Yes, it is.

12 Q. And in your e-mail, this is in response to the -- this is 13 your reaction to the letter that you got from Mr. Deyo on the 14 23rd; isn't that right?

15 A. It is.

16 Q. And you say: "This is so lame, not only on the merits but 17 also because J&J would never get the shareholder vote to 18 approve its $71 offer." Do you see that?

19 A. I do.

20 Q. And you also thought that it was pointless? I think it
21 says that in that letter. The reason you thought it was 22 pointless and the reason you thought that J&J's offer would not 23 win the approval of Guidant's shareholders is because there was 24 a higher offer out there on January 8th from Boston Scientific;
25 isn't that right?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - cross

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. And, in fact, that offer, as of the date of this e-mail,
3 was an $80 offer?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. And J&J's offer at that time was $71; is that right?

6 A. That's my recollection.

7 Q. Now, you aren't saying that even if Boston Scientific had
8 not made that $80 or that $72 offer on January 8th, that 9 shareholders wouldn't have approved the J&J merger agreement,
10 are you?

11 A. I don't know that I was saying that. The facts at the time
12 I made that -- sent that e-mail were that we had an $80 bid on 13 the table.

14 Q. Now, your view that J&J's claim was lame and pointless
15 would have been the same even if Mr. Deyo had written you that 16 January 23rd letter at an earlier date; isn't that right?

17 A. Well, I can only speculate at that, and I guess I would 18 speculate that if he had sent me the letter somewhat earlier, I
19 would have followed the same practice. I would have sent it to 20 Mr. Mulaney, gotten his advice and proceeded to respond to 21 Mr. Deyo.

22 Q. You would have still concluded that it was lame, wouldn't
23 you?

24 A. I had no reason to change that.

25 Q. Or pointless?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - cross

1 A. In light of the $80 offer, yes, the practicality of whether
2 they could ever get a stockholder vote.

3 Q. Now, would you look at Exhibit 53, Kury.

4 THE COURT: Kury?

5 MR. WEINBERGER: Kury Exhibit 53.

6 Q. Could you identify this, Mr. Kury, as a termination notice
7 that you sent -- second page is the termination notice that you
8 signed and sent to Mr. Deyo on January 25th, 2006?

9 A. I see that, and I agree, yes.

10 Q. And that's two days after, there's no dispute, you were 11 aware that J&J had sent you a letter saying that they believed 12 the agreement had been breached; is that right?

13 A. That was a day or two, yes, two days after I received
14 Mr. Deyo's letter.

15 Q. I want to read you a paragraph from the proposed findings
16 that Guidant has submitted to the Court here. It's Paragraph
17 121, the piece of that paragraph it says as follows: "Had J&J
18 notified Guidant prior to its acceptance of the Boston
19 Scientific offer, Guidant could have pursued alternative
20 courses of action such as seeking a declaratory judgment,
21 rejecting the Boston Scientific offer or refusing to pay the 22 $705 million termination fee."

23 It's correct, is it not, that Guidant could have done
24 all of those things when it received -- or any of those things
25 when it received Mr. Deyo's letter on January 23rd?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - cross

1 A. Well, I'm not familiar with the document you referred to.

2 I don't think I ever read the proposed findings of fact, but it
3 sounds as if those options would have been available, yes.

4 Q. And you also could have disclosed to Guidant shareholders,
5 who were being asked to approve the Boston Scientific deal,
6 that J&J was alleging a breach, couldn't you?

7 A. Yes, we had the capability of doing that.

8 Q. You never did that, did you?

9 A. Not that I recall.

10 Q. There's no securities filing, no proxy statement where you
11 said that, is there?

12 A. Not that I recall, sir.

13 Q. And that's because you thought it was lame, right?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. Can I just have one more area to briefly cover, Mr. Kury.

16 Isn't it correct that, at least from the time that 17 Boston Scientific came on the scene, that the Skadden corporate
18 partner most involved in the transaction was not Mr. Mulaney
19 but was Mr. Duwe?

20 A. I don't recall that.

21 Q. Okay. I want to hand up --

22 THE COURT: I don't think Mr. Duwe does either.

23 MR. WEINBERGER: Sorry, your Honor?

24 THE COURT: I don't think Mr. Duwe does either because 25 he didn't recall much of anything. Steadfastly so, I might

1 add.

2 MR. WEINBERGER: May I approach, your Honor?

3 THE COURT: Yes. Thank you.

4 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

5 Q. PX52 is an e-mail that you sent -- let me just get my own
6 copy of it -- e-mail that you sent to Mr. Duwe on April 25th,
7 2006; is that right? It's the middle e-mail.

8 A. Which one are you reading, sir?

9 Q. It's the one that is about a quarter of a way down the 10 page, from you to Mr. Duwe dated --

11 A. Was that "from last Friday"?

12 Q. Yes, the one that says "congratulations"?

13 A. Yes, I see that.

14 Q. This is the -- this is an e-mail that was sent after the 15 closing of the Boston Scientific transaction; is that right?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. And in the middle of this e-mail you say, "Probably the 18 smartest decision I made at Guidant was to hire Chip, and then
19 get him to move out of the way so that you and Alison and, in 20 the early days, Mike DeFrank could do the work;" do you see
21 that?

22 A. Yes.

23 MR. WEINBERGER: I have no further questions.

24 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Boies?

25 MR. BOIES: Thank you, your Honor.

1 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

2 BY MR. BOIES:

3 Q. I'm going to hand out a small binder of gathering that 4 together. What was the purpose of you writing that e-mail to
5 Mr. Duwe?

6 A. It was just a typical post-closing kind of thing that I
7 thought would be appropriate to send to some people who have 8 worked very hard and diligently and well on a transaction in 9 which I was involved.

10 THE COURT: Did you really have a heart of stone?

11 THE WITNESS: Well, my wife sometimes thinks so, but 12 my daughter realizes I'm a marshmallow. In fact, she describes 13 me sometimes as a pushover.

14 THE COURT: Pushover?

15 THE WITNESS: For her.

16 THE COURT: We'll see. I haven't asked you any 17 questions yet. Go ahead, Mr. Boies.

18 MR. BOIES: Thank you, your Honor.

19 BY MR. BOIES:

20 Q. In December of 2005, how long had Guidant been a client of 21 Skadden?

22 A. I don't know for certain, counselor, but several years. I
23 had been, at that point, at Guidant -- your time frame was 24 December 2005?

25 Q. Yes.

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 A. I started to work at Guidant in April of 2004. I know
2 Skadden had represented them in some -- on some matters for at
3 least a year or two or three before I got there, but I don't 4 know exactly when.

5 Q. How long had you been personally working with Chip Mulaney
6 as of December 2005?

7 A. So about 16 months.

8 Q. And had you worked extensively with Mr. Mulaney during 9 those 16 months?

10 A. Yes, very extensively.

11 Q. What was your view of Mr. Mulaney in December of 2005?

12 A. I thought he was a wonderful lawyer. I was happy to have
13 him. I felt very comfortable with him. We had worked together
14 for a long time. He always steered me in the right direction,
15 so far as I could tell, and I built up a lot of confidence in 16 him.

17 Q. By December 2005, had either Skadden or Mr. Mulaney ever
18 given you any reason to doubt their advice?

19 A. No.

20 Q. There was a question this morning about whether you had a 21 head of litigation. How large was your law department in 22 December of 2005?

23 A. It was roughly 25, but the vast majority of them were not 24 at headquarters. I was at headquarters in Indianapolis, and 25 Guidant had a decentralized corporate structure. And most of

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 the business operations were handled by subsidiaries who were
2 located elsewhere, in particular, in St. Paul and Minneapolis
3 and also out on the West Coast, and most of the lawyers were 4 assigned to those subsidiaries. They reported directly to the 5 CEO of the subsidiary.

6 Most of them, maybe all of them, only had a
7 dotted-line connection to me. In Indianapolis, I don't 8 remember exactly, there may have been something like four or 9 five lawyers, but even there, they weren't people who were 10 necessarily available to me to do work on things such as this 11 Johnson & Johnson merger. They may have been there because 12 they were lawyers for the HR department or something of that 13 kind.

14 And by the time of December 5, I don't think there was 15 anybody there that I thought would be of any significant help
16 to me in analyzing and dealing with the issues that were 17 arising.

18 Q. You were asked a number of times on cross-examination
19 whether you remembered any specific advice, specific
20 conversations with Skadden; do you recall that generally?

21 A. What was the word after specific, sir? Do I recall or did
22 I get any specific?

23 Q. You were asked on cross-examination whether you recall, in 24 connection with a number of things like the addendum, the 25 accession agreement --

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. -- joint defense agreement, you were asked whether you
3 recalled any specific advice or specific conversations with 4 Skadden. Do you recall that?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. During the period of December 2005 and January 2006, how
7 frequently were you communicating with Skadden and Mr. Mulaney?

8 A. Well, virtually on a daily basis and sometimes numerous
9 times throughout the day, either by telephone or e-mail.

10 Q. With respect to the advice that they gave you concerning 11 whether or not you could provide information or whether 12 information could be provided to Abbott, although you don't
13 remember the specific advice or specific conversations, you
14 feel confident you remember the substance of the advice that 15 you received?

16 A. I do.

17 Q. And what was the substance of the advice that you received,
18 Mr. Kury?

19 A. Substance about?

20 THE COURT: About? About what?

21 Q. About whether or not the material and information provided
22 to Abbott could or not be provided to Abbott?

23 THE COURT: You can answer.

24 A. Oh, what is my basic understanding? My basic understanding
25 was that they had advised me that they viewed Abbott as a

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 representative of Boston within the meaning of the Johnson &
2 Johnson confidentiality agreement or provisions, non-solicit
3 provisions, et cetera.

4 Q. With respect to the joint defense agreement and what was 5 referred to as the addendum and the accession agreement and the 6 other documents that you were asked about, who drafted those 7 documents?

8 A. As between Guidant and Johnson & Johnson or Boston? Or 9 which individuals?

10 Q. Who was responsible on behalf of Guidant for the drafting
11 of those documents?

12 A. It would have always have been, so far as I can recall,
13 Skadden.

14 Q. When Skadden drafted the document and presented it to you
15 to sign, what was your understanding of whether or not Skadden
16 was advising you that this was an appropriate document for you
17 to sign?

18 A. That was my clear understanding.

19 Q. I'd like to ask you some questions about some of the 20 documents that counsel for Johnson & Johnson asked you about,
21 and I'd like to begin with John Exhibit 21, which is in the 22 cross book that --

23 A. Is that going to come up on the screen?

24 Q. Actually, I think it's also in the little book that I gave 25 you. So it might be easier for you to find it there.

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 A. Is it coming up on the screen, sir?

2 Q. I think it is coming up on the screen.

3 THE COURT: You're very high tech, Mr. Kury. You
4 don't like binders. You like the screen.

5 THE WITNESS: Well, I'm basically an old fashioned
6 paper guy, but I'm trying to get more into at least the 21st
7 century than I was before.

8 A. So are we looking at John 21?

9 Q. John 21.

10 A. The responsive but yet responsible for the --

11 Q. Yes. And that's actually the one I want to ask you about.
12 You were asked about your e-mail that's on December 21st at 13 1:53 p.m. in the middle, where you wrote that you were under 14 tremendous pressure from BSX to accommodate Apple, and you say:
15 So let's do what we can without violating the antitrust
16 constraints reasonably interpreted or otherwise shooting
17 ourselves in the foot; do you see that?

18 A. I do.

19 Q. And then Mr. Capek writes back: "We are trying to be 20 responsive yet responsible;" do you see that?

21 A. I do.

22 Q. And was that your understanding of what the approach was of 23 Skadden in dealing with these issues, in terms of accommodating
24 Apple that is described here?

25 A. I'm not sure I fully understand your question, sir. My

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 understanding was that we -- my attitude and the attitude I
2 tried to convey to the people on the Guidant staff, was that we
3 would do what we could to accommodate Apple and Boston, but we
4 were to be -- at all times to be mindful of our legal
5 obligations to other people.

6 THE COURT: Well, do you think this e-mail, when you
7 wrote this e-mail or the portions of this e-mail chain that
8 were written by you, you had the Johnson & Johnson merger
9 agreement in mind?

10 THE WITNESS: This e-mail is addressed, I believe,
11 to -- Can we go back to the prior one? Because I'm seeing the 12 responsive.

13 THE COURT: This is where paper can help.

14 THE WITNESS: Okay. Thank you, sir. I think you were 15 talking about the one about, let's do what we can without 16 shooting ourselves in the foot.?

17 THE COURT: Yes, 1:53, in the middle of the page, time
18 stamped.

19 THE WITNESS: I see it now. Well, as I see here now,
20 the primary addressees of this were John Lapke and Neal Stoll,
21 particularly Mr. Lapke, his basic role, in fact, about his only
22 role in this transaction was antitrust. He was not a general
23 lawyer. He was an Abbott -- God, I can't speak this morning --
24 he was a Guidant lawyer out in the West Coast.

25 But by focusing on antitrust, that's what I was

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 thinking was relevant to them. I was always comfortable that
2 the various parties on the Skadden team, particularly
3 Mr. Mulaney and Mr. Duwe, were very mindful of the Johnson &
4 Johnson agreement, and I wasn't even necessarily expecting
5 someone like Mr. Lapke to be particularly familiar with the 6 Johnson & Johnson agreement.

7 THE COURT: That's my question. Did this exchange
8 have anything to do with the Johnson & Johnson merger
9 agreement?

10 THE WITNESS: No, that wasn't my -- I wasn't -- I did
11 not mean to imply that the Johnson & Johnson agreement was 12 irrelevant, but that was the focus of this, was providing 13 information, and there was some -- I guess there was some 14 holdup at some point because of some concern about needing to 15 do some antitrust stuff.

16 THE COURT: So the admonition, responsive yet
17 responsible, you didn't take that to have anything to do with 18 the J&J merger agreement; this was all about antitrust issues,
19 correct?

20 THE WITNESS: Yes.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Next question.

22 BY MR. BOIES:

23 Q. Did you have a different approach with respect to the 24 obligations that you had under the Johnson & Johnson merger
25 agreement?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 A. No. Are you asking me whether I wanted to be responsible
2 and not shoot ourselves in the foot? Yes, absolutely.

3 Q. And I'm asking you specifically now, not about antitrust
4 but about your obligations --

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. -- under the Johnson & Johnson merger agreement?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. Let me turn to the January 9 call that you've been asked
9 about a number of times. This was a call that you had with 10 Mr. Deyo and Mr. Hilton; do you recall that?

11 A. I do.

12 Q. Now, let me begin by asking you to look at Kury 51, which I
13 believe we've included in the small binder that we handed you.

14 A. I see it.

15 Q. And this is your response to Mr. Deyo's later January 23
16 letter, correct?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. But at the very beginning you talk about what you describe
19 as your memory of the January 9 conversation, correct?

20 A. That is correct, sir.

21 Q. And you say: My memory of our conversation on January 9,
22 2006, is it concerns your desire to be assured that Johnson &
23 Johnson was getting all information it supplied to Boston
24 Scientific or Abbott and not previously shared with Johnson &
25 Johnson, and that you asked me to look into the matter and

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 confirm that this was being done; do you see that?

2 A. I do.

3 Q. And was that, in fact, your memory of the conversation?

4 A. It was.

5 THE COURT: So you don't recall any discussion, any
6 mention of disclosure of confidential material to Abbott being 7 a breach of the agreement?

8 THE WITNESS: That is correct, sir.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 BY MR. BOIES:

11 Q. Following the January 9 conversation that you had with 12 Mr. Deyo and Mr. Hilton, did you follow up on what you describe
13 here in Kury Exhibit 51 as your understanding of what Mr. Deyo
14 and Mr. Hilton had expressed concerns about?

15 A. I do recall that, and I think the -- I think it was 16 probably the very same day I sent an e-mail to people at 17 Skadden saying this is what came up on our conversation, and I
18 want to make sure -- Johnson & Johnson wants to make sure that 19 they're getting the information that they're entitled to.

20 And I said, please confirm that this has been done,
21 and I received responses back, I think still that very day,
22 saying that all the DES information had been sent to them
23 before, and there were one or two additional documents which 24 would be sent out the next day.

25 Q. Let me try and show you some documents that relate to this

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 subject. I'd ask you to look first at Defendant's Exhibit 185.

2 THE COURT: This is in your little binder?

3 MR. BOIES: It's in the small binder, your Honor.

4 Q. And in particular, I want to direct your attention to the
5 e-mail from you dated January 9 at 12:24 p.m.?

6 A. Okay. Let me find it here. Yes.

7 Q. And this is from you to Mr. Capek and Mr. Lapke and a
8 number of other people at Skadden and elsewhere on the subject
9 of DES due diligence. Do you see that?

10 A. I do.

11 Q. And you say: "I'd like to draft an e-mail to Johnson &
12 Johnson telling them that we think they have all the data but 13 we're happy to set up further conversations/access, if that 14 would be helpful. Can you confirm Neal's statement below, re
15 documents that have been shared." Do you see that?

16 A. I do.

17 Q. And the statement that you're referring to is the statement
18 from Neal Stoll that is the bottom of the first page of 19 defendant's 185; is that correct?

20 A. Yes, let me see if I can find -- Can I see the sentence?
21 Yes.

22 Q. Now, going back to your 12:24 p.m. January 9th e-mail, why
23 did you send that e-mail?

24 A. I wanted to be responsive to J&J. I wanted to assuage
25 their concern that they may not have gotten everything and if,

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 by some chance, there had been something they hadn't gotten, to
2 please get it over to them because I wanted to be compliant
3 with our obligations to them.

4 Q. Now, if J&J in this January 9th conversation, had told you
5 that they believed that you had somehow breached any provision
6 of the merger agreement or that they were concerned about
7 possible breach, is that something that you would have informed
8 Skadden about, just as you did in your 12:24 p.m. e-mail about 9 the data issue?

10 A. Well, of course. At this point, it's only conjecture, but
11 my answer would be absolutely. If they had told me, we think
12 you can't do this, even if I thought they were crazy on that
13 point, I would have immediately called Mr. Mulaney saying, hey,
14 they've raised this, what do we do?

15 Q. Let me ask you to look next at Defendant's Exhibit 187 and,
16 in particular, there is an e-mail at the bottom of the first
17 page from Alison Rhoten to you, copies to a lot of people,
18 dated January 9th at 6:23 p.m. and the subject of e-mail, "For 19 Juice." And "Juice," of course, is Johnson & Johnson, correct?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And it says: "Bernie, attached please find a brief e-mail
22 from you to Juice addressing their questions with respect to 23 the DES diligence process. Please let me know if you have any 24 questions or comments in connection with the attached." Do you
25 see that?

ECHPGUI1

1 A. I do.

2 Q. And did you understand that this was in response to your
3 earlier request to Skadden, following up with your 4 understanding of what Johnson & Johnson had raised in your
5 January 9th --

6 A. It is.

7 Q. -- conversation with him?

8 A. It is, sir.

9 Q. Let me ask you to look next at John Exhibit 32.

10 A. I see it, sir.

11 Q. And this is dated January 9th, 2006, at 7:44 p.m.; is that
12 correct?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And this goes from Alison Rhoten at Skadden to, among 15 others, Mr. Townsend and Mr. Hilton and Mr. Deyo, correct?

16 A. Yes, sir.

17 Q. With copies to you and Mr. Mulaney and others, correct?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And it says: "At Bernie Kury's request, please note that 20 all documents included in the data room with respect to 21 Guidant's VI and ES businesses have been burned to a CD and 22 provided to Cliff Birge at Johnson & Johnson, except for DES
23 sensitive documents. DES sensitive documents reviewed by 24 Boston Scientific and Abbott during the diligence process have 25 been provided to Cherylyn Ahrens at Cravath. Copies of

2 Cliff Birge at Johnson & Johnson and to Cherylyn Ahrens at
3 Cravath, as appropriate, tonight via FedEx for delivery
4 tomorrow. The appropriate people at Guidant's VI and ES
5 businesses are available if you have additional questions."

6 Do you see that?

7 A. I do.

8 Q. And what was the purpose, as you understood it, of sending
9 this to Johnson & Johnson the evening of January 9th?

10 A. To respond to the -- what I understood to be their concern
11 expressed in the earlier phone call on that day.

12 Q. Now, between January 9th and January 23rd, you met or spoke
13 with Mr. Deyo at least on two occasions; is that correct?

14 A. I don't recall that, counselor. I'm not saying it's wrong;
15 I just don't recall.

16 Q. Let me ask you to look at Kury Exhibit 7 in the small
17 binder.

18 A. Yes, this is the supplement to the proxy statement?

19 Q. Yes, yes.

20 A. All right.

21 THE COURT: Kury 37 you said?

22 MR. BOIES: Kury Exhibit 37.

23 BY MR. BOIES:

24 Q. Now, if you would turn first to the page that bears the 25 Bates number ending 871?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 A. I see that, sir.

2 Q. In the middle of the page there is a paragraph that says:
3 "On the morning of January 11th, 2006, Mr. Weldon and Mr. Deyo
4 met with Mr. Cornelius and Mr. Kury." Do you see that?

5 A. I do.

6 Q. Does that refresh your recollection?

7 A. It does.

8 Q. And if you go to the next page, the first full paragraph,
9 it says: "On January 13th, 2006, Messrs. Weldon and Deyo again 10 met with Messrs. Cornelius and Kury." Do you see that?

11 A. I do, sir.

12 Q. And does that refresh your recollection?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. In either of these meetings or at anytime prior to the 15 January 23rd letter, did Mr. Deyo or Mr. Hilton or Mr. Weldon
16 or anyone representing Johnson & Johnson, suggest to you in any 17 way that there had been any breach of any obligation that 18 Guidant had to Johnson & Johnson?

19 A. Not that I can recall.

20 Q. And if they had done that, is that something that you would 21 have acted upon promptly?

22 A. Absolutely.

23 Q. Let me ask you to look at Defendant's Exhibit 191. This is 24 an e-mail from you to Mr. Duwe and Mr. Mulaney dated 25 January 6th, 2006, and the time that's shown here is

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 12:43 p.m.; do you see that?

2 A. I do.

3 Q. And you say: "Russ Deyo called this morning. He had two
4 points. One, J&J disagreed with our interpretation of our
5 obligation to furnish info, re our discussions with BSX (i.e.
6 Johnson & Johnson wants us to give them copies of our
7 markups)." Do you see that?

8 A. I do.

9 Q. And what was your purpose in writing to Skadden about this?

10 A. To tell them that a question had been raised by J&J, and I
11 wanted to make sure that we addressed it.

12 Q. And if J&J had ever raised a question about whether or not 13 there was any possibility that you were breaching any 14 obligation to J&J in terms of providing information to Abbott,
15 is that something that you would have promptly raised with 16 Skadden, just as you did in this example?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. You also note here that Mr. Hilton had indicated that he 19 would be sending you an e-mail on this; do you recall that?

20 A. Well, I see the words. I do not recall that independently,
21 looking at this document.

22 Q. Did Mr. Deyo, in fact -- or Mr. Hilton, excuse me. Did
23 Mr. Hilton, in fact, follow up with an e-mail the following
24 day?

25 A. I don't recall.

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 Q. Let me ask you to look at Kury Exhibit 83, which was a
2 document that you were shown this morning by counsel for
3 Johnson & Johnson. This is your "this is so lame" e-mail?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. When you wrote that, "this is so lame, not only on the 6 merits but also because J&J will never get the shareholder
7 vote," why was it your view that the January 23 letter that you
8 had just received was so lame on the merits?

9 A. Well, because it was contrary to the clear understanding
10 that I thought we had on our side that we had the right to do
11 what we were doing, and what he was saying did not dissuade us
12 from that.

13 THE COURT: So what was your merits-based analysis?
14 I'm not sure I understand.

15 THE WITNESS: Well, I think my analysis was that we 16 were comfortable that -- very comfortable that Abbott was 17 entitled to due diligence as a representative, and there is 18 this point that we discussed now on a number of occasions. And 19 based on Skadden's interpretation and the confidence that Chip
20 had in that analysis, and my confidence in that as well, that 21 we just didn't think they were telling us anything that we 22 hadn't considered and that we were going to go ahead unless 23 something else happened.

24 THE COURT: So this was before or after your "but 25 seriously, folks" e-mail?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 THE WITNESS: I don't know exactly, sir, because I
2 think I've already mentioned I'm a little clear about --
3 unclear about exactly when the "but seriously" e-mail went out.
4 I do know it went out -- I'm confident it went out before we
5 sent the response to Mr. Deyo, but I don't know exactly when.

6 THE COURT: Well, "but seriously, folks" suggests some 7 concern, some doubt as to the merits of your position; is that
8 a fair characterization?

9 THE WITNESS: No, I don't think it is, sir. I think
10 my view had been all along that Abbott was a representative. I
11 thought that the mention at the end of one of those paragraphs
12 of the possibility of them being another bidder or a joint
13 bidder was not the basis on which I had been relying, and I
14 don't think it was the basis on which Mr. Mulaney and Skadden
15 were relying on making the decision to give the information to 16 Abbott.

17 THE COURT: So at any point did you ever say to 18 Mr. Deyo that they're a representative? Abbott was a
19 representative of Boston Scientific, we all understood that?

20 THE WITNESS: I don't recall that that specific word
21 was used, and as I think we discussed yesterday, the response
22 that I sent, prepared by Mr. Mulaney, did not specifically use
23 the word representative.

24 THE COURT: But that was your understanding all along?

25 THE WITNESS: That was my understanding.

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 THE COURT: Representative?

2 THE WITNESS: Yes, sir.

3 THE COURT: That was in your mind on January 23rd,
4 that they were a representative?

5 THE WITNESS: That was my understanding of the 6 position, yes.

7 THE COURT: You had, in fact, the Johnson & Johnson
8 merger agreement in your mind, that representative was a term
9 used in that agreement?

10 THE WITNESS: Yes.

11 THE COURT: That was in your head?

12 THE WITNESS: I believe so, sir.

13 THE COURT: All right. Well, let's go. Let's take a 14 minute. Can you pause? Let's go to the merger agreement. If 15 you could, go to 4.02(A). You have representative with a 16 capital R, which is a defined term. Do you agree with that?

17 THE WITNESS: Yes, sir.

18 THE COURT: That definition we have to take is in the 19 document, but the defined term also includes the term
20 representative, a model of drafting as we said, but 21 nonetheless, that's what it is. So representative with a small
22 R, can you highlight that?

23 THE WITNESS: I see it, sir.

24 THE COURT: And so was representative with a small R a
25 defined term?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 THE WITNESS: No, not on the face of it. No.

2 THE COURT: Well, are you aware of there being any
3 definition section in this agreement that says representative,
4 with small R, means anybody on the same side of the deal as
5 Johnson & Johnson?

6 THE WITNESS: I don't think there is any such 7 provision, sir.

8 THE COURT: Okay. So any reason why representative
9 should mean something other than the dictionary definition of 10 the term?

11 THE WITNESS: My understanding was that based on 12 Skadden's interpretation of the agreement, that the word
13 representative, with the lower case R, was not necessarily hard 14 and fast in its meaning, and it had to be interpreted in the 15 light of --

16 THE COURT: You had that conversation with someone
17 from Skadden?

18 THE WITNESS: That was my understanding. My 19 understanding, sir, even at this point --

20 THE COURT: Based on something that someone at Skadden
21 told you, or that was your understanding based on the cosmos?

22 THE WITNESS: That was based on my understanding of 23 what I was being told by Skadden.

24 THE COURT: Who told you this?

25 THE WITNESS: I believe it was Mr. Mulaney.

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 THE COURT: Okay. Now, representative in Black's Law
2 Dictionary is defined as one who stands for or acts on behalf
3 of another. So did Abbott stand for or act on behalf of Boston
4 Scientific?

5 THE WITNESS: I don't -- I did not look up the 6 dictionary --

7 THE COURT: I'm not asking that. I'm not asking that.

8 THE WITNESS: Okay. So --

9 THE COURT: Do you believe now, as you sit here, that 10 Abbott stood for or acted on behalf of Boston Scientific in 11 this deal?

12 THE WITNESS: I don't think I can say that.

13 THE COURT: Okay. So how about in January of 2006, do
14 you recall thinking then that Abbott was standing for or acting
15 on behalf of Boston Scientific?

16 THE WITNESS: At the time, I didn't think that that 17 was the specific test that would be applicable.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Not my question. Merriam Webster's 19 Dictionary describes representative as serving to represent or 20 standing or acting for another, especially through delegated 21 authority.

22 Did you think that Boston Scientific had delegated
23 authority to Abbott?

24 THE WITNESS: No, I did not.

25 THE COURT: Or that Abbott was standing or acting for

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 Boston Scientific?

2 THE WITNESS: In a way, they were. They were acting
3 as part of the Boston team that had been assembled by Boston to 4 help Boston carry out its proposal.

5 THE COURT: All right. So now you're saying that you
6 do think that they're representative. So you do think they
7 were standing or acting for Boston Scientific?

8 THE WITNESS: I think what I'm saying, sir, is that in 9 the classic definition of representative, if you think it means
10 someone who's basically in an agency relationship, delegated
11 authority, that kind of thing, they were not. But in a broader 12 sense, they were.

13 THE COURT: Well, words have to have meaning, right?

14 THE WITNESS: Yes.

15 THE COURT: And so you're telling me that you thought
16 representative had a meaning different from the dictionary
17 meaning and that it was so broad as to include anyone that was 18 on the same side of the deal?

19 THE WITNESS: I don't know that I'd go that far, but 20 first, I was not aware of the dictionary definition. I did not 21 look it up.

22 THE COURT: But do you need a dictionary to know what
23 representative means?

24 THE WITNESS: I had Skadden Arps to tell me what it
25 meant in this context.

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 THE COURT: And without Skadden Arps, you would have
2 been lost? Did you not take the SATs? I have seventh grade
3 twins, and they know what representatives means. I don't know
4 why this is so hard.

5 You're telling me that, but for Skadden Arps, you
6 would have been lost in determining what representative meant?

7 THE WITNESS: If I didn't have Skadden Arps, I would
8 have had to do more analysis on my own, but I did have Skadden
9 Arps, and they were supposedly experts in this kind of thing.

10 THE COURT: And so you recall having a conversation
11 with Chip Mulaney about the meaning of representative?

12 THE WITNESS: Yes, sir.

13 THE COURT: But you don't know when that was?

14 THE WITNESS: No, I don't.

15 THE COURT: And you don't know where it was?

16 THE WITNESS: No, I don't.

17 THE COURT: And it wasn't written down anyplace?

18 THE WITNESS: That is correct.

19 THE COURT: And so you just have a vague recollection
20 that you had that conversation?

21 THE WITNESS: Yes. My clear understanding was 22 Skadden's advice was to the effect that Abbott was a
23 representative.

24 THE COURT: And yet, when you wrote a letter to Russ
25 Deyo, who is basically accusing you of breaching the agreement,

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 his letter on January 23rd, you don't fall back on the
2 understanding you had of representative?

3 THE WITNESS: The response was drafted for me by
4 Mr. Mulaney. I looked at it quickly and sent it out. I
5 thought it was sufficient. I don't even know that I focused on 6 the fact that he did not specifically use the word
7 representative, but since it was his -- he was telling me what
8 ought to be said based on his analysis, I sent it out, and I --

9 THE COURT: So included a discussion or at least a
10 reference to joint bidder that neither you nor he thought was 11 even relevant as a basis for providing these documents, but 12 neither you nor he ever mentioned the term representative as 13 the basis for providing these documents; is that correct?

14 THE WITNESS: That is correct.

15 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Go ahead, Mr. Boies.

16 BY MR. BOIES:

17 Q. Let me just follow up on one thing. The Court asked you
18 whether you knew when the conversation or conversations that 19 you had with Mr. Mulaney took place. Although you do not 20 recall specifically when, do you recall generally when those 21 conversations took place?

22 A. Well, they would have been before we provided the due
23 diligence.

24 THE COURT: Well, do you have a recollection of that,
25 or you're surmising it going back?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 THE WITNESS: I wouldn't have authorized a
2 provision --

3 THE COURT: That's not the question. Do you have a
4 recollection as to when it was?

5 THE WITNESS: No. I'm surmising at this point.

6 THE COURT: Okay. Do you have a recollection of a
7 conversation in person with him?

8 THE WITNESS: No. We rarely met in person except when
9 he came to Indianapolis for a board meeting.

10 THE COURT: Do you have a recollection of there being 11 other people involved in this conversation?

12 THE WITNESS: I do not recall, sir.

13 THE COURT: Okay. Next question.

14 BY MR. BOIES:

15 Q. Based on the way you were approaching these issues, would
16 you have provided information to anyone, including Abbott,
17 without getting Skadden's advice?

18 A. Absolutely not.

19 Q. As you sit here now, do you have any doubt that you got 20 Skadden's advice as to the propriety of furnishing confidential
21 information to Abbott prior to the time that that information
22 was furnished?

23 A. I'm absolutely sure that I got it before, based on the way
24 I do things.

25 Q. Now, let me ask you to turn to the subject of

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 communications that you had with Johnson & Johnson concerning
2 Boston Scientific and concerning Abbott. In that connection,
3 let me ask you to look at Defendant's Exhibit 173. This is a
4 letter that you sent November 2, 2005, to Mr. Deyo --

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. -- is that correct?

7 A. It is.

8 Q. And you are notifying Mr. Deyo about the November 1, 2005,
9 unsolicited call that Mr. Cornelius received from Mr. Nicholas,
10 chairman of Boston Scientific; is that correct?

11 A. It is.

12 Q. And why did you send this letter?

13 A. Because on one of the provisions of that 4.02(C), I think
14 we were supposed to tell them of this kind of thing.

15 Q. Let me ask you to now turn to a series of questions that 16 you were asked on cross-examination about financing commitments
17 and financing conditions. And at one point, you were asked
18 whether the people providing financing to Boston Scientific had 19 any conditions to the financing commitments; do you recall
20 that?

21 A. Yes. Only vaguely, but yes.

22 Q. Let me ask you to look first at Kury Exhibit 11, and this 23 is an e-mail to you December 9, 2005, attaching the Bank of 24 America and Merrill Lynch commitment letter for Boston
25 Scientific; is that correct?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. And if you go to the second page, which bears Bates Number
3 ending 3139, you'll see right at the top that Merrill Lynch and
4 Bank of America are defined as the initial lenders to Boston
5 Scientific. Do you see that?

6 A. I do.

7 Q. Let me ask you now to turn to the page ending 3142.

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. And at the top of the page you'll see subparagraph (e) --

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. -- where the Boston Scientific financing firms, Merrill
12 Lynch and Bank of America say, "this is as a condition of their 13 lending," correct?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. It says, "We shall have had the opportunity to conduct, and 16 Guidant shall have cooperated reasonably in the conduct of, a
17 customary legal, regulatory, tax, environmental, accounting and
18 business due diligence investigation of Guidant and its
19 subsidiaries, and we shall be satisfied in our sole judgment
20 with the results thereof." Do you see that?

21 A. I do.

22 Q. And is that consistent with your understanding as to the 23 due diligence requirement that Boston Scientific's lenders had?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Let me ask you next to look at the Strain Exhibit 6. And

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 this is a cover e-mail from Mr. Duwe to you with copies to
2 Mr. Mulaney and others, dated December 12, 2005; is that
3 correct?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. And I believe this document, or a very similar one, was 6 discussed with you by counsel for Johnson & Johnson on 7 cross-examination. Let me ask you to turn to the last page of 8 this exhibit.

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. In paragraph No. 3, at the beginning, it says, "The lenders
11 must be satisfied in their sole judgment with the results of 12 customary legal, regulatory, tax, environmental, accounting and 13 business due diligence of Guidant and its subsidiaries." Do
14 you see that?

15 A. I do.

16 Q. And this is Skadden's discussion, analysis, description of 17 Boston Scientific's financing commitment letter, correct?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And Skadden then goes on to say, "This is a customary 20 condition, given the lenders have not had access to Guidant for 21 any due diligence. We should be clear to Boston Scientific
22 that we expect their lenders' diligence to be completed along
23 with their own prior to signing, and this condition to be 24 eliminated in an amended commitment letter." Do you see that?

25 A. I do.

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 Q. And was that consistent with your understanding as to
2 whether or not Boston Scientific lenders would be given due
3 diligence concerning Guidant prior to signing of a definitive
4 agreement?

5 A. It is.

6 Q. Now, let me ask you to look at Defendant's Exhibit 219, and 7 this is a cover e-mail dated January 5, 2006, from Skadden to 8 Johnson & Johnson and Cravath, copying you, correct?

9 A. It is.

10 Q. And it says, "Attached, at the request of Bernie Kury,
11 please find documents sent to Guidant by Boston Scientific 12 today." And did you, in fact, request that these documents be 13 sent to Johnson & Johnson?

14 A. I don't recall that I did, but I have no reason to doubt
15 what it says here.

16 Q. And if you go to the Bates numbered page ending 564.

17 A. This is the January 9, commitment letter?

18 Q. Yes.

19 A. I see it.

20 Q. And you see that this is being furnished to Johnson &
21 Johnson?

22 A. What I see in front of me on the first page, addressed to 23 Boston, I don't -- is it down at the bottom with the copy, or 24 is this attachment to the -- something else?

25 Q. It may be helpful if you actually look at the document in

ECHPGUI1

1 paper form.

2 A. Well, I have to get up and pick up the binder that I
3 dropped. I think this is the one that you asked me to get.

4 Excuse me. So this book?

5 Q. Yes. It was the book I gave you this morning.

6 A. Okay. What is the document number, sir?

7 Q. It's Defendant's Exhibit 219.

8 A. 219. Okay. I'm finally coming to it, sir. Okay. This is 9 at the request of Bernie Kury, I'm sending you something?

10 Q. Yes. And attached here, do you see that one of the things
11 that is attached, beginning at the Bates numbered page ending
12 3564, is the Merrill Lynch and Bank of America January 9, 2006, 13 commitment letter?

14 A. Yes, I see that.

15 Q. Or, rather, a draft of that commitment letter?

16 A. Yes, I see that.

17 Q. And if you turn to the Bates number page 3567, up at the 18 top, do you see the same language that we looked at in another
19 version of this draft, where Boston Scientific's lenders write,
20 "We shall have the opportunity to conduct, and Guidant shall 21 have cooperated reasonably in the conduct of, a customary
22 legal, regulatory, tax, environmental, accounting and business
23 due diligence investigation of Guidant and its subsidiaries,
24 and we shall be satisfied in our sole judgment with the results
25 thereof"?

ECHPGUI1

Kury - redirect

1 A. I see that.

2 Q. And at any time after this was furnished to Johnson &
3 Johnson, did Johnson & Johnson ever complain that it was, in
4 any way, inappropriate to furnish Guidant confidential
5 information to Bank of America or Merrill Lynch?

6 A. I do not recall that they ever did.

7 Q. On cross-examination, you told counsel for Johnson &
8 Johnson that you did not view Mr. Deyo's letter on January 23rd
9 as a classic demand breach letter, saying you are in breach; do
10 you recall that?

11 A. I do.

12 (Continued on next page)

2 Q. Let me ask you to look at Deyo Exhibit 9.

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. The second page of this is November 3, 2005 to Mr. Deyo?

5 A. I see that.

6 Q. Is this the kind of letter that you would have in mind when 7 you talk about a classic demand or breach letter saying you are 8 in breach?

9 A. Yes, it is.

10 Q. Is this the kind of letter that you would expect to get 11 from Johnson & Johnson if they believed that you were in 12 breach?

13 A. If they were serious about it, yes.

14 Q. Now, we've talked a lot about breaches. As a lawyer, you
15 make a distinction between a breach and a material breach,
16 correct?

17 A. It's sometimes made, yes, sir.

18 Q. At any time ever in January of 2005 or December of 2005, or
19 February 2005 -- or 2006; that is, any time from December
20 January February during this time period, 2005 to 2006, did
21 Johnson & Johnson ever suggest that there had been a material
22 breach of the merger agreement or any obligation that Guidant
23 had to Johnson & Johnson?

24 A. Not that I recall.

25 MR. BOIES: I pass the witness, your Honor.

1 THE COURT: OK. Mr. Weinberger, any questions?

2 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes.

3 RECROSS EXAMINATION

4 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

5 Q. Just put back the letter that -- what was the letter you
6 just showed him, David?

7 MR. BOIES: Deyo 9.

8 THE COURT: Which letter? The last one?

9 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes.

10 THE COURT: It's a fax.

11 MR. BOIES: DX-173.

12 Q. Basically, the letter you wrote to Russ Deyo, you didn't 13 use the word material breach in there, did you?

14 A. I haven't seen it. Hold on.

15 THE COURT: What exhibit are you talking about?

16 MR. BOIES: I think he's referring to Deyo 9.

17 THE COURT: A November 3, 2005 email, are you talking
18 about that, Mr. Weinberger?

19 MR. WEINBERGER: No.

20 Q. Actually, the letter that you wrote to Mr. Deyo advising
21 him you believed Johnson & Johnson had an obligation to close
22 the agreement; that Mr. Boies just showed you, you did not use
23 the word material breach in there, did you?

24 A. I still don't have it in front of me, but I don't recall
25 that I did.

EchQgui2

1 THE COURT: Pull it up. I'm not sure.

2 MR. BOIES: It was the second page Deyo Exhibit 9.

3 THE COURT: November 3, 2005 letter?

4 MR. BOIES: Yes, your Honor.

5 THE COURT: OK.

6 A. No, the word is not in there, sir.

7 Q. You testified that the substance of the advice that was
8 given to you by Skadden was that Abbott was a representative.
9 Is that right?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. The fact is you do not even recall reaching the conclusion
12 that Abbott was a representative before Guidant began
13 furnishing information to Abbott. Isn't that right?

14 A. I think the question -- what I said was I don't have a
15 specific recollection of the time and place, but I am confident
16 that I would not have authorized such a thing if I had not
17 received Skadden's blessing on it.

18 Q. That is not what I'm asking you?

19 A. What are you asking me, sir?

20 Q. I'm asking you whether it's correct that you did not reach
21 the conclusion prior to furnishing information about Guidant to 22 Abbott in December 2005 that Abbott was a representative of 23 Boston Scientific?

24 A. My understanding has always been that that was the basis on 25 which we started to provide information to Abbott.

1 Q. Do you remember testifying in response to the Judge's
2 questions yesterday on this issue?

3 A. Well, I hope so, but please refresh me, sir.

4 THE COURT: I'm not sure I do. So please refresh us
5 all.

6 Q. Do you remember that you said you didn't remember, first of
7 all, whether Mr. Mulaney actually even said they were a
8 representative?

9 A. That is correct.

10 Q. I am going to ask you to look at your deposition at page
11 291 beginning at line 6.

12 Did I ask you the following question and you gave me
13 the following answer:

14 "Q. Did you reach the conclusion prior to furnishing 15 information about Guidant to Abbott in December of 2005 that 16 Abbott was a representative of Boston Scientific?

17 "A. I've answered that I think several times. I don't recall
18 the technical analysis. I recall feeling comfortable with the 19 situation we were in and the procedures we were following."

20 Q. Did you give that testimony?

21 A. That's what I said.

22 Q. Could you look at Defendant's Exhibit 101 that Mr. Boies
23 showed you?

24 A. 101?

25 Q. 101.

1 THE COURT: Defendant's 101?

2 MR. WEINBERGER: I think I have the wrong Exhibit.

3 THE COURT: 191, maybe?

4 MR. WEINBERGER: It's January 6.

5 THE COURT: 191.

6 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes, 191.

7 Q. Mr. Kury, this is dated January 6, 2006. Is that right?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. And the subject matter of this call was a discussion about 10 what Guidant was obligated to provide to Johnson & Johnson. Is 11 that right?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. You had no reason to believe that as of January 6, 2006
14 Mr. Deyo knew that Guidant had provided information to Abbott,
15 did you?

16 A. No, I don't think I did.

17 Q. In fact, as we saw yesterday, they had been sent letters
18 providing them with the information that had been provided to 19 Abbott that said that the information had been provided to 20 Boston Scientific and its advisors?

21 A. I remember that, sir.

22 Q. But you knew that on January 6, didn't you? You knew that 23 information had been provided to Abbott?

24 A. I knew that sir, yes.

25 Q. And you didn't tell them that on this call, did you?

EchQgui2

Kury - recross

1 A. That is correct.

2 Q. Could you turn to Kury Exhibit 83. This is the email where
3 you said the position was lame. Do you see that?

4 A. Yes, I see that.

5 Q. And you still believe that today, don't you?

6 A. Yes, I do.

7 Q. Are you aware that at least one federal judge has found
8 that an interpretation of Abbott as a representative of Guidant
9 was not a reasonable interpretation?

10 A. I have heard that.

11 Q. And you believe that was improvident, don't you?

12 A. I do.

13 THE COURT: You think it was lame?

14 THE WITNESS: I wouldn't say that about any judicial 15 ruling.

16 THE COURT: He's on the circuit now, so you probably 17 could get away with it.

18 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

19 Q. I'd like to ask you about the financing issues that were 20 raised by Mr. Boies. Were you aware that Bank of America
21 Securities was hired as a financial advisor to Boston

2 THE COURT: What are we calling this, Plaintiff's 38?

3 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes.

5 A. Not that I recall. I may have. I don't recall.

6 Q. This is a letter pursuant to which Bank of America
7 Securities was retained by Boston Scientific to act as a
8 financial advisor?

9 THE COURT: Are you testifying to that fact or is it
10 being stipulated?

11 MR. WEINBERGER: No, I'm just asking him if he is 12 aware of that.

13 THE COURT: The question was: "This is a letter
14 pursuant to which"-- so. Do you recognize this?

15 THE WITNESS: I don't recognize -- I may have seen the 16 letter. I don't recall having looked at it, if ever, until it
17 was put in front of me. Maybe I did. I see the first 18 paragraph, and I see it refers to "will act as financial 19 advisor."

20 Q. Let me ask you this: Does it refresh your recollection as 21 to whether or not Bank of America Securities was retained as a
22 financial advisor to Boston Scientific?

23 A. No, it does not.

24 Q. Do you know if Bank of America Securities was part of the

1 A. I believe that's correct, yes.

2 Q. One more document. This will be PX-39. Actually, this is

5 THE COURT: What is it? Hartman Exhibit 2? I don't
6 have a copy handy, so you are going to hand up copies?

7 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes.

8 Q. Have you seen this before?

9 A. I'm not certain at this point. I can't say one way or the 10 other.

11 Q. You see this is a letter addressed to Merrill, Lynch,
12 Pierce, Fenner & Smith by Bank of America Securities --
13 sorry -- a letter addressed to Boston Scientific by Merrill
14 Lynch and Bank of America Securities?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. Do you see where it says "retention" on the bottom of the 17 first page?

18 A. I do.

19 Q. "Subject to the provisions set forth in this letter
20 agreement, you hereby retain each of us." I'll stop reading.
21 Do you see that?

22 A. Yes.

23 THE COURT: You don't think that Abbott was retained
24 by Boston Scientific, do you? As you understand that term.

25 THE WITNESS: You're not referring to this document?

EchQgui2

4 THE WITNESS: No.

5 THE COURT: OK.

6 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

7 Q. You testified in response to Mr. Boies' questions that if
8 J&J had raised an issue about providing diligence to Abbott,
9 you would have promptly brought it to Skadden's attention like
10 you did when Mr. Deyo called you regarding a copy of Guidant's
11 markup of Boston Scientific's draft merger agreement. Do you
12 recall giving that testimony?

13 A. What was the last part of your question? But I did not --

14 Q. You testified in response to Mr. Boies' question that if
15 J&J had raised an issue about providing diligence to Abbott,
16 you would have promptly brought it to Skadden's attention like
17 you did when Mr. Deyo called requesting a copy of Guidant's
18 markup of Boston Scientific's draft merger agreement. Do you
19 recall that?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. Do you recall that Mr. Deyo called you on December 31 --
22 and I think we went over this in your cross-examination --
23 requesting information about the contemplated license back of 24 the DES technology?

25 A. I don't recall it, no.

EchQgui2

Kury - recross

1 Q. Do you remember you bringing that to Skadden -- you can
2 actually look at Stoll Exhibit 19 in the books that I gave you
3 on cross.

4 A. I see the document. What is it you're asking me, sir?

5 Q. You remember you promptly brought that request to Skadden's
6 attention?

7 A. What is the "this" that we're referring to? What would I
8 have brought to their attention?

9 Q. This was information about what Boston Scientific was 10 contemplating in the way of a license back from Abbott when it
11 divested the VI and ES?

12 A. I'm getting lost in the details here, but if they told me
13 they wanted something or thought we were in default, I
14 presume --

15 Q. Do you remember Skadden informed you that if contacted by 16 J&J, they would tell J&J that they knew nothing more than what 17 was publicly disclosed? Do you remember that?

18 A. Well, I'm reading it. I'm reading it now, yes.

19 Q. And do you recall that when J&J did call Skadden, that's 20 exactly what they were told. Isn't that right?

21 A. So far as I know, yes.

22 Q. Do you remember also that during that call Skadden also 23 told J&J that there had been no discussions about divesting the 24 co-promotion agreement? Do you remember that?

25 A. I lost the last sentence.

EchQgui2

1 Q. There had been no discussions about divesting the
2 co-promotion agreement?

3 A. That's what I remember. Is that what I said before or are
4 you asking whether I remember now?

5 Q. OK. Do you remember now?

6 A. No, I don't think so.

7 Q. Do you remember that Russ Deyo called you on December 20 to 8 remind you of Guidant's obligation to provide J&J with any
9 information related to Guidant's DES assets that Guidant
10 provided to Boston Scientific. Do you remember that? We 11 talked about that yesterday too?

12 A. Yes, I think so.

13 Q. And you probably raised that issue with Skadden, didn't 14 you?

15 A. Yes, I did.

16 Q. And subsequently you did send J&J the materials under cover
17 letter that said they had been provided to Boston Scientific 18 and its advisors. Do you remember that?

19 A. I do.

20 Q. And Skadden sent that letter after you signed an accession
21 agreement which represented that Abbott had been retained to 22 advise Boston Scientific. Do you remember that?

23 A. It followed in -- it was after that other agreement had 24 been signed, yes.

25 Q. Now, you testified that you never had any reason to doubt

EchQgui2

Kury - recross

1 Skadden's advice in response to Mr. Boies' questions. Do you
2 recall that?

3 A. Yes, I do.

4 Q. Yesterday you testified that you saw the language in the 5 accession agreement, and you spoke to someone at Skadden about
6 that, right?

7 A. I did.

8 Q. And Skadden told you it was OK to sign that agreement,
9 right?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. Even though it falsely represented that Abbott had been 12 retained by Boston Scientific. Is that right?

13 A. I don't accept that characterization, but I did say that I
14 was told by Skadden --

15 THE COURT: You don't accept what characterization?

16 THE WITNESS: Well, that it's falsely. I think it --
17 that's another question that we debated, I guess, but I didn't 18 think of it as anything in the way of a false representation to 19 anyone. It was something that happened; it came up in the 20 drafting; and I was told it wasn't significant; and I didn't
21 focus on it and think, "Oh, my God" --

22 THE COURT: Wait a minute. I just asked you a moment
23 ago did you understand that Abbott was retained by Boston
24 Scientific. I said, "You don't think that Abbott was retained
25 by Boston Scientific, do you?"

EchQgui2

Kury - recross

1 And you said, "You're not referring to this document?"

2 We were talking about this document.

3 THE WITNESS: Yes, your Honor.

4 THE COURT: You can have that if you want.

5 And then I said, "No, I'm referring to a verb that's 6 in this document, but do you think Abbott was retained by 7 Boston Scientific in connection with its takeover proposal?"

8 Your answer was, "No."

9 THE WITNESS: That's still my answer.

10 THE COURT: Right. So I'm trying to figure out why
11 would you sign a document -- this is Kury 22. Look at the 12 highlighted portion.

13 THE WITNESS: Right.

14 THE COURT: Look at the back page, the very last page 15 all the way in the back. It's two-sided. That's your 16 signature, right?

17 THE WITNESS: Absolutely.

18 THE COURT: Why would you sign a document that says
19 something that you just told me was not true?

20 THE WITNESS: Because I consulted Skadden, and they
21 told me it was not a significant matter; it was not a problem;
22 it was all right for me to sign.

23 THE COURT: I guess that's my question then. So if 24 Skadden told you day was night, you would sign it if they said
25 it was OK and didn't matter?

EchQgui2

Kury - recross

1 THE WITNESS: Presumably not, sir.

2 THE COURT: Well, but this, I would think, is pretty
3 significant. It's the first line of the second paragraph of a
4 document that is part of an important takeover proposal, right?
5 I mean, this is a takeover deal that is going to be worth
6 billions of dollars, but you signed a document that you
7 understood to be false? Or did you not even think about it?

8 THE WITNESS: I did -- I have testified, and I put in 9 my trial affidavit, that I remember raising the question in 10 some fashion that the word -- and mentioned on the idea that 11 the word advisor stood out to me, and I recall that I consulted
12 someone at Skadden on it. I don't remember who at this point
13 or how extensive the conversation was. But the bottom line
14 takeaway was it was all right for me to sign that. Now, I
15 don't know exactly what their rationale was --

16 THE COURT: What is your rationale? I'm less
17 concerned about their rationale. I want to know your 18 rationale. What is your rationale for signing a document that 19 is false? You're a lawyer. You took an oath when you joined 20 the bar. You went to law school. I mean, when you're 21 practicing, you have to take CLE's that get you ethics credits
22 that show you're on top of what is required in the profession.

23 So what is it that prompted you? What was your 24 rationale for signing a document that you thought was not
25 accurate, was false?

EchQgui2

Kury - recross

1 THE WITNESS: My rationale, sir, is that I consulted
2 Skadden. They told me it was all right for signature. I
3 didn't dwell on it and relied on their advice.

4 THE COURT: OK.

5 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

6 Q. So that advice didn't cause you to doubt what they were
7 telling you, did it?

8 A. No.

9 Q. Skadden also advised you to sign an agreement obligating
10 Guidant not to disclose the identity of potential purchasers of 11 the assets to be divested even if it was required to do so
12 under the merger agreement, didn't they?

13 A. It didn't say that. It said we would not disclose their 14 identity without consent.

15 Q. Right, but, in effect, that meant you obligated yourself
16 not to disclose the identity even if it had been concluded that 17 it was required under the merger agreement, right?

18 A. That could have been the case if it had been required, but 19 so far as I know, Skadden never thought it was required prior
20 to the time that we actually did disclose it.

21 Q. So that didn't cause you to doubt Skadden's advice, did it?

22 A. No.

23 Q. And Skadden advised you to send a response to Mr. Deyo's
24 January 23 letter that didn't include any reference to the 25 rationale you tell us they provided you for giving due

EchQgui2

Kury - recross

1 diligence to Abbott; that is, that Abbott was Boston's
2 representative. Is that right?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. And that didn't cause you to doubt Skadden's advice, did
5 it?

6 A. No.

7 Q. Now, could you turn to Defendant's Exhibit 173. This is 8 the November 1 letter. You were asked about this letter that 9 you sent to Mr. Deyo on November 2, 2005.

10 A. I see it, sir.

11 Q. And you said you did this in order to comply with Section
12 4.02. Is that right?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. There were other reasons, however, that this letter was 15 sent to J&J on November 2, weren't there?

16 A. Is there a question there, sir?

17 Q. Were there other reasons that this letter was sent to J&J
18 on November 2?

19 A. I don't recall.

20 Q. Well, you do recall that by late October J&J had informed
21 Guidant that it was having second thoughts about following
22 through with the deal. Is that right?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. And there was a possibility that J&J would declare a
25 material adverse change and terminate the agreement?

EchQgui2

Kury - recross

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. There was concern at Guidant and Skadden that J&J would do
3 so, wasn't there?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Didn't Skadden suggest that you send this letter because it
6 would underscore that Guidant believed the merger agreement
7 remained in effect. Is that right?

8 A. I don't know what you're -- where you got the last part.
9 That may be right. I don't remember them saying that.

10 Q. Is one of the reasons this letter was sent, did Skadden
11 tell you that one of the reasons this letter was sent was that 12 it would be a low-key way to communicate that there could be 13 competition?

14 A. We were obviously reading from something, sir, but I don't 15 remember that, but I'm not saying that couldn't have happened.

16 Q. Let me hand up and show you -- before I hand it up to you,
17 was another reason that it could provide an opportunity to 18 learn more about J&J's position?

19 A. It could well have been, yes. I'm speculating at this 20 point, and I'm not remembering the document you are about to 21 hand me.

22 Q. Mulaney Exhibit 11. Is this an email that you got from
23 Mr. Duwe?

24 A. It appears to be so.

25 Q. Mr. Duwe says, "Chip and I still thinks it makes sense to

EchQgui2

Kury - recross

1 send a letter to Juice today under Section 4.02 of the merger
2 agreement regarding the call from BSX's chairman."

3 Do you see that?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. "It both underscores that we still believe the agreement is
6 in effect, and in a low-key way it communicates that there
7 could be competition." Do you see that?

8 A. I do.

9 Q. And he also says, "This might also provide an opportunity
10 to learn more about their position." Is that right?

11 A. It does.

12 Q. Those accurately state the reasons why you were advised by 13 Skadden to send that letter on November 2. Isn't that right?

14 A. Seems to be that, sir.

15 MR. WEINBERGER: I have no further questions.

16 THE COURT: OK. Anything?

17 MR. BOIES: Just briefly, your Honor.

18 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

19 BY MR. BOIES:

20 Q. Mr. Kury, counsel asked you about whether or not you had 21 cause to doubt Skadden's advice with respect to a number of the 22 issues. I want to go through a couple of them.

23 He asked you whether the fact that the term
24 representative was not in what they had drafted for you to send

EchQgui2

1 doubt Skadden. You said it did not. Why not?

2 A. Is that your -- is that a question, sir?

3 Q. It is. In other words, why --

4 THE COURT: What is the reason for your absence of 5 doubt?

6 MR. BOIES: Exactly.

7 THE WITNESS: Well, my understanding had been all
8 along that Skadden was absolutely steadfast in its view that 9 this -- that Abbott was a representative, and that had been my
10 understanding, and when I read this, I'm not even sure I
11 focused on the fact that they didn't use the word
12 representative. It was not a formal opinion. It wasn't a
13 paragraph-by-paragraph analysis. Presumably we could have done
14 one if we wanted to, but I felt comfortable with their advice,
15 and the fact that he doesn't use the word representative did
16 not change in my mind any advice he'd given me.

17 THE COURT: When you say "Skadden was absolutely 18 steadfast in its view that Abbott was a representative," who 19 besides Mr. Mulaney said that to you?

20 THE WITNESS: I think it was almost -- my 21 conversations on this subject I think were almost exclusively
22 with Mr. Mulaney.

23 THE COURT: Do you think Mr. Duwe said something like
24 that?

25 THE WITNESS: I don't recall, sir.

EchQgui2

1 THE COURT: All right. And we have gone over this a
2 couple of times, but you don't have any specific recollection

4 view about Abbott being a representative?

5 THE WITNESS: Well, the manner would have been a
6 telephone call.

7 THE COURT: Telephone call, that's true; you did say
8 that.

9 THE WITNESS: But other than that, you're correct,
10 sir.

11 THE COURT: Go ahead. Sorry to interrupt.

12 BY MR. BOIES:

13 Q. Counsel also asked you whether you had agreed not to reveal
14 the names of potential purchasers. Do you recall that?

15 A. In the context of the confidentiality amendment? Are you
16 talking about that, the agreement?

17 Q. Yes.

18 A. Yes, I do recall that.

19 Q. Did you receive advice from Skadden that it was not
20 necessary under the merger agreement to identify potential
21 purchasers but only people who had actually signed an
22 agreement?

23 A. In effect, I got that advice, yes.

24 MR. BOIES: I have no more questions, your Honor.

8 Exhibit 165 and pass the witness.

9 THE COURT: 165 is received.

10 (Plaintiff's Exhibit 165 received in evidence)

11 THE COURT: Who is doing the cross? Mr. Weinberger?

12 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes.

13 CROSS-EXAMINATION

14 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

15 Q. Just as a preliminary matter, Mr. John, you said you didn't 16 want to change anything in your affidavit?

17 A. That's correct.

18 Q. But you are not a partner at Skadden, Arps any more, are 19 you?

20 A. That's correct.

21 Q. You're at a different firm?

22 A. That's correct.

23 Q. What firm is that?

24 A. Kirkland & Ellis.

25 Q. So you do need to make that change, right?

EchQgui2

John - cross

1 A. Yes, I do. Thank you for that.

2 Q. Mr. John, you have a binder there with exhibits that I am
3 going to be referring to from time to time. They will also be
4 on the screen for you if it's easier.

5 First of all, would you turn to Stoll Exhibit 1. They
6 are in alphabetical order, as I'm sure you know.

7 THE COURT: Stoll Exhibit 1?

8 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes.

9 Q. Do you recognize that as the Boston Scientific/Guidant
10 confidentiality agreement?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. Did you provide feedback on this agreement to the extent --
13 withdrawn. Did you provide feedback on the proposed addition 14 of third party divestiture candidate to the definition of 15 representatives?

16 A. I believe so.

17 Q. Is it correct that you agree that providing due diligence
18 to potential purchasers of Guidant's assets to be divested
19 would be acceptable from an antitrust perspective if 20 confidentiality limitations were implemented to ensure that 21 Guidant's competitively sensitive information was not
22 improperly shared with a competitor or a potential competitor?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. It is also correct, is it not, that you never gave any 25 advice to Mr. Kury or anyone else at Guidant that this change

EchQgui2

John - cross

1 was consistent with the J&J merger agreement?

2 A. I don't believe I did, no.

3 Q. Turn to the addendum. You're familiar with the addendum to 4 the confidentiality agreement that was ultimately negotiated?

5 I am not directing you to the document yet.

6 A. Oh. Sorry about that. Yes, I am familiar with it.

7 Q. And you were involved in drafting that document, were you
8 not?

9 A. I was.

10 Q. That is a document that deals with the issue of 11 competitively sensitive information, doesn't it?

12 A. Yes, I think it does.

13 Q. Now, if you turn to Stoll Exhibit 9. If you would look at 14 this draft, this was a draft that was sent by Skadden to 15 Shearman, was it not? On December 12, you said, "I attach a 16 draft addendum to the confidentiality agreement."

17 Do you see that?

18 A. I'm sorry, I'm just trying to read the email and the 19 attachment.

20 Q. Actually, this is an internal email, isn't it? Who is 21 Melissa Brasswell? Let's start there.

22 A. I'm sorry, counsel, I am still trying to read the document.

23 THE COURT: Just answer the question, who Melissa
24 Brasswell is.

25 THE WITNESS: OK. At the time I believe she was a

EchQgui2

John - cross

1 corporate associate at Skadden, but I don't remember
2 specifically.

3 Q. So, go ahead and read the document and tell me when you're 4 done with it.

5 A. OK.

6 Q. I'm going to focus you on something specific, so maybe it
7 would be a little quicker if I told you what I was interested
8 in and then if you needed to read, is that OK?

9 A. Sure.

10 Q. So I'm going to ask you about the language that appears at 11 the page that's Bates numbered at the bottom SA 00177162.

12 A. OK.

13 Q. It's in paragraph three, and it says, "In no event shall 14 any highly confidential material be provided or disclosed to 15 third parties who are potential purchasers of assets of the 16 company to be divested or any of such parties' representatives
17 without the prior express written consent of the company."

18 Do you see that?

19 A. I do.

20 Q. That was language that one of your corporate associates
21 added to your draft to address this issue. Is that right?

22 A. I don't remember at the time, but that's what it looks like
23 from the email chain, yes.

24 Q. Well, that's what you said in your affidavit at paragraph
25 11, isn't it? "Melissa Brasswell, one of the Skadden corporate

EchQgui2

John - cross

1 associates advising Guidant, proposed additions to my draft to
2 prohibit the sharing of Guidant's highly confidential
3 information as defined in the addendum with potential divesture
4 purchasers or their representatives without Guidant's prior
5 written consent." Do you see that?

6 A. I'm sorry, can you just remind me which paragraph?

7 Q. 11.

8 A. Thank you. Yes, I see that.

9 Q. Would you turn to Kury Exhibit 13. I'm sorry Exhibit 18.
10 My apologies.

11 THE COURT: Plaintiff's? Defendant's?

12 MR. WEINBERGER: Kury Exhibit 18.

13 Q. Is Kury Exhibit 18 an email that was sent back to Skadden
14 from Shearman with Shearman's comments to the proposed 15 addendum?

16 A. OK.

17 Q. Is that right?

18 A. I'm sorry, I didn't understand the question. Can you ask
19 it again?

20 Q. Is this an email that was sent to you attaching Shearman &
21 Sterling's comments to the proposed addendum that you had sent
22 them?

23 A. That's what it appears to be, yes.

24 Q. That's what you said in your affidavit at paragraph 13,
25 isn't it? "In response to Skadden's draft addendum, Boston

EchQgui2

John - cross

1 Scientific's counsel at Shearman & Sterling proposed, among
2 other things, adding language that would have prohibited
3 Guidant from disclosing the existence or name of any potential
4 divestiture purchaser 'to any person' without the consent of
5 Boston Scientific and such divestiture purchaser. See Kury
6 Exhibit 18." Is that correct?

7 A. Correct.

8 Q. So it's correct within this draft that they sent back and
9 the page Bates numbered 133889, Shearman proposed the following
10 language: "Additionally, in no event shall the existence or 11 name of any third party who is a potential purchaser of the 12 company's assets to be divested be disclosed by the company to 13 any person without the prior express written consent of Boston
14 Scientific and such third party." Is that right?

15 A. Correct.

16 Q. After you reviewed this, you believed that you needed some 17 freedom to disclose the names of potential buyers of VI and ES
18 assets, didn't you?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. So you sent back a revision that would have permitted such 21 disclosure if required by law for preexisting agreements. Is
22 that right?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. We can look at that Stoll Exhibit 16 and see if you can 25 identify that as the revision that you sent back. In

EchQgui2

John - cross

1 particular, the page Bates number SA 00103746?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. I want to focus on the language that you proposed adding
4 "Except as required by law or preexisting agreements." Do you
5 see that?

6 A. Yes, I do.

7 Q. In your affidavit, you say that this was not motivated by 8 the merger agreement but rather by the need to disclose
9 information to the FTC and to Guidant's advisors. Is that
10 correct?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. But Guidant didn't have any agreements with the FTC, did
13 it?

14 A. No.

15 Q. So that's not why that provision was added, was it?

16 A. I think the "as required by law" is why that was added.

17 Q. So the provision about preexisting agreements had nothing
18 to do with the FTC, does it?

19 A. I don't believe so, no.

20 Q. You didn't have any agreement with Guidant's advisors
21 requiring disclosure of the identities of third-party
22 divestiture candidates either, did you?

23 A. I don't know that we -- I'm not sure that's accurate.

24 Q. You think you had agreements that required Guidant to 25 disclose to its advisors the name of potential purchasers of VI

EchQgui2

John - cross

1 and ES assets?

2 A. I believe that Guidant may have had agreements with its
3 advisors that required Guidant to provide certain information
4 to those advisors in order for those advisors to provide
5 whatever advice they were going to be providing and that that 6 information may well have included the identity of the 7 divestiture purchaser.

8 Q. So you took care of that somewhere else, didn't you? You
9 added that "the company may disclose such information to its 10 representatives," didn't you?

11 A. I see that we add that language, yes.

12 Q. And that takes care of that problem, doesn't it?

13 A. I think ultimately we changed it to be capitalized
14 Representatives to make sure that we captured all of those 15 potential advisors.

16 Q. And that took care of that problem, didn't it?

17 A. At the end of the draft I remember actually being 18 finalized, it just had that language because we realized that's 19 all that was necessary.

20 Q. So that's not why the language about preexisting agreements
21 was put in there, was it?

22 A. That's why I remember putting it in there. Or I remember
23 it being put in there, excuse me.

24 Q. But you didn't need it because it already said "may 25 disclose such information to its representatives," and that was

EchQgui2

John - cross

1 language that you proposed, wasn't it?

2 A. Both sets of language were in the draft that we sent back,
3 yeah.

4 Q. And it is correct, is it not, that Shearman then proposed
5 striking the language about preexisting agreements, didn't it?

6 A. That's my recollection.

7 Q. Just to confirm, look at Stoll Exhibit 17. Just confirm
8 that that is Shearman & Sterling's draft back to you, crossing
9 out the word "preexisting agreements" on page SA 00158260
10 right?

11 THE COURT: 260?

12 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes, it's 58260, paragraph 6.

13 Q. You will see that the words "preexisting agreements" is 14 stricken.

15 A. Yes, I see that.

16 Q. If you look at Kury Exhibit 21, can you confirm to me that 17 that is the final signed addendum and that language is not in 18 there?

19 A. Yes, that appears to be the final signed addendum.

20 Q. The addendum that you drafted and that ultimately became a
21 final agreement, and you could stay on Kury 21 now, included
22 something called a short form accession agreement, didn't it?

23 A. Yeah, it includes an accession agreement, yes.

24 (Continued on next page)

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Q. And we can see that form that was attached to the final, in
2 the last page of Kury Exhibit 21, Bates numbered 133826; is
3 that right?

4 A. That's correct.

5 Q. And you testified in your affidavit that this was a form
6 that had been used by Mr. Stoll and you in the past because it
7 provides a quick, straightforward and effective way for merger
8 parties who want third parties to become involved in due
9 diligence to become bound by the same higher level of 10 confidentiality protection outlined in the addendum; is that
11 right?

12 A. Correct.

13 Q. And the form accession agreement recited that the person
14 signing had been -- had been retained by Boston Scientific or 15 Guidant, as the case may be, to advise it in connection with 16 the potential transaction; is that right?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. And this language does provide a business justification for 19 sharing the information from an antitrust perspective; isn't
20 that right?

21 A. The language reflects the relationship, which provides the 22 business justification.

23 Q. Right. But being retained to advise the acquiring company
24 is not the only business justification that would suffice under 25 the antitrust laws, would it?

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 A. That's correct.

2 Q. If someone was looking to purchase assets, that would be a
3 legitimate business justification, wouldn't it?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. And, in fact, where it was appropriate, you didn't use this
6 form of accession agreement, did you?

7 A. I'm not sure I understand your question.

8 Q. Well, for example, when there were employees of Boston
9 Scientific or Guidant who got access to confidential
10 information, you didn't have them sign an accession agreement
11 that said that they had been retained by Boston Scientific or 12 Guidant, did you?

13 A. I don't recall.

14 Q. Well, take a look at John Exhibit 17. Do you see on the 15 bottom there's an e-mail from you -- I'm sorry, from Nathan
16 Sawyer of Shearman to you?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. And he's attaching a form of accession agreement to be 19 signed by five different employees of Boston Scientific, right?

20 A. The only reason I hesitate is I'm not sure if the 21 attachment is what Nathan originally sent or something that was 22 sent later in the chain. But, yeah, there are five Boston
23 Scientific employees listed there.

24 Q. And this form of accession agreement doesn't say that the 25 employees were retained by Boston Scientific in connection with

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 the proposed transaction, to advise it in connection with the
2 proposed transaction, does it?

3 A. No, it does not.

4 Q. Now, is it correct that on December 20th, you learned that
5 Boston has selected Abbott as the potential divestiture buyer?

6 A. The timing sounds right, of Boston letting us know that
7 Abbott was a potential divestiture buyer.

8 Q. The date is of some significance. So if you would look in 9 your affidavit, at paragraph 16, you stated: On or about
10 December 20th, I learned that Boston Scientific had selected
11 Abbott as a divestiture buyer. If you could just confirm to me
12 that that's what you said there?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And on that same day, you prepared a set of proposed due
15 diligence ground rules for third-party divestiture buyers; did
16 you not?

17 A. I can't remember if we prepared them that day, but I
18 remember there being a proposed set of grounds rules that 19 were -- that we sent, whether it was internally or externally,
20 I can't remember, about that time.

21 Q. Okay. If you turn to Kury Exhibit 71 in your book, there's 22 a series of e-mails on the front page, which you are copied on,
23 and then attached to it is a document that says: The following
24 are proposed ground rules for current Bean and third-party due
25 diligence regarding Grape's VI, ES business; do you see that?

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 A. Yes, I see that.

2 Q. Okay. And in the cover transmittal, transmitting those
3 ground rules to Mr. Mulaney, Mr. Duwe and Mr. Kury, copying
4 you, wasn't Mr. Stoll expressing the view that Boston might be
5 trying to circumvent Johnson & Johnson's rights under the
6 merger agreement?

7 A. I'm not sure I follow.

8 Q. All right. Well, you see the middle e-mail from Mr. Stoll?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. You see he says: Bean is using as leverage our strategy to 11 maximize our position relative to J&J's rights under the merger
12 agreement and not breach any negative or other covenants by 13 taking control of and excluding Skadden from the due diligence
14 process; do you see that?

15 A. I see that language, yes.

16 Q. Were you also aware of Mr. Stoll's views expressed in the 17 last portion of the e-mail, this is -- "this is going too fast
18 and is unnecessary. Please consider my comment regarding the 19 importance of having a deal with Bean prior to allowing 20 in-depth third party due diligence"? Do you see that?

21 A. I do.

22 Q. Now, going back to the attached ground rules, the ground
23 rules recite -- these are ground rules that you drafted; is
24 that right?

25 A. I don't remember if I drafted them. I certainly would have

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 had a hand in drafting them, along with --

2 THE COURT: Can we just go back to that e-mail? It
3 says reference in here to J&J's rights under the merger
4 agreement. So you were aware of the merger agreement, right?

5 THE WITNESS: Yes.

6 THE COURT: Had you read it?

7 THE WITNESS: Yes.

8 THE COURT: You'd read section 4.02?

9 THE WITNESS: I'm sure, at some point, I did, yes.

10 THE COURT: So you were mindful of that, as you were 11 negotiating the terms of the various agreements you were 12 working on?

13 THE WITNESS: I remember discussing the provision with 14 Brian Duwe relatively soon after Boston Scientific made its 15 offer and Brian making clear that we needed to coordinate
16 before we exchanged information with Boston Scientific because
17 of the obligations in the non-solicitation provision, which I
18 think is 4.02.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead.

20 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

21 Q. Now, the document -- going to the ground rules. The 22 document recites -- Let me just find that. The page is Bates
23 No. 345419. Paragraph No. 2 says: All third-party buyers and 24 their advisers -- I'm sorry. All third-party buyers seeking to 25 conduct due diligence regarding Grape's VI, ES business are

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 representatives of Bean, and as such, must sign the accession
2 agreement. Do you see that?

3 A. I do.

4 Q. And the access agreement says that those people have been
5 retained to advise Boston Scientific in connection with the 6 proposed transaction; is that correct?

7 A. It does.

8 Q. And you would agree that someone who's been retained to 9 advise Boston Scientific would clearly be a representative of 10 Boston Scientific, wouldn't they?

11 A. Usually I would think that, yes.

12 Q. Now, would you agree also that from an antitrust
13 perspective, a person did not have to be a representative to 14 get due diligence in these circumstances, where there's a
15 company that's interested in purchasing assets; isn't that
16 right?

17 A. I think what you're asking is if -- I think the answer is 18 yes, yes. If you were a party seeking to acquire assets, that 19 would provide an antitrust -- the business justification for 20 providing due diligence, from an antitrust perspective.

21 Q. If they had signed an accession agreement that said that,
22 that would have given you sufficient comfort from an antitrust
23 perspective; isn't that right?

24 A. I'm not sure what that means.

25 Q. That restated the fact that the person that was going to

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 get the diligence was interested in acquiring assets?

2 A. Yes.

3 THE COURT: Who drafted what's on the screen?

4 THE WITNESS: I'm not sure who drafted it. I would
5 have been part of the drafting team.

6 THE COURT: Of what firm?

7 THE WITNESS: Skadden Arps.

8 THE COURT: Do you remember whose view it was that all
9 third-party buyers seeking to conduct due diligence regarding 10 those businesses are representatives of Bean?

11 THE WITNESS: I don't. One thing, just looking at 12 this document, there's a footer referring to New York server
13 6A. If I recall, Neal Stoll was on 6A. I was on 7A; so my 14 guess is this originally came from Neal.

15 THE COURT: Well, whose idea was it that this was an 16 important ground rule?

17 THE WITNESS: I believe this came from Neal, this 18 language.

19 THE COURT: All right. I mean, do you think
20 third-party buyers are representatives?

21 THE WITNESS: I suppose it's possible in the context
22 they are, and probably not the best description of them,
23 though.

24 THE COURT: In what context would a third-party buyer
25 be a representative?

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 THE WITNESS: Where the third-party buyer is -- the
2 main goal of the third-party buyer is to provide financing to
3 the main purchaser of the business and, as such, representing
4 that business' interest in acquiring the total target company
5 is one way I would think of them representing the interests of 6 the buyer.

7 THE COURT: If the main goal of the third-party buyer
8 is to provide financing, that would be the main goal of the 9 third-party buyer, is to provide financing for somebody else's
10 purchase?

11 THE WITNESS: Main goal is probably a little broad,
12 but I'm just imagining a situation where, for example, a
13 private equity company and a strategic company join together to 14 acquire a third company, that the strategic company does not 15 have sufficient assets or capital to acquire the target and 16 they -- so the private equity company essentially is providing 17 financing while also acquiring assets.

18 So from the private equities standpoint, their main
19 goal is likely to be acquiring the assets. From the strategic 20 company's aspect, the main goal for them might be getting the 21 private equity involved to help with the financing. So I guess
22 it depends on the point of view.

23 THE COURT: So you think, under oath, of those 24 scenarios or any of those scenarios, it would be accurate to 25 refer to the third-party buyer as a representative of the

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 acquirer?

2 THE WITNESS: It may be accurate. I don't know if
3 it's the best description.

4 THE COURT: But this was Mr. Stoll's idea that this
5 would be a good idea?

6 THE WITNESS: I think this was put together by
7 Mr. Stoll.

8 THE COURT: Right, who was giving Mr. Stoll his 9 marching orders?

10 THE WITNESS: The client.

11 THE COURT: The client. And do you know who the 12 client he was dealing with?

13 THE WITNESS: Most of the time I believe he was 14 interacting with Bernie Kury.

15 THE COURT: And what was his position at the time,
16 Mr. Stoll?

17 THE WITNESS: Mr. Stoll was an antitrust partner at
18 Skadden.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Senior to you?

20 THE WITNESS: That's correct.

21 THE COURT: Go ahead.

22 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

23 Q. The scenario you just described about the private equity
24 company going in there to help buy the asset, that's not the 25 scenario we are talking about here, is it?

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 A. No, I don't believe there was a private equity company
2 involved.

3 Q. Abbott's primary goal was not to give money to Boston
4 Scientific to allow it to consummate this transaction, was it?

5 A. I don't know that I can speak for Abbott, but my impression
6 was that that would not be the primary goal.

7 Q. All right. So just to be clear, it was also Guidant's
8 position, as expressed in this agreement, that any such third
9 party had to sign the accession agreement before it would
10 receive due diligence, right?

11 A. I don't think this is an agreement, but, yeah, it was 12 Guidant's position that before a third party obtained due
13 diligence, that they would sign the accession agreement.

14 Q. So when Abbott came on the scene, it was Guidant's position
15 that Abbott had to sign the accession agreement before it
16 received due diligence, wasn't it?

17 A. Yeah, just as it would have been if Johnson & Johnson or 18 some other third party had come on the scene.

19 Q. And, in fact, during this period of time, Abbott threatened
20 to walk away from any deal if it did not get the due diligence
21 it requested, didn't it?

22 A. I remember hearing about a threat like that, yeah.

23 Q. But Abbott wouldn't sign --

24 THE COURT: From whom did you hear that?

25 THE WITNESS: I don't remember if I heard the threat

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 directly from Abbott, I just don't recall, or indirectly
2 through somebody else at Skadden or Guidant.

3 THE COURT: But the threat was what, as best you can
4 recall?

5 THE WITNESS: That if Abbott didn't receive due
6 diligence, that they would walk away from the transaction.
7 Although, I'm not sure I found it credible, but ...

8 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

9 Q. But you actually reported that to Mr. Kury, didn't you?

10 A. I think that's right.

11 Q. If you look at John Exhibit 20, and in particular, the 12 e-mail at the bottom of the page from you to Mr. Kury dated 13 December 21, 2005, and the statement I'm interested in is in 14 the next page and it says -- talks about some agreements that 15 Abbott wanted to see, and it says, "Apple called having this 16 accession critical and said if they were not given this access,
17 they would walk from the field (but then they said that about a 18 lot of things);" do you see that?

19 A. I'm sorry, can you just -- I'm having trouble finding it.
20 Again, could you point that out?

21 Q. John exhibit --

22 A. I have the exhibit. I'm just trying to find it on the 23 page, sorry. There we go.

24 Q. Can you look on the screen?

25 A. It just showed up, sorry.

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Q. It's on the page in the numbered paragraph 4.

2 A. Okay. I see that.

3 Q. Okay. And that's the e-mail you sent to Mr. Kury?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Okay. Now, Abbott would not sign the form accession
6 agreement that was attached to the addendum; isn't that right?

7 A. That's right.

8 Q. And you were involved in negotiating the terms of the 9 addendum with Abbott, were you not?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. And there were drafts going back and forth; is that right?

12 A. I don't -- I don't remember. I remember there being a lot
13 of back and forth with Abbott, and ultimately Abbott sending a
14 draft that was pretty close to what, if not identical, to what 15 was ultimately signed. So I don't remember if there were 16 drafts going back and forth. What I remember is that the one
17 that was eventually signed came from Abbott, and it was signed
18 in a form, if not identical, very close to the form that Abbott
19 sent to us.

20 Q. I mistakenly said negotiating the terms of the addendum. I
21 meant the accession agreement. Is your answer still the same?

22 A. Correct. I was referring to the accession agreement.

23 Q. If you just briefly take a look at John Exhibits 10, 11,
24 12, 14 and confirm to me that those are drafts going back and 25 forth between you and Abbott of accession agreement? We don't

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 need to get to the substance. I just want you to identify them
2 for me.

3 A. Okay. I see these -- there are some e-mails back and forth
4 with attachments. I can't tell what changes have been made
5 back and forth.

6 Q. I don't care what changes. It does reflect that this was 7 an agreement that was negotiated between you and Laurie Gunther
8 from Abbott, right?

9 A. The agreement was negotiated between the two. What I don't
10 recall is the extent of any changes.

11 Q. I understand. Okay. Now, before Abbott signed this 12 agreement, did you have a discussion with Laurie Gunther about 13 it, about the statement that Abbott had been retained to advise
14 Boston Scientific in connection with the proposed transaction?

15 A. Not that I recall.

16 Q. And you have no recollection of her objecting to that 17 statement?

18 A. No, I don't.

19 Q. And you have no recollection of telling her that the 20 statement needed to be there and that it was not open for 21 negotiation?

22 A. I do not.

23 Q. Just to be clear, she has given that testimony; are you
24 aware of that?

25 A. I am.

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Q. And are you simply saying you don't recall that, or you
2 deny that it took place?

3 A. I don't recall that taking place.

4 Q. So you don't deny what her testimony was, do you?

5 A. I just have no recollection. It's hard for me to accept it
6 or deny it.

7 Q. Now, putting Ms. Gunther aside, you knew that that language
8 was not correct, didn't you?

9 A. No.

10 Q. Look at Knopf Exhibit 34. You said no. You believed that 11 Abbott had been retained to advise Boston Scientific in 12 connection with this transaction; that was your understanding?

13 A. That wasn't the question. You asked -- I don't know that I
14 formed a belief on that. I think a better description was,
15 ultimately, in the accession agreement of Abbott being a
16 purchaser of assets to be divested.

17 Q. Right. But what I'm asking you is whether, in fact, you
18 knew that the statement that Abbott had been retained by Boston
19 Scientific to advise it in connection with this transaction was 20 false?

21 A. I did not know that it was false.

22 Q. Well, let's see.

23 A. I don't know today that it is false.

24 THE COURT: So you think Abbott was retained to advise
25 Boston Scientific in connection with this takeover?

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 THE WITNESS: No, I'm not sure that I thought they
2 were retained or not. I just -- the question was whether I
3 know that it's false, and not knowing the full extent of the 4 relationships between those two companies, I can't testify that 5 it's false.

6 THE COURT: Well, the language is Abbott Laboratories,
7 Abbott, has been retained by Boston Scientific to advise it in
8 connection with a potential transaction.

9 THE WITNESS: Yes.

10 THE COURT: So you believe that to be true?

11 THE WITNESS: I don't know if it's true or if it's not 12 true.

13 THE COURT: You believed at the time that this was a
14 true statement?

15 THE WITNESS: I'm not sure I focused on it at the 16 time.

17 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

18 Q. You had no information whatsoever to indicate that Abbott
19 had been retained by Boston Scientific for anything; isn't that
20 right?

21 A. I did not have any information about any agreement between 22 the two of them, where Abbott had been retained by Boston,
23 that's correct.

24 THE COURT: You knew they were a potential acquirer of 25 a divestiture business, right? They were a divestiture partner

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 potential?

2 THE WITNESS: Correct.

3 THE COURT: So you knew that much?

4 THE WITNESS: Yes, that's correct.

5 THE COURT: A minute ago you said that really isn't
6 being retained; isn't that what you told me?

7 THE WITNESS: Correct.

8 THE COURT: Okay. So you, nonetheless, thought that 9 Abbott might have been retained by Boston Scientific to advise
10 it in connection with its acquisition of Guidant?

11 THE WITNESS: I think the language came from the 12 formal accession agreement; so I didn't focus on it. I don't 13 recall thinking about it at the time, if they were or weren't.
14 The key language in the accession agreement that was signed, I
15 felt, protected Guidant's interest from an antitrust
16 perspective, and that's what I was focusing on at the time.

17 THE COURT: So it didn't matter to you whether this 18 was true or not, that's what you're saying?

19 THE WITNESS: It wasn't something that I focused on.
20 So it would matter to me to -- that things be as true as they
21 possibly could, but the draft did come from Abbott. It
22 ultimately was agreed to by Boston Scientific. I had no reason
23 to -- specific reason to believe that it wasn't true.

24 THE COURT: Well, you did have some reason to believe
25 that it wasn't true. You knew they were a potential acquirer

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 of the divestiture business, right?

2 THE WITNESS: Yes.

3 THE COURT: You knew it?

4 THE WITNESS: That's correct, I did know it. Yes.

5 THE COURT: And you told me, just a minute ago, that 6 that would really not be fairly characterized as retention to 7 advise; isn't that what you told me?

8 THE WITNESS: That's correct.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Next question.

10 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

11 Q. If you look at Knopf Exhibit 4 -- 34, sorry. Could you
12 confirm to me that Knopf Exhibit 34 is an e-mail that was sent 13 to you by Larry Knopf of Boston Scientific, attaching a copy of 14 the accession agreement signed by Boston Scientific?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And in that e-mail he says to you -- and Larry Knopf is an 17 in-house lawyer at Boston Scientific, wasn't he?

18 A. I don't remember.

19 Q. You don't remember if he was an in-house lawyer at Boston
20 Scientific?

21 A. No, I don't.

22 Q. All right. He said to you -- but he's sending this to you
23 on behalf of Boston Scientific; is he not?

24 A. Yes, I believe so.

25 Q. And he's saying, "Please understand that Abbott is a

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 potential acquirer of certain assets of Guidant." Do you see
2 that?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. He was telling you in that e-mail that the characterization
5 of Abbott as having been retained to advise Boston Scientific
6 was erroneous, wasn't he?

7 A. I don't see him saying that here. He's definitely picking
8 up the language from the Paragraph 1 of the accession agreement
9 in which Abbott parties describe themselves as acquiring
10 assets, as a potential acquirer of assets from Guidant.

11 Q. And that's why he told you to please understand that Abbott
12 is a potential acquirer of certain assets, because the way you
13 had it expressed in the accession agreement was wrong; isn't
14 that right?

15 A. I don't know if that's why he put that in there.

16 Q. All right. Well, let's look at Knopf Exhibit 35. Knopf
17 Exhibit 35 is an e-mail from Clare O'Brien of Shearman and 18 Sterling, also sending you -- well, I don't know if she sent -- 19 also sending you a copy of the accession agreement signed by 20 Boston Scientific; is that right?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. And she's telling you, "Ian, I would not characterize
23 Abbott as having been retained by Boston Scientific to advise
24 it in connection with the potential transaction. I would say
25 in connection with Boston Scientific's consideration of a

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 potential transaction with Guidant, Abbott is considering the
2 possible acquisition of certain assets of Guidant." Do you see
3 that?

4 A. I do.

5 Q. She's also telling you that the characterization in the 6 accession agreement is wrong, isn't she?

7 A. I don't see her saying that. I see her suggesting that it
8 would be better to characterize them in this -- as a purchaser
9 of divestiture assets.

10 Q. But you didn't understand her to tell you, when she said, I
11 would not characterize Abbott as having been retained by Boston
12 Scientific, et cetera, you did not understand her to be telling
13 you that it was wrong?

14 A. I understood her to be telling me that a better description
15 would be the second one that she includes here.

16 Q. Okay. So you got this e-mail from Mr. Knopf. You know who 17 Clare O'Brien was? You remember who she was, don't you?

18 A. I remember she was a corporate attorney at Shearman and 19 Sterling, if I recall.

20 Q. Who represented Boston Scientific?

21 A. That's my recollection.

22 Q. And even though you got these two e-mails, you didn't
23 change this, did you?

24 A. Well, when I got both of the e-mails, the agreement had 25 been signed by all three parties; so I assumed that everybody

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 who signed it was comfortable with it as it existed and --

2 Q. Well, two people --

3 THE COURT: Let him finish.

4 Q. I'm sorry. At least one party --

5 THE COURT: No, no. Let him finish.

6 MR. WEINBERGER: I'm sorry. I thought he was done.

7 THE COURT: No. "As it existed and"?

8 THE WITNESS: And the agreement, as it existed, as 9 signed by all three parties, was appropriate from an antitrust
10 perspective. To -- Put it this way, that the agreement set
11 forth the necessary ground rules such that Guidant exchanging
12 information with Abbott and Boston Scientific, pursuant to this 13 agreement, would be consistent with Guidant's obligations under 14 the antitrust laws, which is what I was focused on.

15 THE COURT: So if it said that Abbott Laboratories is 16 an accounting firm that had been retained by Boston Scientific
17 to advise it in connection with the potential transaction,
18 you'd have been okay with that too because even though it's 19 false, from an antitrust perspective, they still would be 20 allowed to have this information?

21 THE WITNESS: I would have expected Abbott not to 22 draft that about themselves, since this draft that we 23 ultimately finalized came from Abbott.

24 THE COURT: And it's signed by Boston Scientific and 25 Abbott and Guidant, right?

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 THE WITNESS: That's correct.

2 THE COURT: And Boston Scientific was your client,
3 right?

4 THE WITNESS: No, my client was Guidant.

5 THE COURT: I'm sorry, Guidant, excuse me, was your 6 client, right?

7 THE WITNESS: That's correct.

8 THE COURT: So it didn't bother you that your client
9 was signing a document that is not accurate?

10 THE WITNESS: From my perspective, the agreement
11 protected my client's interests from antitrust perspective,
12 which, from my perspective, was the import of the agreement.
13 And so from that perspective, I was comfortable that Guidant
14 signing it was protecting its interests from an antitrust
15 perspectives.

16 THE COURT: It makes representations, right, including 17 that Abbott has been retained to advise Boston Scientific in 18 connection with a potential transactions. You didn't think it
19 mattered whether that was true?

20 THE WITNESS: In hindsight, it certainly would have 21 been better to have changed the description, as Clare
22 suggested.

23 THE COURT: And as Mr. Knopf is suggesting too, right?

24 THE WITNESS: As he suggested sending over the signed
25 version of the agreement, yes.

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 THE COURT: And as Ms. Gunther claims she suggested
2 before the thing was signed?

3 THE WITNESS: I've heard that she's testified to that,
4 yes.

5 THE COURT: But you have no recollection?

6 THE WITNESS: No, I do not.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead.

8 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

9 Q. And so it would have been pretty easy to send around an
10 e-mail to Laurie Gunther, Larry Knopf, Clare O'Brien, say, gee,
11 we made a mistake. Let's agree to change this characterization
12 of Abbott to be consistent with what Clare O'Brien puts in her
13 e-mail. That wouldn't have been too hard to do, would it?

14 A. Drafting the e-mail and changing the language from a word
15 processing perspective would have been fairly straightforward,
16 but I was also mindful of this coming up on December 23rd, a
17 couple of days before Christmas, the parties really wanted to 18 get the due diligence accomplished, have Abbott have access to 19 the due diligence in advance of Christmas. And this particular
20 portion of the agreement certainly didn't seem to bother Abbott
21 and Boston Scientific enough that they weren't comfortable
22 signing the agreement.

23 I didn't view that provision as central to the main
24 purpose of the agreement. I saw the first paragraph as 25 describing Abbott as a potential purchaser of assets, and in

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 that totality of the moment, raising that issue at that point,
2 after a lot of effort to get there, didn't seem to me to be the
3 best course. Although, I do remember sending a draft of it
4 over to the corporate colleagues and the signatures coming in
5 while we were waiting to hear back from them.

6 THE COURT: Corporate colleagues being whom?

7 THE WITNESS: Brian Duwe at Skadden, if I recall.

8 THE COURT: That was before or after the signed
9 versions?

10 THE WITNESS: I think Abbott had already signed, but 11 before Boston.

12 THE COURT: Do you recall any response from the 13 corporate colleagues?

14 THE WITNESS: I don't. I recall the signature coming
15 in from Boston very soon thereafter, very soon after --

16 THE COURT: But you don't recall discussing this with
17 Mr. Duwe?

18 THE WITNESS: No, I do not.

19 THE COURT: Or Mr. Mulaney?

20 THE WITNESS: No, I do not.

21 THE COURT: Or Mr. Kearney?

22 THE WITNESS: No, I do not.

23 THE COURT: How about Mr. Stoll?

24 THE WITNESS: No, I do not.

25 THE COURT: Did you forward Clare O'Brien's e-mail to

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 any of those persons?

2 THE WITNESS: That's the e-mail I remember sending to 3 Brian.

4 THE COURT: To Brian. But you don't recall whether he
5 even responded?

6 THE WITNESS: I don't recall if he responded, no.

7 THE COURT: Were you aware that under the terms of the 8 Johnson & Johnson merger agreement, that the confidentiality
9 agreement with any potential acquirer had to be no less
10 restrictive than what Johnson & Johnson had signed?

11 THE WITNESS: I've heard that. I don't recall if I
12 was aware of it at the time.

13 THE COURT: So that wasn't any part of your thinking
14 when you were discussing with Boston Scientific and Abbott this 15 accession agreement?

16 THE WITNESS: No. I was expecting that the corporate 17 team would be thinking about that.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead.

19 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

20 Q. Okay. So just going back to the e-mails you got. There
21 was no antitrust -- even though there was no antitrust reason
22 to use that characterization of Abbott's role, you didn't think 23 about just sending an e-mail saying, we can go ahead with the 24 due diligence, but let's all agree that Abbott has not been
25 retained to advise Boston Scientific but, rather, as a

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 potential purchaser of assets? You didn't think about doing
2 that, did you?

3 A. No.

4 THE COURT: And just so we're clear, the language or
5 close to it, was language that Mr. Stoll had identified as a
6 ground rule for basically due diligence and accession
7 agreements with potential acquirers, right?

8 THE WITNESS: I think the ground rule talked about 9 representatives retained to advise, I guess would be a form of
10 a representative; so from that perspective, so --

11 THE COURT: Could you just put back the exhibit we 12 showed before? Do you know the one I'm referring to,
13 Mr. Weinberger?

14 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes. Are you talking about the 15 ground rules?

16 THE COURT: Yes.

17 MR. WEINBERGER: You're talking about Kury 71.

18 THE COURT: Kury 71. Could you put it on the screen?

19 MR. WEINBERGER: Yes. Could you put it on the screen,
20 Marco? There it is.

21 THE COURT: All third-party buyers must sign the 22 accession agreement, right?

23 THE WITNESS: Correct.

24 THE COURT: And the accession agreement that existed
25 at this time was one that said, blank, has been retained to

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 advise Boston Scientific, correct?

2 THE WITNESS: That's correct.

3 THE COURT: As far as you know, were Abbott or Boston
4 Scientific or anyone else insisting on the language that 5 appeared in the accession agreement about being retained to 6 advise?

7 THE WITNESS: Not to my knowledge, no.

8 THE COURT: So the language came from Skadden and
9 Mr. Stoll in particular; is that correct?

10 THE WITNESS: The draft accession agreement that ended
11 up being the form that was used here came -- was something that 12 I recall Neal and I using in the past. I don't remember who 13 drafted it originally. It might have been either Neal or me.
14 It could have been another antitrust lawyer at Skadden, but 15 that was the form that we had -- we had used in the past, and 16 we decided to use here. So the exact genesis of that language,
17 I don't recall.

18 THE COURT: All right. But whether the language in 19 the past -- I mean, there may have been cases in which parties 20 were retained to advise in connection with transactions in the 21 past. But for purposes of this transaction, all third-party
22 buyers seeking to conduct due diligence were expected to sign
23 the accession agreement that had already been drafted with the 24 language we've been talking about, right?

25 THE WITNESS: Yes. The goal was to make sure that

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 third-party buyers acceded to the obligations that Boston had
2 agreed to in the addendum, which were designed to protect
3 Guidant's interests from an antitrust perspective.

4 THE COURT: How do you know that was the goal?

5 THE WITNESS: That was my recollection of at least my
6 goal at the time and talking to Neal. Our role, as antitrust
7 lawyers, is to make sure Guidant abided by its obligations
8 under the antitrust laws.

9 THE COURT: But you don't know whether there may have 10 been other goals that were relevant to the Johnson & Johnson
11 merger agreement?

12 THE WITNESS: It was certainly not in my mind.

13 THE COURT: Okay. Next question.

14 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

15 Q. Okay. When Clare O'Brien sent you her e-mail, you didn't 16 respond to her saying, this isn't an important change, did you?

17 A. I don't recall responding to Clare's e-mail.

18 Q. What you did is you sent it, and contrary to what you said
19 to the Judge, you sent it already signed by all three parties
20 to Brian Duwe, didn't you?

21 A. I had a recollection that I sent it before it was signed.
22 Maybe I sent it after. I don't remember.

23 Q. Well, you forwarded her e-mail, didn't you?

24 A. Yeah, I thought I had forwarded Clare's e-mail before we 25 received the signature from Larry Knopf, but I could be

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 misremembering.

2 Q. Well, she actually attached the accession agreement, signed
3 by Boston Scientific, didn't she? It's attached to her e-mail,
4 Exhibit 35?

5 A. Which exhibit? I'm sorry, Kury Exhibit 35?

6 Q. Knopf Exhibit 35. Her e-mail attaches a signed accession
7 agreement, doesn't it?

8 A. The e-mail that she sent to Larry Knopf does. The e-mail
9 that I'm looking at is the one that she sent to me and Alison,
10 and I don't know if -- from just looking at the forwarded
11 e-mail, whether the e-mail that's in the chain also included
12 the attachment.

13 Q. Well, okay. Take a look at Duwe Exhibit 9.

14 A. Okay.

15 Q. This is the e-mail by which you forwarded Clare O'Brien's
16 e-mail to you that was Knopf Exhibit 35. You forwarded it to 17 Brian Duwe and Alison Rhoten, didn't you?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And when you forward it to them, you said, "Will you work
20 this issue with Clare and Simpson, if necessary? I am not 21 really sure how to address it at this point." Do you see that,
22 sir?

23 A. I do.

24 Q. You didn't tell them, oh, this isn't important from an
25 antitrust perspective. You said, work it with Clare, right?

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 A. Yes, that's right.

2 Q. Because you didn't know what else to do, right?

3 A. My -- from an antitrust perspective, the language wasn't
4 something that I was focused on. If it was something that was
5 important to Boston Scientific from that non-antitrust point, I
6 would have suggested that the corporate folks who were
7 interacting with Boston on those topics were in the best
8 position to work the issue with Clare.

9 THE COURT: Simpson, if necessary, is a reference to 10 whom?

11 THE WITNESS: I think Simpson there means Simpson
12 Thacher.

13 THE COURT: They were representing?

14 THE WITNESS: Abbott.

15 THE COURT: Abbott. When you said, I'm not really
16 sure how to address it at this point, what were you intending 17 to convey?

18 THE WITNESS: That it was a fairly heavily negotiated
19 agreement that, from an antitrust perspective, the terms were 20 satisfactory to protect Guidant's interests from an antitrust
21 perspective, that we had a signature from Abbott. From what I
22 could tell, Abbott was comfortable with the agreement, and it
23 had been difficult to get Abbott to the point where they were 24 ready to sign an agreement.

25 And it's late in December, before Christmas, and there

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 was a desire to get moving with due diligence. And the thing
2 that was holding up Abbott having due diligence was having a
3 signed agreement. And at that point, I was expressing a little
4 bit of frustration that from my point of view. How they wanted
5 to have this particular provision is up to them, but we have 6 one party signing it and another party saying maybe we should
7 change this description.

8 In my view, Abbott and Boston should decide how they 9 want that provision to happen and, you know, we'll go from 10 there. But shortly after this e-mail, we got the signed
11 version of the agreement from Boston Scientific, and my 12 recollection is due diligence proceeded thereafter.

13 THE COURT: But you forwarded this to Duwe and Rhoten
14 because, although you didn't have concerns from an antitrust
15 perspective, you understood there might be other perspectives
16 and other issues; is that correct?

17 THE WITNESS: That portion of the agreement wasn't
18 fundamental from an antitrust perspective, and if, from a
19 corporate perspective, folks wanted to change it and they 20 wanted to go through the process of further negotiating this
21 agreement, that was up to them. From an antitrust perspective,
22 I thought that the agreement was fine with either of those two
23 descriptions.

24 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

25 Q. You knew at the time you forwarded this to Mr. Duwe, you

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 knew that Boston would be willing to make that change, didn't
2 you, since two lawyers from Boston Scientific had told you that
3 you weren't characterizing it correctly; isn't that right?

4 A. I think when I sent this to Brian, only Clare had suggested
5 it, but certainly Clare was representing Boston Scientific.
6 And her suggesting the change would suggest to me that Boston
7 was okay with the change.

8 Q. And if Miss Gunther is telling the truth Abbott was not 9 only willing to make that change, it was asking to make that 10 change, if she's telling the truth?

11 A. Yeah, I don't recall that.

12 Q. And so the fact that it was a couple of days before
13 Christmas wasn't really an obstacle to getting this thing
14 changed?

15 A. I don't recall that.

16 THE COURT: Did you discuss this with Mr. Stoll?

17 THE WITNESS: I don't recall that.

18 THE COURT: Did you ever hear back from Mr. Duwe?

19 THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.

20 THE COURT: Did you ever hear back from Ms. Rhoten?

21 THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.

22 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

23 Q. And it never got changed, did it?

24 A. I don't believe the language was changed, no.

25 MR. WEINBERGER: Your Honor, unless you have more

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 questions about this, I'm going to move on to something else.

2 THE COURT: No, that's fine.

3 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

4 Q. Mr. John, you were aware -- were you aware of the 5 requirements of section 4.02(C) merger agreement that J&J be 6 notified by any takeover proposal or the status and details of 7 any takeover proposal?

8 A. Generally aware of it, yes.

9 Q. And do you agree that the accession agreement that was 10 signed by Guidant, Abbott and Boston Scientific was related to 11 the Boston Scientific takeover proposal?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. And am I correct that you did not advise anyone at or on 14 behalf of J&J that Abbott had signed the accession agreement?

15 A. I don't recall.

16 Q. Could you -- In the back of your exhibit book you'll see a
17 tab for your deposition.

18 A. I'm sorry, which book, the binder or this?

19 Q. The binder, the back of the binder. There should be a tab
20 that says "Deposition."

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Can you turn to Page 134, beginning at Line 23. Would you
23 just let me know when you get there?

24 A. Line 23?

25 Q. Line 23. I'm going to ask you if I asked you -- You

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 remember I took your deposition?

2 A. Yes, I do.

3 Q. Back in 2010?

4 A. Yes, sir. I remember.

5 Q. Did I ask you the following questions and did you give me
6 the following answers:

7 "Q. Did you advise anyone from J&J that Abbott had entered
8 into an accession agreement with Guidant?

9 "A. I did not advise anyone at J&J that Abbott had entered
10 into an accession agreement with Guidant."

11 Did you give me that testimony?

12 A. Yes, I did.

13 Q. Now, did you also understand that Guidant information that 14 was shared during due diligence was required to be provided to 15 J&J, or if it was highly sensitive, to J&J's lawyers at 16 Cravath?

17 A. I remember -- I don't remember the metes and bounds of the 18 obligations or there being an obligation to show information
19 with J&J that we shared through due diligence.

20 Q. Could you look at John 28. That's a letter from Linda
21 Cenedella, C-e-n-e-d-e-l-l-a, she was an associate at your 22 firm?

23 A. She was an associate at Skadden at the time, yes.

24 Q. She worked in your group?

25 A. She was an antitrust lawyer, that's right.

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Q. And she's sending, on December 20th, diligence materials
2 for Guidant that are stated to have been provided to Boston
3 Scientific or their advisers; do you see that?

4 A. I do.

5 Q. And this is -- December 20th is before any due diligence
6 has been given to Abbott; is that right?

7 A. I think that's right.

8 Q. And if you look at John Exhibit 29, it's a letter from 9 Jakub Teply, J-a-k-u-b, T-e-p-l-y to Cliff Birge at Johnson &
10 Johnson, dated December 22nd, enclosing some additional 11 materials that were stated to have been provided to Boston
12 Scientific; is that right?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And this also would likely have been before any due
15 diligence was provided to Abbott, would it?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. And then if you'd look at John Exhibit 30, another letter
18 on the same date from Kevin Hahm, H-a-h-m, to Cravath, also 19 enclosing materials provided to Boston Scientific or their 20 advisers; do you see that?

21 A. I do, yes.

22 Q. And Mr. Hahm was an associate at Skadden?

23 A. Correct.

24 Q. In the antitrust group?

25 A. That's correct, at the time.

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Q. And this also would not likely have contained any materials
2 that were shown to Abbott, given the date of this letter; is
3 that right?

4 A. That seems right, yes.

5 Q. Now, I'd like you to look at John Exhibit 31. It's another
6 letter from Mr. Hahm to Cherylyn Ahrens at Cravath, but this 7 one is dated December 30th; do you see that?

8 A. I do.

9 Q. It says, "Enclosed please find additional diligence
10 materials for Guidant Corporation. These materials have been
11 provided to Boston Scientific or their advisers in connection
12 with the diligence review." Do you see that?

13 A. I do.

14 Q. And are you aware that -- do you know that these materials
15 were actually materials that were given to Abbott?

16 A. I don't know.

17 Q. All right. Well, why don't you take a look at Stoll
18 Exhibit 27. Are you there, Mr. John? Do you have it?

19 A. Yes, I do.

20 Q. Do you see this is an index of Guidant Corporation
21 materials sent to Cravath?

22 A. That's what it looks like, yeah.

23 Q. And do you see on the third item the date of December 30th,
24 '05, it says Abbott DES diligence, diligence sent by K. Hahm?

25 A. I see that.

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Q. That's the date of the letter we just looked at, John
2 Exhibit 31?

3 A. It is, yes.

4 Q. Would you also look at Stoll Exhibit 24. Do you see that
5 the front page is a second e-mail, it's an e-mail from Mr. Hahm
6 to you dated January 3rd?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. And Mr. Hahm tells you, here is the binder of materials
9 from Abbott's DES due diligence in Santa Clara next week --
10 last week; do you see that?

11 A. I do.

12 Q. And do you see on the second page it says, "Guidant project
13 Bean DES due diligence performed by Abbott December 27th, 14 2005"?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And the fourth line it says, "Documents shared with 17 Abbott"?

18 A. Yes, I see that.

19 Q. And then in the footnote it says, "All documents provided
20 to Abbott were also sent to Cravath;" is that right?

21 A. I see the language there, yes.

22 Q. And there's very little doubt those were the documents that 23 were provided by Mr. Hahm with his letter that's been shown to 24 you as John Exhibit 31?

25 A. That seems likely.

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Q. The one that says that these materials have been provided
2 to Boston Scientific and its advisers?

3 A. Yes, it looked like Kevin kept using the same form letter.

4 Q. But these materials weren't even given to Boston
5 Scientific, were they?

6 A. I don't know.

7 Q. The DES materials, you know, were not given to Boston
8 Scientific; do you know that?

9 A. I don't know that.

10 Q. Now, do you recall testifying in your affidavit about a
11 call that Neal Stoll received from two lawyers at Johnson &
12 Johnson, Eric Harris and Jim Hilton, on January 6th, 2006?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And that testimony is at paragraph 26, right?

15 A. I'm sorry, paragraph 26 of?

16 Q. Of your affidavit.

17 A. Of my affidavit, sorry. Yes, I see that paragraph.

18 Q. Okay. And the e-mail that you wrote to Mr. Kury
19 summarizing this call is Harris Exhibit 12, right? If you turn 20 to that.

21 A. I have it in front of me. I'm sorry, what was the question
22 again?

23 Q. I just want to know if this is an e-mail that you sent to 24 Mr. Kury summarizing the call that you're describing in the 25 e-mail?

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 A. That I'm describing in paragraph 26?

2 Q. Yes.

3 A. Yes, that's right.

4 Q. And do you recall, as it states here in this e-mail and as
5 you state in your affidavit, that during the call, Mr. Hilton
6 commented that he thought Boston Scientific's divestiture buyer
7 was Abbott?

8 A. I'm sorry, could you ask that question again?

9 Q. Yes. Your call, as is stated in this document and as 10 you've testified in your affidavit in paragraph 26, that during 11 this call Mr. Hilton commented that he thought Boston
12 Scientific's divestiture buyer was Abbott?

13 A. I recall hearing that. I just don't remember if I was on 14 the call itself.

15 Q. Well, you wrote this e-mail?

16 A. That's correct. It's possible that Neal relayed the 17 contents of the call to me and I put it in the e-mail, Neal
18 signed off on the e-mail, and I sent it to the client.

19 Q. Okay. But the e-mail does state that Mr. Hilton raised
20 this question?

21 A. The e-mail states that Hilton hypothesized it was Apple,
22 yes.

23 Q. And you actually made a point of saying that in your 24 affidavit, paragraph 26. You said, "The e-mail summarized
25 highlights of the call, including that Mr. Hilton commented

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 during the conversation that he thought Boston Scientific's
2 divestiture was Abbott, for which we used the code name Apple."
3 Do you see that?

4 A. Yes, I do.

5 Q. And you put that in there to suggest somehow that J&J knew
6 what was going on between Guidant and Abbott?

7 A. I think we just put it in there to accurately reflect that
8 we had heard from J&J that they believed that the divestiture
9 buyer was Abbott.

10 Q. Well, there's a lot of stuff going on in this telephone
11 call. This is the only thing you pointed to in your affidavit;
12 is that right?

13 A. I think that's right.

14 Q. And you're not suggesting here that Mr. Hilton knew that or 15 said he knew that Guidant was providing diligence to Abbott,
16 are you?

17 A. I don't believe that's what I'm saying in this e-mail, no.

18 Q. And, in fact, the response to Mr. Hilton's speculation by 19 Mr. Stoll was to neither confirm nor deny it; isn't that right?

20 A. That's what I wrote in my e-mail, yeah.

21 Q. Even though Mr. Stoll, obviously, knew on January 6th that 22 it was, indeed, Abbott?

23 A. He knew on January 6th that Abbott had been proposed as the 24 divestiture buyer, that's correct.

25 Q. Now, in that same e-mail, you tell Mr. Kury that Mr. Harris

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 and Mr. Hilton asked Neal Stoll if there had been any
2 discussion about divesting the co-promote and that Neal said,
3 not to his knowledge; do you see that?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. And you knew when you wrote that e-mail, that that was a
6 false statement, didn't you?

7 A. I don't recall.

8 Q. You knew that there had been discussions about divesting
9 the co-promote agreement between Boston Scientific, Abbott and 10 Guidant, didn't you?

11 A. I vaguely remember there was some discussion of the 12 co-promote. I don't remember when it happened or what the 13 contents of those discussions were.

14 Q. Well, let's look at John Exhibit 20. Do you see John 15 Exhibit 20, the first full e-mail on the bottom of the first
16 page is an e-mail addressed by John Capek to you?

17 A. I see that.

18 Q. And John Capek was a pretty senior guy at Guidant, wasn't 19 he?

20 A. He was a senior tech at Guidant. I think he was in the 21 vascular intervention business at the time.

22 Q. And he specifically asked you, "Have they asked about the 23 co-promotion agreement and its transferability?" Do you see
24 that?

25 A. Yes, I do.

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Q. And the "they" was Abbott, wasn't it?

2 A. Yeah, that appears to be the case, yes.

3 Q. And then your response is up on top, and your response is,
4 "They have asked for copies of all licenses and related
5 agreements, including the co-promote, to be placed in the data
6 room as category 2 materials." Do you see that?

7 A. I do.

8 Q. It's very clear that Neal Stoll's answer to Mr. Harris and 9 Mr. Hilton that he didn't know about the -- whether this issue
10 had been raised is not true. He's copied on these e-mails, 11 isn't he?

12 A. The e-mail, I think, refers to a discussion about divesting
13 the co-promote. The e-mail you just pointed to me talks about 14 having access to the co-promote in the diligence room. I don't 15 necessarily view those as exactly the same.

16 Q. Well, Mr. Capek's question is about transferability of the 17 co-promotion agreement, isn't it? Abbott wanted to know if it
18 bought the VI and ES assets, would it also be entitled in part
19 of that divestiture to co-promote agreement.

20 A. John asked me, have they asked about the co-promote's
21 transferability, and what my e-mail says here is -- here I
22 said, they've asked for a copy of the agreement. I don't know
23 that that means they've asked us about its transferability.

24 Q. All right. Let's explore that, Mr. John. You knew, did
25 you not, that the co-promotion agreement between J&J and

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Guidant had a confidentiality provision, didn't you?

2 A. Sitting here today, I recall there being confidentiality
3 provisions in that agreement or the series of agreements.

4 There were a bunch of agreements that J&J and Guidant had
5 entered into. One of them was a co-promote agreement. I just 6 can't remember which provisions were in which agreement.

7 Q. Okay. Would you take a look at John Exhibit 13. It's John
8 Exhibit 13. The top e-mail is an e-mail that you sent to 9 Mr. Kury on December 22nd, 2005; is that right?

10 A. That's correct.

11 Q. And in the middle of that e-mail there's a sentence that is 12 now being highlighted on the screen that says, as follows: "We 13 continue to need to consider, however, the confidentiality
14 clauses in the license and related agreements, in particular,
15 the limitations imposed by the Juice agreements. John Lapke
16 and I just discussed that issue and think it would be 17 worthwhile for a group; i.e. John L, Bernie, Brian and me, to 18 discuss the various risks of meeting Bean's and Apple's
19 requests to share those agreements with in-house counsel." Do
20 you see that?

21 A. I do.

22 Q. And it was after the discussion -- was there such a
23 discussion?

24 A. I don't recall.

25 Q. In any event, it was after this e-mail that the agreement

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 was made available to Abbott in the data room as indicated by
2 John Exhibit 20; is that right?

3 A. I think my e-mail says we have done that. Sitting here
4 today, I can't remember if it happened or it didn't.

5 Q. Well, your e-mail says it. You have no doubt that it
6 happened, do you?

7 A. Not necessarily. There are times in my e-mail that it
8 would have said we've done it when, in fact, when I check with 9 the corporate folks, that actually it hadn't been put in yet.

10 A lot was going on in a very short period of time here, and so
11 sometimes my e-mails weren't exactly up to speed. This may 12 have been one of those times. I just don't know.

13 Q. You have no reason to believe that when you said in an
14 e-mail, "we've made it available in the data room," you have no
15 reason to believe that that's not true?

16 A. There were other e-mails I think I sent during this time
17 period, I'm just thinking about the confidentiality,
18 potentially waivers of confidentiality that -- between FTC and
19 other agencies that I may have said we sent along, and we ended
20 up not sending; so that's why I just don't know.

21 MR. WEINBERGER: Your Honor, if I could just have one
22 second. My documents are coming out of the book. I'm just 23 going to hand it to somebody to put it together.

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Q. Mr. John, could you look at Plaintiff's Exhibit 9 in your
2 binder. Now, you told me that -- a statement that there wasn't
3 any discussion of divesting the co-promote. You didn't know if 4 that was inaccurate because you didn't know if the issue of 5 transferability had been discussed. I'd like you to look at 6 the bottom e-mail. It's an e-mail from Mr. McConnell to 7 Mr. Kury that then gets forwarded to you. Do you see that?

8 A. Yes, I see that.

9 Q. And on that e-mail Mr. McConnell says, "Abbott wants access
10 to schedule from the Cordis co-promotion agreement that shows
11 whether Juice can cancel the agreement if we're sold to Bean or 12 Apple." Do you see that?

13 THE COURT: Do you see it?

14 A. Yes. I'm sorry, I'm just trying to get there. Yes, I see
15 that.

16 Q. And the reason they wanted the schedule is they wanted to 17 know whether they get the co-promotion agreement if they buy
18 these assets; isn't that right?

19 A. I think you'd have to ask Abbott. That strikes me as a
20 reasonable interpretation.

21 Q. And then it goes on to say, "They are listed on the 22 schedule and are excluded. I am sure there is a
23 confidentiality protection that prevents us from giving them
24 the schedule, but we need to find a way to let Apple know that 25 they're on the schedule while avoiding others that are listed.

ECHPGUI3

John - cross

1 Can we just tell them or can our attorneys tell their attorneys
2 that they are listed?" Do you see that?

3 A. I see that.

1 Q. See that Mr. Kury then sent it to Mr. Duwe with a question
2 mark. He actually sent it to Mr. Duwe and to you with question
3 marks. Is that right?

4 A. I see that.

5 Q. Then Mr. Duwe said, "Well, we called them."

6 Do you see that?

7 A. I see him saying that the Confi provisions of the 8 co-promoted are more general; they do not expressly apply to 9 the terms of the agreement or schedules. And so I view this as 10 Brian took a look and is advising Bernie his views as to the 11 applicability of the Confi provisions, which is what I would 12 have expected from a division of labor perspective to happen as 13 I was focused on the antitrust issues, not on the -- and the 14 corporate team would be focused on other issues including the 15 Confi provisions.

16 Q. You were the one that raised the confidentiality agreement
17 in your email to Mr. Kury and suggested a meeting. Isn't that 18 right, John Exhibit 13?

19 A. Yeah, I recall flagging the issue, but ultimately would 20 have been relying on the corporate folks to run it to ground.

21 Q. Do you recall when you flagged that issue, that the 22 confidentiality provision of the co-promote agreement said that 23 the material terms of the agreement were confidential and not
24 to be disclosed without the consent of the parties?

25 A. I don't recall the content of the confidentiality

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 provision.

2 Q. Would you agree with me the question of whether or not the
3 agreement could be assigned or transferred if the business was 4 bought is a pretty material term?

5 A. It may be; it may not, depending on the facts and 6 circumstances. It's kind of getting outside my area of 7 expertise.

8 Q. It was material enough for Abbott to want to know about it
9 pretty badly, wasn't it?

10 A. I'm not sure how badly they wanted to know about it.

11 THE COURT: Well, they wanted to know about it, right?

12 THE WITNESS: I believe they did, yes.

13 THE COURT: That's what this email chain reflects,
14 right?

15 THE WITNESS: They were interested in knowing about 16 it, yeah.

17 THE COURT: Had you had discussions other than what's 18 in this email chain?

19 THE WITNESS: I don't recall talking about it.
20 Sitting here looking at this email, I don't recall the 21 discussions.

22 THE COURT: OK. Go ahead.

23 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

24 Q. Going back now to Harris Exhibit 12, that is the email that 25 you wrote to Mr. Kury of the call between Mr. Stoll and

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 Mr. Harris. In that same email, you wrote that Messrs. Hilton
2 and Harris during the call had asked about what rights Boston
3 Scientific was seeking to retain in Guidant's VI business,
4 didn't you?

5 A. Yeah, they were asking about what DES intellectual property
6 Boston would license back.

7 Q. And just one day before this email, you had corresponded
8 Mr. Kury as to what you should say if you were asked about this
9 by J&J. Isn't that right?

10 A. I don't remember the timing, but that sounds right.

11 Q. Take a look at Stoll Exhibit 19.

12 A. OK, I've looked at it.

13 Q. And you see the bottom, Mr. Kury is writing to Mr. Deyo
14 responding to a question about Section 5.03 of the draft merger
15 agreement and he says, "I suggest that you have one of your 16 lawyers give Neal Stoll or Ian John a call, and they will
17 describe our understanding of what Boston Scientific is seeking 18 re retained rights to the VI business."

19 Do you see that?

20 A. I do.

21 Q. Above that you respond to Mr. Kury and you say, "Neal and I
22 have questions about your second paragraph, given we only know
23 what we learned in the course of a privileged conversation."

24 Do you see that?

25 A. I do.

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 Q. We will discuss this later, but the privilege that you were
2 talking about here was a result of an oral defense agreement
3 that had been entered into between Abbott Guidant and Boston
4 Scientific. Isn't that right?

5 A. I don't know if it was -- if Abbott would have been
6 incorporating that oral joint defense agreement in this context
7 or whether it was just Guidant and Boston, but I do recollect
8 or recall an oral defense agreement between Guidant and Boston,
9 yes.

10 Q. So the privileged information had to come from some 11 communication either from Boston or Abbott as to what it is 12 they were talking about regarding Boston Scientific interest
13 and retaining rights to the DES business, right?

14 A. Correct.

15 Q. Then Mr. Kury told you to discuss it with Mr. Mulaney and 16 give him a recommendation, right?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. And you did that, right?

19 A. I don't remember doing it, no.

20 Q. Well, the next email is from you to Mr. Kury, and it says
21 as follows: "If called, we would plan to say that we know
22 nothing more specific about Boston's demands in this area than 23 has been shared publicly; that is, that Boston wants shared
24 rights to Guidant's DES program. We have not yet learned any 25 details about what exactly that means." Is that right?

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 A. That's what he wrote here, right.

2 Q. That's what Mr. Stoll told Mr. Harris and Mr. Hilton when
3 they asked him that question that very next day. Isn't that
4 right?

5 A. I don't remember that, no.

6 Q. Did you provide Guidant confidential information to the FTC
7 prior to termination of the J&J merger agreement?

8 A. Yes. Just looking back at my summary email on January 6, I
9 don't see us saying that -- we only know what's in the --
10 available in the public domain.

11 THE COURT: What exhibit are we looking at?

12 MR. WEINBERGER: Harris Exhibit 12.

13 Q. Here is what it says: "Neal walked them through 5.03, and 14 they understood most of the provisions, although they were 15 wondering about Schedule 5.03, which is meant to list the DES
16 IP Bean will license back from divestiture buyer of the VI/ES
17 businesses (Hilton hypothesized it was Apple; Neal neither 18 confirmed or denied the speculation) Neal explained that we 19 have not seen it yet, but that we understand our obligation to 20 share it with them when we do so."

21 Is that what he said?

22 A. That's what I wrote in the email, yeah.

23 Q. The submissions that were made to the FTC were voluntary,
24 weren't they?

25 A. I believe that's right.

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 Q. And if you look, for example, at John Exhibit 39, the
2 second page, the re line on the email says "FTC voluntary
3 submission." Is that right?

4 A. The subject of Kevin's email on the second page is FTC
5 voluntary submission, yes.

6 Q. As of the time of this submission, Exhibit 39, Boston
7 Scientific had not made a Hart-Scott-Rodino filing. Is that
8 right?

9 A. I think that's right. I don't remember the specifics, but
10 I think that's right.

11 Q. In fact, they didn't make such a submission until after a
12 merger agreement was signed between Boston Scientific and 13 Guidant?

14 A. Again, I don't remember the specifics, but that sounds
15 right.

16 Q. Now, in this submission that was made on January 12, the 17 information that was provided here was highly confidential
18 Guidant business information, wasn't it?

19 A. Correct.

20 Q. If you would look at John Exhibit 38, that was another
21 submission that was made on a voluntary basis to the FTC of 22 highly confidential Guidant business information. Isn't that
23 right?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. This submission was made in connection with a tentative --

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 withdrawn -- in connection with a Boston Scientific offer that
2 had not been accepted by Guidant at the time. Isn't that
3 right?

4 A. I don't remember the timing of Guidant's acceptance of 5 Boston's offer, so I don't know for sure.

6 Q. Well, let me see if I can get you to agree to this. This
7 submission was made at a time when the Guidant/J&J merger
8 agreement was still in effect and had not been terminated?

9 A. That sounds right. I don't remember the timing of that 10 event, but that sounds right.

11 Q. You made Mr. Kury aware that Skadden was sending Guidant
12 confidential information to the FTC, didn't you?

13 A. I'm sure I did, yeah.

14 Q. If you look at John Exhibit 41. In your email to Mr. Kury
15 on the bottom of the page here, you're basically telling him
16 that the FTC has asked if they can share the material that you
17 previously sent to them with foreign regulatory agencies.
18 Isn't that right?

19 A. Yeah, it's asking -- the FTC has asked whether they can --
20 whether Guidant would waive FTC's confidentiality obligations
21 so the FTC could speak to foreign regulatory authorities about
22 Guidant confidential information.

23 Q. And you told Mr. Kury that one of the benefits of this was 24 that it would speed the FTC's review for potential transaction
25 between Boston Scientific and Guidant, didn't you?

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. And that would make Boston Scientific's proposal more
3 attractive to Guidant, wouldn't it?

4 A. I'm sorry, more attractive than?

5 Q. Than if -- more attractive to Guidant to have a proposal
6 where the antitrust review would happen faster than slower.
7 Isn't that right?

8 A. Yeah, I think generally the clients would prefer the 9 regulatory process to be over as quickly as possible. It's not 10 always the case but generally that's true.

11 Q. And Mr. Kury then authorized you to proceed?

12 A. He does, yeah.

13 Q. Now, again, January 20, would you agree with me that on 14 that date the Guidant/J&J merger agreement still had not been 15 terminated?

16 A. I don't remember.

17 Q. Well, I will represent to you that it was on January 25, 18 so--

19 A. It was what?

20 Q. January 25. So it would be clear this was all happening
21 while the J&J/Guidant merger agreement was still in effect. Is
22 that right?

23 A. Yeah, I have no reason to doubt your representation, but 24 that sounds right.

25 Q. Mr. John, you did not discuss with Mr. Kury or anyone else

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 at Guidant whether this was permitted. By "this" I mean
2 supplying information to the FTC voluntarily while the
3 J&J/Guidant merger agreement was still in effect, whether that
4 was permitted by the J&J/Guidant merger agreement?

5 A. I don't recall any such discussions, no.

6 Q. In fact, you did not consider whether under the merger
7 agreement Guidant was permitted to take actions that would help
8 Boston Scientific speed its application through the FTC in the 9 event that Boston Scientific and Guidant entered into a merger
10 agreement, did you?

11 A. I'm having trouble following that question, but I didn't 12 focus on the non-solicitation provision in connection with 13 providing Guidant information to the Federal Trade Commission.

14 THE COURT: As far as you know, was anybody focused on
15 that?

16 THE WITNESS: My expectation was the corporate folks
17 were thinking about Guidant's obligations to J&J under the 18 merger agreement; that provision in particular.

19 THE COURT: But I'm looking at your email here, which 20 is John 41. Were corporate folks cc'd in this email chain?

21 THE WITNESS: I don't see them on this email chain,
22 no, your Honor.

23 THE COURT: So when the original message from you to 24 Mr. Kury cc's Linda Cennedalla, she is antitrust?

25 THE WITNESS: Correct.

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 THE COURT: Kevin Hahm, he's antitrust.

2 THE WITNESS: Correct.

3 THE COURT: Henry Huser, antitrust?

4 THE WITNESS: European competition is what Skadden
5 called at the time similar role.

6 THE COURT: Giorgio Motta, same thing?

7 THE WITNESS: Correct.

8 THE COURT: And Mr. Kury and Neal Stoll.

9 THE WITNESS: Right. That's who is on this email
10 chain. I recall interacting with a corporate team throughout 11 this process and certainly would have made them aware of the 12 FTC's request for information and our recommendation from an 13 antitrust perspective to respond to those requests.

14 THE COURT: OK. Go ahead.

15 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

16 Q. Mr. John, is it correct that you did not solicit any 17 opinion from anyone else at Skadden as to whether providing 18 information to the FTC at that juncture; that is, prior to 19 termination of the J&J/Guidant merger agreement, violated the 20 J&J Guidant merger agreement?

21 A. One of the what I just mentioned was that we would have 22 interacted with the corporate team, Brian and Chip, about the 23 FTC's request and our recommendation from an antitrust
24 perspective to respond to those requests. And if Chip or Brian
25 or the other members of the corporate team believed that there

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 was a reason not to provide that information, for example, if
2 it's the case that Guidant shouldn't provide that information
3 because of the Johnson & Johnson merger agreement, I would have
4 expected them to alert me to that.

5 Q. Does that mean you did not specifically seek any advice as 6 to whether you could do that?

7 A. I don't recall asking them about Section 4.02 of the merger
8 agreement and whether or not it applied to Guidant providing
9 information to the FTC in response to their request.

10 Q. So you did not solicit any advice from them with respect to 11 that issue. Is that correct?

12 A. In making them aware of the FTC request, there would be an
13 implicit request from their perspective: Let me know if there
14 is a reason not to provide this information.

15 Q. I didn't ask you about an implicit request. I asked you
16 about an explicit request.

17 THE COURT: I don't think you specified, actually, but 18 you can ask now.

19 Q. Did you make an explicit request for any opinion or advice
20 from anyone else at Skadden as to whether providing materials
21 to the Federal Trade Commission while the J&J/Guidant agreement
22 still was in existence, still was effective, in connection with 23 the Boston Scientific proposal or offer violated the Johnson &
24 Johnson/Guidant merger agreement?

25 A. I don't recall making such an explicit request, no.

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 Q. Now, you now testify in your affidavit, however, that you
2 would have so advised Guidant had you thought of it, right?

3 A. Sorry.

4 Q. The second paragraph, 29 of your affidavit state as 5 follows: "In my experience it is not unusual for a client to 6 respond to the FTC's information requests. Although I do not
7 recall discussing the FTC's January 2006 request with Guidant
8 directly, I have no reason to doubt that if I did, I would have
9 advised Guidant to respond as I did. I do not recall anyone
10 raising a concern about whether providing information to the 11 FTC in response to its inquiries was prohibited by the merger
12 agreement."

13 Do you recall giving that testimony?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. And is the sole ground for this that it is not unusual for 16 a client to respond to the FTC's information requests?

17 A. The basis of my recommendation or my suggestion here that I
18 would have advised Guidant to respond is that in my experience
19 as an antitrust lawyer engaging with the FTC staff, typically 20 it's more effective for the client to engage cooperatively with 21 the staff, which in my experience means responding to their
22 request for information on a voluntary basis.

23 Q. Does it matter to you if provision of that information is 24 prohibited by a contract?

25 A. It --

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 Q. Would that matter to you?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. Are you aware that under Section 4.02(A)(2) of the merger
4 agreement, Guidant was prohibited to furnish to any person any
5 information or otherwise cooperate in any other way with a
6 takeover proposal except to give due diligence to the party
7 making the proposal and its representatives and to have 8 discussions and negotiations with the party and its
9 representatives? Were you aware of that?

10 A. I am aware generally of the non-solicitation provision in 11 that it limited information flow; but the specifics in the way
12 you described it, no.

13 Q. And you wouldn't be telling us that the Federal Trade
14 Commission is a representative of Boston Scientific, would you?

15 A. No.

16 Q. Boston Scientific, what they were essentially doing having
17 not made a Hart-Scott-Rodino filing, they're just previewing
18 this transaction with the Federal Trade Commission. Isn't that
19 right?

20 A. I don't know about previewing. They were engaging with the 21 Federal Trade Commission in advance of filing Hart-Scott-Rodino
22 Act notification report form which is not an unusual approach.

23 Q. And Guidant was facilitating whatever it was the FTC was 24 doing by sending the FTC voluntary Guidant highly confidential
25 business information, wasn't it?

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 A. Guidant was responding to the FTC's request for information
2 on a voluntary basis.

3 Q. You could have said, "We can't do this. You know we have a
4 contract with J&J, and we're not allowed to give you any
5 information unless and until we terminate that agreement." You
6 could have said that, couldn't you?

7 A. If that had been the case, and I'd been made aware that 8 that was the case, and that was the interpretation of the 9 agreement, I absolutely could have said that, yes.

10 MR. WEINBERGER: Your Honor, I have I think about 15,
11 20 minutes left. And it is a convenient stopping point if that 12 will work.

13 THE COURT: All right. Let's pick up at 2:00. All
14 right? I guess I will just advise you, Mr. John, that you are 15 on cross so don't discuss the substance of your testimony with 16 any one. You can talk about lunch plans things like that, talk
17 about the Jets. But you can't talk about the substance of your 18 testimony. All right?

19 THE WITNESS: Understood.

20 THE COURT: Thanks. See you in a little bit.

1 CROSS EXAMINATION CONTINUED

2 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

3 Q. Mr. John, you testified this morning that you did not know
4 whether the co-promote agreement between J&J and Guidant had
5 been placed in a data set. Is that right?

6 A. Correct.

7 Q. Let me hand up to you a document that has been marked as 8 Stoll Exhibit 25.

9 THE COURT: Not in the binder?

10 MR. WEINBERGER: It's not in the binder.

11 Q. This is an email from you to someone named Gary
12 Schneiderman and John Lapke, and one of the things you are 13 attaching is the Apple data room index and supplement listing
14 all the materials shared with Apple thus far. Is that right?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. It's dated January 5?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. If you look at page 3 of 12, which is Bates number 79459,
19 you see the item A37 is the sales promotion agreement between 20 ACS, GCS, Cordis Corporation and Cordis LLC dated February 24,
21 2004. That is the co-promote agreement we have been talking
22 about, isn't it?

23 A. It sounds like this.

24 Q. I asked you earlier about oral defense agreement. You were 25 aware that there was an oral defense agreement entered into

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 between Boston Scientific and Guidant?

2 A. I'm sorry, could you ask that again? I was just looking at 3 this document.

4 Q. You were aware, were you not, that there was an oral
5 defense agreement entered into in December 2005 between Boston
6 Scientific and Guidant?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. And you were aware that at some point Abbott became a party
9 to that agreement. Is that right?

10 A. It sounds right, I don't remember that happening, but it
11 sounds like it may have.

12 Q. Are you aware that under the merger agreement, there are 13 prohibitions against Guidant entering into certain kinds of 14 agreements other than a confidentiality agreement referred to 15 in Section 4.02(A). Are you aware of that?

16 A. I don't remember that, no.

17 Q. Do you agree that an oral joint defense agreement would be 18 related to the Boston Scientific takeover proposal?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. Is it correct that you did not provide any advice to 21 Guidant as to whether Guidant was permitted to enter into an 22 oral joint defense agreement that Boston Scientific and 23 Abbott -- I did the same thing yesterday. Let me start over
24 again.

25 Is it correct that you did not provide any advice to

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 Guidant that prior to termination, prior to termination of the
2 J&J/Guidant agreement, Guidant was permitted to enter into an
3 oral joint defense agreement with Boston Scientific?

4 A. I did not provide any such advice.

5 Q. And you don't know if anyone else did. Is that right?

6 A. I don't know.

7 Q. Now, is it correct that Guidant's desire was to have a high
8 degree of certainty that any transaction with Boston Scientific
9 would be completed as quickly as possible?

10 A. I think in any transaction that Guidant might enter into,
11 it was its desire to complete it as quickly as possible. I
12 don't remember hearing specifically from Guidant about its 13 desire with regards to Boston Scientific. It wouldn't surprise
14 me if that was their desire, but I don't remember sitting here
15 today hearing that.

16 Q. Could you turn to your deposition on page 194. I will 17 direct you to line 15 and ask you whether I asked you the 18 following question and whether you gave me the following answer:
19 "Q. Do you know that Guidant was concerned that any offer from 20 Boston Scientific had a very high degree of assurance of FTC
21 approval?

22 "A. I believe Guidant's desire was to have a high degree of 23 certainty that any transaction with Boston Scientific would be 24 completed as quickly as possible."

25 Did you give me that testimony?

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 A. I did, yes.

2 Q. Is it true also that having an agreement in place between
3 Boston Scientific and Abbott would make the antitrust approval
4 process faster?

5 A. What kind of agreement?

6 Q. Having an agreement in place between Boston Scientific and 7 Abbott regarding divestiture of the VI and ES assets would make
8 the antitrust approval process faster?

9 A. It might.

10 Q. You have been involved -- it might or it would?

11 A. It might.

12 THE COURT: It likely would? Is that fair to say?

13 THE WITNESS: Boston Scientific and Abbott -- most 14 likely it would, yes.

15 THE COURT: OK.

16 Q. And you have been involved in transaction -- and that made
17 Boston Scientific's offer of January 8 more attractive to 18 Guidant, didn't it?

19 A. I don't know.

20 Q. Well, if Guidant wanted to have high degree of certainty
21 that any transaction would be completed as quickly as possible,
22 and having an agreement in place between Boston and Abbott
23 would make the antitrust approval process faster, it stands to 24 reason that that would make Boston's offer more attractive,
25 doesn't it?

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 A. If the only difference in Boston's offer were having an
2 agreement with Abbott and not having an agreement with Abbott
3 and Guidant was interested in moving more quickly and that made
4 it move more quickly, then that would be a positive development
5 from Guidant's perspective, I would imagine.

6 Q. But you have been involved in your career in transactions
7 where an offer is made, there's a potential divestiture, and 8 the company to whom the assets are to be divested is not
9 identified. Isn't that right?

10 A. Correct.

11 Q. And there are other situations where a potential purchaser
12 is identified but with a non-binding agreement subject to due
13 diligence. Isn't that right?

14 A. I'm sorry. Can you just walk through that hypothetical
15 again?

16 Q. Another scenario would be where the acquirer has identified
17 a potential purchaser of divested assets who signs like a
18 non-binding letter of intent subject to due diligence?

19 A. I'm sorry, I'm just trying to place that in the whole time
20 frame of things. I just don't trying exactly what you're 21 asking I'm not following what you're asking.

22 Q. I'm asking you, in your career you've seen transactions
23 where an acquirer who needs to make a divestiture doesn't sign
24 up the divestiture party in advance but has a non-binding
25 agreement with the divestiture party subject to due diligence.

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 A. Possibly, but putting that in the whole time frame
2 relative -- the way I think about these issues is less subject
3 to due diligence than where is the what I call the main
4 transaction, the transaction between the buyer and the target
5 is in the regulatory review process. And I have been involved
6 in transactions where the buyer has entered into an agreement
7 with the FTC, for example, to divest certain assets and has not
8 identified a buyer for those assets prior to closing the main
9 transaction. That's what comes to mind. That is why I am just 10 having trouble following your hypothetical.

11 Q. Sometimes there are situations where someone makes an offer
12 and the divestiture requirement is -- there is a requirement in 13 the agreement to make a divestiture, but they don't have a
14 binding agreement with the divestiture party at the time, at 15 the time they make the offer, right?

16 A. I have been involved in situations where the main deal
17 closes before the divestiture -- before the buyer of the target
18 has entered into a definitive agreement with the divestiture --

19 Q. I'm not talking about that though. I'm talking about a
20 definitive merger agreement is signed but there is no
21 divestiture accomplished before the closing.

22 A. I'm sorry. You're talking about the definitive merger
23 agreement as the hallmark for this event.

24 Q. Yes.

25 A. That helps. I've been involved in cases where a definitive

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 merger agreement is signed. There's an understanding that
2 divestitures may be required; not clear whether they will or
3 won't, but they may be required, but there is no divestiture
4 buyer identified at that point, yes.

5 Q. So it is not an inherent requirement of a proposal to buy
6 another company where a divestiture is going to be or 7 potentially be necessary that a divestiture candidate be
8 legally committed at the time the merger is agreed to, is it?

9 A. In the abstract of any potential transaction?

10 Q. Yes.

11 A. Lots of different structures happen, and that one isn't
12 always happening. So, from that perspective, I wouldn't view
13 it as inherently required.

14 Q. When the board of a target is deciding whether an offer
15 that is made to it is superior to a contract that it already 16 has, one of the things it has to consider is whether or not
17 antitrust approval is likely to be obtained or is reasonably
18 capable of being obtained, right?

19 A. I've never been on a board, but just in my experience and 20 understanding, the things that boards think about and one of 21 the things that boards seek advice from antitrust lawyers about 22 is what is the antitrust risk of this transaction relative to 23 this other alternative. My understanding is the board takes 24 that advice into account when weighing both of those options.

25 Q. What the board has to determine when considering an

EchQgui4

John - cross

1 alternative proposal is whether it's comfortable with the
2 antitrust solution that's being proposed by the offerer. Isn't
3 that right?

4 A. One of the factors that boards take into account I believe
5 is the antitrust risk of any particular offer that's on the 6 table.

7 MR. WEINBERGER: I have no further questions, your
8 Honor.

9 THE COURT: Any redirect?

10 MR. WILSON: Yes, your Honor. I have a few questions.

11 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

12 BY MR. WILSON:

13 Q. Mr. John, at any time while you were representing Guidant
14 on behalf of Skadden, did you have any reason to suspect that 15 Guidant was acting inconsistent with its obligations under the 16 J&J/Guidant merger agreement?

17 A. No.

18 THE COURT: Well, was that even an inquiry that you
19 were making?

20 THE WITNESS: I remember having a discussion with 21 Brian Duwe shortly after Boston made its offer for the company
22 and Brian pointed out Guidant's obligations under the 23 non-solicitation provision of the merger agreement, and that we 24 needed to make sure that the antitrust team was coordinating 25 with the corporate team to make sure that Guidant adhered by

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 its obligations under the J&J/Guidant merger agreement. So
2 from that perspective, I guess I made an inquiry. I don't
3 remember who initiated the conversation, but the fact that that
4 obligation existed was something I was aware of.

5 THE COURT: But did you ever view any of the 6 considerations you were making through the prism of the J&J
7 merger agreement?

8 Let me rephrase that. Did you ever stop to consider
9 although I'm comfortable with this from an antitrust
10 perspective, I should now consider whether this is permissible
11 under the J&J merger agreement?

12 THE WITNESS: No, I was relying on my corporate
13 colleagues to make those considerations.

14 THE COURT: OK. Go ahead.

15 BY MR. WILSON:

16 Q. Some of that was just covered in your answer to the Judge,
17 but how did you ensure that your actions as antitrust counsel
18 to Guidant didn't violate any obligations to Johnson & Johnson
19 under the Guidant/Johnson & Johnson merger agreement?

20 A. Well, again, going back to the conversation with Brian, I'm 21 sure we would have coordinated anyway, but it did highlight the 22 need to make sure we were in close coordination; the antitrust
23 team, that is, with the corporate team, where the antitrust
24 team would be looking out for the Guidant antitrust
25 obligations. and in coordinating with the corporate team I was

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 expecting the corporate team would be monitoring the
2 obligations that Guidant may have to J&J under the merger
3 agreement.

4 Q. Do you recall taking any actions in relation to the 5 antitrust concerns that you worked on for Guidant that were not
6 run by the corporate team?

7 A. No, I don't recall every single interaction with the 8 corporate team and when they all took place, but I don't sit
9 here today and remember I'm going to do this and I'm not going
10 to wait for the corporate team or I'm not going to talk to the 11 corporate team before I did it.

12 Q. You were asked some questions about the addendum to the 13 Boston Scientific Guidant confidentiality agreement?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. As an initial matter, what was the motivation of the 16 addendum to the Boston Scientific Guidant confidentiality
17 agreement?

18 A. My understanding the motivation was Boston was seeking
19 certain information in due diligence that was competitively
20 sensitive Guidant information in areas of Guidant's business
21 where it competed with Boston at the time or it was a potential
22 competitor of Boston at the time, and the Boston
23 Scientific/Guidant confidentiality agreement didn't have the 24 layers of protection that we in the antitrust team felt were 25 advisable for Guidant to have before it exchanged that

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 information.

2 The purpose of the addendum was to set forth the metes
3 and bounds of how that competitively sensitive information
4 would be exchanged such that the exchange was done in a way
5 consistent with Guidant's obligations under the antitrust laws.

6 THE COURT: You're talking it had nothing to at all to 7 do with Johnson & Johnson merger agreement; it was an 8 exclusively antitrust document?

9 THE WITNESS: My perspective on the document was 10 antitrust focused. The corporate team was also involved in 11 negotiating the document. I don't know if they had other
12 things in mind when they were negotiating.

13 THE COURT: Did you have an understanding, in addition
14 to antitrust considerations, there were also considerations as 15 to whether or not the sharing of due diligence was in 16 compliance with the J&J merger agreement?

17 THE WITNESS: I believed at the time that the 18 corporate team was taking those obligations into account.
19 Whether or not it was wrapped into the addendum, I don't know.

20 THE COURT: Go ahead.

21 Q. When you first took the stand, I gave you a copy of your 22 affidavit that was bound with exhibits. If you could take a
23 look, please, at tab 11 to that document which is --

24 (Pause)

25 Q. This is a document that was previously marked as Stoll 14.

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 It is hard to read down the bottom, but take a look at this
2 document and tell me if this reflects the motivation of Skadden
3 as you understood it in proposing the revisions to the addendum
4 to the Boston Scientific/Guidant confidentiality agreement that 5 were proposed?

6 A. Yes, I think it does reflect the motivation for some of the 7 changes. I think there were other changes that were made that
8 weren't discussed in here, but yes.

9 Q. Fair enough. I want the record to be clear about that.

10 I'm talking about the change in the agreement to allow Guidant
11 to disclose the existence or identity of a divestiture buyer to 12 its representatives, or as required by preexisting agreement or 13 law, that section of the agreement. And my question is, were 14 those changes that were made to the agreement by Skadden
15 motivated by antitrust concerns?

16 A. In part, yes, as reflected by this exchange here with Linda
17 and Neal. When I say in part, the antitrust team's comments in 18 making those suggestions were motivated from an antitrust
19 perspective, yes.

20 Q. Were you aware of any corporate contribution to the edits
21 that were made to that document in adding the language that
22 would allow Guidant to disclose the identity or existence of a
23 third party divestiture candidate?

24 A. I'm sorry, no.

25 Q. So the reasons, as you recall them -- if you could take a

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 look at Stoll 14, are these the reasons that you recall Neal
2 Stoll suggests that we would have to tell our advisors and
3 potential consultants; and Linda Cennedalla raises the issue of
4 needing to contact Boston Scientific if we redid these terms
5 would we tell the FTC?

6 A. Yes, that's right.

7 Q. You were shown earlier, and this is in the binder of 8 materials that Mr. Weinberger gave you, a document marked as 9 John Exhibit 20. Could you take that out, please?

10 If you could turn to the second page of that document,
11 the language I want to direct your attention to is your 12 statement that "Apple called having this access critical and 13 said if they were not given this access, they would walk from 14 the deal, but then they said that about a lot of things."

15 A. I see that, yeah.

16 Q. Can you explain what you meant in this comment?

17 A. That Abbott had suggested that if they didn't get access to 18 the information, that they would cease participation and 19 discussions and totally walk away, but my parenthetical
20 suggests that I viewed that with some skepticism; just their 21 course of dealing during this time frame was one of absolutes
22 that weren't necessarily consistent with their behavior.

23 Q. You were also shown -- these are in the binder that
24 Mr. Weinberger gave you -- John Exhibit 30. If you could turn
25 to that. And then also Stoll Exhibit 27. If you could take a

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 look at those two documents. Let's start with John Exhibit 30.

2 You see this is a letter to Cravath dated December 22, 2005?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. And you see that the language in the first paragraph reads

5 "Enclosed please find additional diligence materials for

6 Guidant Corporation. These materials have been provided to

7 Boston Scientific or their advisors in connection with their

8 diligence review"?

9 A. I see that, yeah.

10 Q. OK. And if you now will turn to Stoll 27?

11 A. OK.

12 Q. You see a reference under number 2 there, also 12/22/05,

13 Boston Scientific DES due diligence materials part two?

14 A. Yes, I see that.

15 Q. You see that? Do you know whether those materials went to 16 Boston Scientific or went to Abbott?

17 A. I don't know one way or the other whether they went for 18 sure. As with the discussion earlier in connection with the

19 December 30 letter that these documents suggest that the

20 materials were provided to Boston Scientific, and I have no

21 reason to believe they weren't.

22 Q. Do you know the origin of this letter, of the letter

23 itself, the form "Enclosed please find additional diligence

24 materials for Guidant. These materials have been provided to

25 Boston Scientific or their advisors in connection with their

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 diligence review"?

2 A. It looks familiar to a letter that I think the antitrust
3 team and the corporate team worked on at the beginning of the 4 process of potentially sharing Guidant information with either
5 Boston Scientific or Abbott that would be communicated to
6 Johnson & Johnson.

7 From my perspective of the paragraph, it is more
8 familiar to me than the initial paragraph. It puts the second
9 paragraph into -- the second and third paragraph, but
10 especially the second paragraph, relating to Guidant's
11 expectation that the provided to Johnson & Johnson would be
12 treated by Johnson & Johnson appropriately and not exchanged
13 within Johnson & Johnson with individuals at Johnson & Johnson
14 who should not view the material from an antitrust perspective.

15 THE COURT: I have a question. So the first paragraph
16 of John 30 talks about materials provided to Boston Scientific
17 or their advisors in connection with their diligence review.
18 You're saying there was a form document that referred to due
19 diligence materials being provided to Boston Scientific or to 20 Abbott?

21 THE WITNESS: No. What I was talking about is this 22 letter, I think when it was originally put together, there was 23 a draft that was worked on between the antitrust team and the 24 corporate team, and, you know, at this time I'm not sure if we 25 were aware of Abbott at this time, but I don't think we

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 provided information to them at this time. But I recall
2 working on this letter before the December 22 date at a time
3 when we were aware of Abbott and the language was -- the 4 expectation at the time the letter was initially drafted was 5 that due diligence would be provided to Boston Scientific or
6 other --

7 THE COURT: You just Abbott is what you said a minute
8 ago. Didn't you say that?

9 THE WITNESS: I said Abbott. I think when we were 10 talking earlier on direct, it turned out the same form letter
11 was used. It appears the same form letter was used to 12 communicate material had been shared with Abbott.

13 THE COURT: You said "it looks familiar to a letter
14 that I think the antitrust team and the corporate team worked
15 on at the beginning of the process of potentially sharing
16 Guidant information with either Boston Scientific or Abbott
17 that would be communicated to Johnson & Johnson."

18 Do you remember saying that?

19 THE WITNESS: I misspoke.

20 THE COURT: So was there ever a version or a draft
21 that said Abbott in a draft letter that was designed for 22 Cravath or Johnson & Johnson?

23 THE WITNESS: I don't recall.

24 THE COURT: Would you ever expect that Abbott would be 25 identified in a letter of this sort by name?

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 THE WITNESS: I don't recall.

2 THE COURT: At the time the draft of these letters
3 went out because you remember participating in the drafting of 4 the template. Is that a fair statement?

5 THE WITNESS: Correct.

6 THE COURT: So at the time you were preparing the 7 template, were you aware that Abbott was a divestiture partner,
8 a likely divestiture partner.

9 THE WITNESS: I'm sorry, your Honor. No, I don't
10 believe so.

11 THE COURT: At some point did you come to the view
12 that Abbott was an advisor to Boston Scientific?

13 THE WITNESS: No.

14 THE COURT: No. Now, did you see the December 22
15 letter before it went out?

16 THE WITNESS: I don't recall.

17 THE COURT: And the January 30 letter that was also 18 referenced. I'm not sure what number that is.

19 THE WITNESS: I'm guessing I would have seen it, but I
20 don't recall sitting here today whether I did or I didn't.

21 THE COURT: Go ahead.

22 BY MR. WILSON:

23 Q. Your Honor, I have a document that I think of will clear up
24 some of this. It has not been marked as an Exhibit previously.
25 Mark it as Defendant's Exhibit 223. It has the Bates number

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 SA00158136 for identification.

2 THE COURT: OK.

3 Q. Now, you just testified that you recalled, Mr. John, that
4 the form cover letter was prepared to your recollection before
5 Abbott's identity was known to Skadden, correct?

6 A. That's right.

7 Q. Take a minute, it is a little bit of a long document, but 8 if you start to the back, the back is an attachment to the 9 letter. We will get to that in just a second. You can go back
10 a couple of pages where you have an email. It's an email from 11 Mr. McConnell to Mr. Kury. Do you see that at the back?

12 A. Yes, I do, I see it.

13 Q. And it is concerning what I can characterize as a detailed 14 antitrust issue. I don't think we need to dwell on --

15 A. Yeah, just my brief looking at this, it looked like
16 Mr. McConnell was highlighting areas in which Boston Scientific
17 and Guidant competed with each other. And there's also areas
18 in which Boston Scientific was interested in getting due
19 diligence, and those two things together would have raised to 20 an antitrust issue.

21 Q. If you look at the email that is at the top of the page
22 marked with Bates number ending 138, you will see an email from 23 Mr. McConnell to Mr. McCoy copying Bernie Kury. Do you see
24 that?

25 A. I see it, yes.

EchQgui4

John - redirect

1 Q. It says, "This all makes sense to me. Tyler, can you
2 please coordinate with Skadden and Bean, outside counsel, to 3 provide the suggested information. Bill." Do you see that?

4 A. I do.

5 Q. Then if you following forward in the chain, that is 6 forwarded to information is sent to Alison Rhoten and then on 7 to you, Linda Cennedalla and Neal Stoll. Do you see that?

8 A. Yes, I do.

9 Q. You then write an email with the date Thursday,
10 December 15, 2005, and the time stamp reads 7:33:

11 "Two things. (1) With regard to Monday, I assume 12 you're thinking about how and when to provide to Juice what 13 gets shared with Bean?" Do you see that?

14 A. Yes, I see that.

15 Q. So you were aware at this time that Guidant was under an 16 obligation to share materials exchanged in the due diligence
17 process with Boston Scientific to Johnson & Johnson. Correct?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. Alison Rhoten then writes back to you in the email above
20 with the date Thursday, December 15, 2005 and a time stamp
21 8:38 p.m. "The Guidant folks should be well aware that if they
22 provide new info to Bean, it must also be provided to Juice.
23 Linda can collect copies of this material and Fed Ex it from 24 California to the appropriate person at Juice. We sent her a 25 suggested cover letter today. Who is the proper recipient of

EchQgui4

1 these materials at Juice? Outside counsel? Do you see that?

2 A. I do, yeah.

1 Q. And then going to your e-mail, which is on the bottom of
2 the first page, carrying over to the top of the second page of
3 this document. Your e-mail is also dated December 15th at
4 8:34 p.m. You say, "Yes, sending Juice a copy of the pages
5 being used from certain documents sufficient perhaps along with
6 each document's title page. I would suggest the cover letter
7 for the material be sent from Skadden corporate counsel to 8 Cravath. Although, Linda can certainly physically prepare the 9 package." Do you see that?

10 A. I do, yes.

11 Q. And then on the front page of this document you suggest on 12 Friday, December 16th -- well, let's just say the document says
13 Friday, December 16th, 2005, 8:40 p.m. it says --

14 THE COURT: 8:40 a.m.?

15 MR. WILSON: Yes, I'm sorry.

16 Q. "When sending it to Cravath, we should include language
17 that Cravath may not share the documents with anyone at Juice
18 directly involved in the ... and pick up language from the 19 addendum." Do you see that?

20 A. Yes, I do.

21 Q. And then you see that two associates at Skadden exchange
22 e-mails concerning the drafting of that cover letter?

23 A. Yes, I see that.

24 Q. And that's Melissa Braswell and Alison Rhoten?

25 A. Correct.

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 Q. And who were they again?

2 A. At the time, I recall them being in the corporate group in
3 Skadden Chicago office.

4 Q. Okay. And do you know how senior they were?

5 A. I believe they were associates. I don't remember how long
6 they had been out of law school.

7 Q. Okay. And take a look at the attachment. This is the last
8 two pages of this document. Do you see it? The first
9 paragraph reads, "Enclosed please find additional diligence
10 materials for Guidant Corporation." These materials had been
11 provided to Boston Scientific or their advisers in connection
12 with their diligence review?

13 A. Yes, I see that.

14 Q. Do you see that?

15 A. Mmm, hmm.

16 Q. To the best of your knowledge, is this the origin of the 17 cover letter language referencing Boston Scientific or its 18 advisers?

19 A. Yeah, I believe so.

20 Q. If you could take a --

21 THE COURT: This is before the accession agreement
22 that refers to Abbott as retained by Boston Scientific to 23 advise it, correct?

24 THE WITNESS: Before the accession agreement that the 25 parties ultimately signed. The form accession agreement, I

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 think, was around at this time because the form was around for,
2 you know, well before the whole transaction ever started. But,
3 yes, before the accession agreement that Boston and Abbott and
4 Guidant signed that had this language in it, yes, this predated
5 that.

6 THE COURT: And this is before Mr. Stoll said that one
7 of the ground rules was that any of the third-party divestiture
8 agreement was going to have to sign that accession agreement,
9 right?

10 THE WITNESS: I can't remember the date of Mr. Stoll's
11 e-mail. I think it came after this. I don't remember. Sorry.

12 BY MR. WILSON:

13 Q. If you could look in your direct affidavit binder with 14 exhibits, please, at Tab 24?

15 THE COURT: This is this one?

16 MR. WILSON: Yes. Yes, your Honor.

17 Q. You'll recall while Mr. Weinberger was asking you
18 questions, he showed you a variety of drafts of the accession
19 agreement that were sent from Laura Gunther at Abbott to you
20 during the course of one day?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. I believe those were marked as John Exhibit 10, 11 and 12?

23 A. Yes, I remember those.

24 Q. Did there come a time during that day when you suggested an 25 alternative means by which Abbott could be appropriately bound,

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 from an antitrust perspective, to the restrictions on the flow
2 of information that you felt were necessary from an antitrust
3 perspective, other than the access agreement?

4 A. I remember proposing an alternative method to protect
5 Guidant's interests in adhering to its obligations under the
6 antitrust laws, and that would have been Guidant sending a
7 letter to Abbott along the lines of, we're sharing with you
8 this information under these circumstances with an
9 understanding we have from you that you will treat it in X, Y,
10 Z way and that that letter would not require a 11 counter-signature by Abbott. It would simply set forth the 12 understanding that Guidant had and that Guidant was relying on 13 that understanding in providing the material.

14 Q. And that understanding and that alternative method was 15 presented here in what we've marked previously as Defendant's
16 Exhibit 60, correct?

17 A. Correct.

18 Q. So as an alternative to waiting for their markup of the 19 accession agreement, you could instead send them a letter along 20 the lines of the attached, and then let them have accession to 21 the data room using your own judgment of who to send it to?

22 A. From an antitrust perspective, it would have worked. In my
23 e-mail to Bernie, I said a signed agreement would provide 24 greater antitrust protection and have somewhat lower business
25 risk, but this sending a letter is an acceptable option, from

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 an antitrust perspective, and one that clients of mine have
2 used in the past.

3 Q. And looking at that letter, would you take a look at it if
4 you don't mind. It's the last two pages of DX60. This
5 document does not characterize Abbott as an adviser to Boston
6 Scientific, does it?

7 A. No, it does not.

8 THE COURT: Because there's no antitrust reason to do
9 so, right?

10 THE WITNESS: Because Abbott was interested -- a
11 potential buyer of assets, and that provided a legitimate
12 purpose for access to Guidant sensitive information. That 13 provided an antitrust reason for the exchange, which would have 14 been sufficient. No additional reason would have been 15 necessary.

16 THE COURT: All right. There's no need to force
17 Abbott under the header of adviser for antitrust purposes,
18 right?

19 THE WITNESS: That's correct.

20 THE COURT: There might be for some other purposes,
21 but you weren't focused on the J&J merger agreement, right?

22 THE WITNESS: I was relying on my corporate colleagues
23 to focus on the elements of the J&J merger agreement that 24 related to Guidant's obligations to Johnson & Johnson under 25 that agreement.

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 THE COURT: All right.

2 BY MR. WILSON:

3 Q. You were negotiating the accession agreement with Boston
4 Scientific -- All right, strike that.

5 You were a part of the antitrust team that was
6 negotiating the terms of the accession agreement with Abbott,
7 correct?

8 A. That's correct.

9 Q. Okay. And is it your understanding that there was any
10 intent to compel Abbott or Boston Scientific to accept language
11 that it was being retained as an adviser for purposes of 12 evading any Guidant responsibilities under the Johnson &
13 Johnson/Guidant merger agreement?

14 A. I don't have any recollection of anything like that.

15 Q. Okay. And do you think that you would, if you had been 16 aware of it at that time?

17 A. I would think so.

18 THE COURT: Do you have any idea what kind of 19 conversations Mr. Stoll was having with Mr. Mulaney or
20 Mr. Duwe?

21 THE WITNESS: Obviously, I can't speak to the 22 conversations that took place that I wasn't aware of. Neal and 23 I worked pretty closely together, however, and if there was 24 something that Neal felt it was important for me to be aware
25 of, he would generally have made me aware.

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 I can't say that he talked to me about everything, but
2 he was pretty good about keeping me informed about
3 conversations that would have related to the various things
4 that were happening during this time period.

5 BY MR. WILSON:

6 Q. And did you have any understanding that Neal Stoll was in
7 communications with the corporate group regarding some effort
8 to avoid complying with responsibilities to Johnson & Johnson
9 under the Johnson & Johnson/Guidant merger agreement?

10 A. No, I have no awareness of that.

11 Q. You were asked questions about the voluntary provision of 12 documents to the FTC?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. Okay. And did you make the corporate group aware of your 15 provision of those documents to the FTC before you provided
16 them?

17 A. I believe I made the corporate group aware of the requests
18 and the advice to the client to respond to the requests. I
19 don't know if I reached out to them again and said, oh, by the 20 way, we're actually sending these materials. I certainly would 21 have told them we received the request from the FTC, and we 22 were advising the client to respond, and we expected that we 23 would respond.

24 Q. From your perspective, not only did you keep the corporate
25 group in the loop on the provision of documents to the FTC, but

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 you communicated or had communicated to Johnson & Johnson that
2 these documents were going to the FTC, right?

3 A. I believe so.

4 MR. WILSON: Okay. I've got a couple of documents.
5 I'll do them quickly, if I can, your Honor. I don't want to
6 take up too much time with this. I'll mark them as 224,
7 Defendant's Exhibit 224.

8 THE COURT: They're not in the binder right?

9 MR. WILSON: Pardon?

10 THE COURT: These are loose; they're not in the 11 binder?

12 MR. WILSON: That's right. They're loose. I'll bring 13 them up in just a moment, sir.

14 THE COURT: 224?

15 MR. WILSON: 224 and 225.

16 BY MR. WILSON:

17 Q. For identification purposes, I've marked as DX224 a
18 document bearing the Bates No. number SA00087481, and as 19 Defense Exhibit 225, document bearing Bates No. SA00097045.

20 If you can just take a moment to look at those 21 documents for me, Mr. John.

22 A. Okay.

23 Q. Okay? And I don't know if you need your recollection
24 refreshed or not, but in any case, do you recall now that you
25 were fully agreeable to the idea of Johnson & Johnson being

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 informed that documents were being shared with the FTC as a
2 part of Guidant's evaluation of the Boston Scientific/Abbott
3 proposal for the company at this time?

4 A. Yeah, that's correct.

5 Q. One other question regarding joint defense agreements, and
6 I'll sit down. You said that you believed it is correct that
7 you had -- that Guidant had entered into an oral joint defense
8 agreement with Boston Scientific at the beginning of its
9 negotiations with Boston Scientific concerning antitrust
10 issues?

11 A. Yes. Somewhere shortly after Boston made the offer, I
12 recall generally an initial conversation we had with Boston
13 Scientific's antitrust counsel that the topic came up, and I
14 don't remember the specifics, but I have a vague recollection
15 that there was an oral joint defense agreement at that point.

16 Q. And you also had a joint defense agreement with Johnson &
17 Johnson as part of Johnson & Johnson's proposal to merge with 18 Guidant, correct?

19 A. Yeah. Again, I don't recall the specifics, but I recall
20 having the process being similar and having an oral agreement
21 as part of our initial phone call. I think it was Weil
22 Gotshal, Johnson & Johnson's antitrust advisers, that 23 ultimately became a written joint defense agreement between 24 Johnson & Johnson and Guidant.

25 Q. From an antitrust perspective, what is the purpose of

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 entering into a joint defense agreement?

2 A. Well, there are a couple of purposes. The ones that are
3 most prominent in my mind are, one, in the joint defense
4 agreement you can categorize information in different levels of 5 sensitivity and detail exactly who would have access to that
6 information.

7 Most importantly is information exchanged on an 8 outside-counsel-only basis such that the lawyers for the 9 parties receiving the information would have an obligation not 10 to share that information with their client, which 11 competitively sensitive information can be the primary purpose
12 of that, and the other is to make clear that, to the extent
13 that Boston -- that the parties, whether it's J&J and Guidant,
14 Boston and Guidant, are discussing potential arguments,
15 strategies of engaging with the FTC or other regulators in 16 connection with a potential transaction and legal theories,
17 that each of those two -- that each party to the agreement
18 might have -- it might bring to bear in connection with that 19 engagement that exchanging those legal theories doesn't -- to 20 the extent they were privileged beforehand, doesn't destroy the 21 privilege by virtue of the exchange.

22 Q. And the intent to maintain that privilege, to not have the 23 privilege destroyed by sharing with counsel to another party,
24 what is the purpose of preserving that privilege?

25 A. In my experience the purpose is so that the two parties can

ECHPGUI5

John - redirect

1 discuss with each other freely the potential arguments and any
2 antitrust risks associated with the transaction without fear
3 that those -- that that thinking becomes non-privileged and,
4 thus, disclosable to the agencies.

5 It's a way of, before you engage with, for example,
6 the FTC, you want each party to talk to each other and get your
7 thinking down as to how are we going to discuss this particular
8 business area. What arguments are we going to bring to bear.
9 And you often have ideas during that process you choose not to 10 pursue, and you want not to disclose to the FTC, you know, your 11 inner workings before you finalize your approach on how you're 12 going to discuss a particular issue with them.

13 MR. WILSON: Thank you. I have no more questions for 14 you at this time.

15 MR. WEINBERGER: I have a few, your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right.

17 RECROSS EXAMINATION

18 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

19 Q. Isn't it correct that before Abbott sent you back the 20 signed accession agreement, you had a conversation about it
21 with Laurie Gunther?

22 A. I recall speaking with Laurie Gunther a few times about the 23 accession agreement.

24 Q. Before she sent it back to you signed, isn't that right?

25 A. There were conversations that I had with Laurie Gunther

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 about the accession agreement before it was signed, yes.

2 Q. And you don't remember any of them in which she objected to
3 the language about being obtained as retained as a
4 representative?

5 A. I remember the discussions with Laurie and other members at 6 Abbott being relatively tense and that Abbott didn't want to 7 have to sign any additional layers of confidentiality
8 protection. They were resisting the whole notion of signing on 9 to additional confidentiality protection and the notion that 10 the due diligence would be delayed while that was being put 11 into place.

12 Q. That wasn't my question. My question was, you don't recall
13 any conversation in which she objected to the language that 14 said Abbott has been retained in any of the phone calls that 15 you had with her prior to Abbott sending you a signed accession
16 agreement?

17 A. Other than the general context of her objecting to the 18 whole process, no.

19 Q. You talked about the letters that went along with the 20 diligence that was -- the letters that went to Cravath and J&J,
21 you said they were the result of a form?

22 A. Yes, I think that's right.

23 Q. And the form said Boston Scientific and its advisers?

24 A. Correct.

25 Q. Could you look at John Exhibit 29 in the binder I gave you

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 this morning. Is that one of the forms, sir?

2 A. I don't remember being involved in putting this letter
3 together.

4 Q. Is that one of the forms that you testified about?

5 THE COURT: Does it track the form that you were 6 testifying about?

7 THE WITNESS: It doesn't appear to match the form that 8 I remember using.

9 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

10 Q. In fact, this one says that the materials were provided to 11 Boston Scientific, not to Boston Scientific and/or its 12 advisers; is that correct?

13 A. Correct.

14 Q. And form or no form, you had already agreed that you
15 couldn't tell Johnson & Johnson that materials had been 16 provided to Abbott; isn't that correct? You already agreed to 17 that in the addendum?

18 A. I don't know if we agreed to that, no.

19 Q. The addendum said you can't disclose the identity of any 20 potential third-party divestiture candidates without the 21 express consent of Boston Scientific and such candidate; isn't
22 that right?

23 A. That sounds right.

24 Q. So if you had written a letter to Johnson & Johnson
25 truthfully telling them that you had given DES materials to

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 Abbott, you would have violated that agreement, wouldn't you?

2 A. I suppose if we had used Abbott by name and we hadn't
3 received Boston Scientific's permission, then yes.

4 Q. I'd like to ask you about the two -- Did you mark these 5 numbers?

6 MR. WILSON: Yes, the shorter one is DX224, and the 7 longer with one is DX225.

8 MR. WEINBERGER: All right. DX225, did you say?

9 MR. WILSON: 224 and 225.

10 BY MR. WEINBERGER:

11 Q. It's 225 --

12 A. The longer one?

13 Q. -- that I'd like to ask you about. In 225 you said,
14 "Please let J&J know that we plan to provide these materials to 15 the FTC most likely tomorrow in response to a specific request
16 from the FTC." Do you know if Alison Rhoten told J&J that the 17 provision of those materials was entirely voluntary?

18 A. I don't know.

19 Q. You said that everything you did you coordinated with the 20 corporate folks at Skadden, pretty much everything you did,
21 right?

22 A. I certainly would, that's my recollection, and I believe
23 that would have been our intention.

24 Q. So when you signed the addendum, that was something you
25 coordinated with them; is that right?

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 A. I don't remember if I signed the addendum. I don't
2 remember. I thought it was the client who signed it.

3 Q. Okay. When you drafted the addendum and made the changes
4 and put the provisions in there that ultimately wound up in
5 there, that was something that was coordinated with the Skadden
6 corporate group, right?

7 A. That's my recollection, yes.

8 Q. And when you gave the co-promote agreement, despite the 9 confidentiality agreement in the co-promote agreement, that was 10 coordinated with the corporate team?

11 A. I don't remember if we actually -- I mean, I know we talked 12 about some documents where it looked like it was provided to 13 them. I, sitting here today, can't tell you for sure that it
14 was provided to them, but certainly providing any due diligence
15 to either Abbott or Boston Scientific or Johnson & Johnson for 16 that matter, going back, would have been coordinated with the 17 corporate team.

18 Q. When you sent letters to Johnson & Johnson saying that 19 information that had actually been given to Abbott had been 20 sent to Boston Scientific and its advisers, was that
21 coordinated with the Skadden corporate team?

22 A. I'm sorry, could you ask that question again.

23 Q. When you sent letters or when your group sent letters to 24 Johnson & Johnson or Cravath telling them that information had 25 actually been given to Abbott, was given to Boston Scientific

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 and its advisers, was that coordinated with Skadden's corporate
2 team?

3 A. I don't know if the draft letter that was used there, which 4 was the form that had been used in the past was sent to the 5 corporate team before it was sent. I'm sure that the fact that
6 the materials that had been shared with Abbott were being sent
7 to Johnson & Johnson was discussed with the corporate team. I
8 physically don't, sitting here today, remember whether the day
9 before or the day of the letter being sent to Johnson &
10 Johnson, whether that letter was provided to the corporate
11 team.

12 Q. When you signed the accession agreement that said Abbott
13 had been retained to represent Boston Scientific in connection
14 with the proposed transaction, was that coordinated with the 15 corporate team?

16 A. Again, I didn't sign the accession agreement. I don't 17 think the client did, but I'm sure that we would have 18 coordinated with the corporate team before advising the client
19 that it was appropriate to enter into the accession agreement
20 from an antitrust perspective.

21 MR. WEINBERGER: I have no further questions.

22 MR. WILSON: I have no further questions for the 23 witness, your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Okay. I have a couple. You said you're 25 generally familiar with the J&J merger agreement, right?

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 THE WITNESS: Correct.

2 THE COURT: Okay. So I'm going to refer you, just so
3 you have it in front of you, to Kury 9, section 4.02. Do you
4 see that there? So you understood that there was a provision
5 in there that restricted what could be shared in the event of a
6 potentially superior takeover proposal. Did you understand
7 that?

8 THE WITNESS: I understood generally there was a
9 restriction that limited Guidant's ability to provide 10 information to third parties for the purposes of soliciting a
11 takeover proposal.

12 THE COURT: Okay. And so you understood that the 13 limits as to who could receive that kind of stuff was defined
14 in section 4.02(A); did you understand that?

15 THE WITNESS: Generally. I don't remember thinking
16 about it specifically at the time.

17 THE COURT: All right. And so if you take a look at 18 4.02(A) in front of you there, it's got a list of folks who
19 were covered under the term representatives, with a capital R;
20 do you see that?

21 THE WITNESS: I do, yup.

22 THE COURT: And among the litany of individuals or 23 entities that are covered by representative, are financial 24 advisers and accountants or other advisers; do you see that?

25 THE WITNESS: I do, yes.

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 THE COURT: So did you have an understanding at the
2 time you were working on the accession agreement with Abbott
3 and Boston Scientific, that the definition or that the term
4 adviser carried some pretty significant weight in connection
5 with 4.02 of the Johnson & Johnson merger agreement?

6 THE WITNESS: I don't remember thinking about that
7 term in the accession agreement as it related to 4.02 at the 8 time.

9 THE COURT: Okay. So if you look at what's been 10 marked in your binder, I can give it to you, as Knopf 35. I'll 11 just hand it to you. Okay? What I have highlighted there is 12 the accession agreement, right?

13 THE WITNESS: Yes.

14 THE COURT: Here's the rest of it, if you want to see 15 the signed version.

16 THE WITNESS: Mmm, hmm.

17 THE COURT: And the first line says -- maybe I need it
18 back.

19 THE WITNESS: It's okay.

20 THE COURT: It says, the first line of the second
21 paragraph says, "Abbott Laboratories, Abbott, has been retained
22 by Boston Scientific to advise it in connection with a
23 potential transaction." We've been over this a bunch of times,
24 but you see that, right?

25 THE WITNESS: I see it, yes.

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 THE WITNESS: I have it here.

3 THE COURT: And so if that is taken as true, then
4 Abbott would be an adviser under 4.02(A) of the J&J merger
5 agreement, correct?

6 THE WITNESS: I don't really remember thinking about
7 it at the time; so I'm not sure I'm the best person to ask that 8 one.

9 THE COURT: Well, as you sit here now, under oath,
10 sipping the water that I've poured for you, do you think Abbott
11 was retained by Boston Scientific to advise it in connection
12 with the potential transaction?

13 THE WITNESS: I don't think that's the best
14 description of their relationship.

15 THE COURT: I didn't ask whether it was the best
16 description. I asked whether you think it is a truthful
17 statement.

18 THE WITNESS: I think it's unlikely. I don't know
19 that it's not truthful, but I do think it's unlikely.

20 THE COURT: Well, based on what you understand of the 21 relationship between the parties, recognizing there may be some 22 things you don't understand, but based on what you do
23 understand, do you think that's an accurate statement?

24 THE WITNESS: I think it's unlikely to be accurate.

25 THE COURT: All right. Anything else, counsel?

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 MR. WEINBERGER: No, your Honor.

2 MR. WILSON: No, your Honor.

3 THE COURT: No? Okay. Thanks. You can leave
4 everything here. You can take the water, if you like. Thanks
5 very much.

6 (Witness excused)

7 THE COURT: Okay. Our next witness is?

8 MR. OHLEMEYER: Professor Cornell.

9 MR. COFFEY: Your Honor, I just want to, in case your 10 Honor is interested, we do have the sovereignty to reopen our 11 case with regard to Mr. Stoll. I don't know --

12 THE COURT: Let's try to get the live witness on and 13 off. Do we think we'll finish this witness today?

14 MR. OHLEMEYER: Yes, absolutely.

15 THE COURT: Mr. Ohlemeyer is shaking his head. We'll 16 take an afternoon break around 3:30, 3:45 or so. So when we 17 get to that time, Mr. Ohlemeyer, then you'll let me know when 18 you're at a breaking point. Okay?

19 MR. COFFEY: It's probably going to be --

20 THE COURT: I'm sorry, right. It's your witness.
21 You're just introducing the affidavit. Okay. So, Mr. Coffey,
22 you'll let me know. And then maybe let's clear out everything
23 that is not pertaining to the next witness that's up at the 24 witness box.

25 MR. WILSON: Sure. I'll get it.

ECHPGUI5

John - recross

1 THE COURT: Okay. Are we ready?

2 MR. OHLEMEYER: I believe the witness is walking
3 through the door as we speak.

4 THE COURT: Maybe you want a drumroll.

5 BRADFORD CORNELL,

6 called as a witness by the Defendant,
7 having been duly sworn, testified as follows:

8 THE COURT: Once you get comfortable, if you could
9 just then state your name and spell your name for the record.

10 THE WITNESS: It's Bradford Cornell, B-r-a-d-f-o-r-d,
11 C-o-r-n-e-l-l.

12 THE COURT: Okay. And do you prefer Professor,
13 Doctor, Mr.?

14 THE WITNESS: I don't like Doctor, because I have 15 hypochondria. Professor or Mr. is fine.

16 THE COURT: Okay. Anybody have a preference?
17 Professor, we'll call you Professor. I think you've earned
18 that.

19 THE WITNESS: Good. Thank you.

20 THE COURT: So let's proceed. Go ahead.

21 DIRECT EXAMINATION

22 BY MR. OHLEMEYER:

23 Q. Professor Cornell, let me hand you what we've marked for 24 identification as Defendant's 164.

25 THE COURT: Okay, thanks.

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - direct

1 Q. Let me ask you if you recognize that?

2 A. I do. This looks like a copy of my trial affidavit.

3 Q. And you prepared and signed that earlier this year?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Have you had a chance to review it since you've signed it?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. Are there any changes that need to be made to make it
8 accurate?

9 A. No, no changes.

10 MR. OHLEMEYER: I move to admit Defendant's 164, your
11 Honor.

12 THE COURT: Okay. 164 is received.

13 (Defendant's Exhibit 164 received in evidence).

14 THE COURT: With that, we'll --

15 MR. OHLEMEYER: Pass the witness.

16 THE COURT: Exactly. Okay.

17 CROSS-EXAMINATION

18 BY MR. COFFEY:

19 Q. Good afternoon, Professor Cornell. My name is Shawn
20 Coffey. I'm an attorney at Kramer Levin, which represents
21 Johnson & Johnson in this litigation. You and I have not met
22 before; is that right?

23 A. That's right.

24 Q. You were retained by Guidant, on behalf of Guidant to 25 respond to the report of Professor Gregg Jarrell; is that

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 right?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. So I want to begin with the first opinion that you give --
4 if we can call that up, please, Marco -- paragraph 18 of your
5 affidavit, which is that Professor Jarrell wrongly assumes
6 that, but for Guidant's alleged breach, J&J would have
7 successfully acquired Guidant at $63.08 per share. Do you see
8 that?

9 A. I do.

10 Q. And I may just reduce that to $63 a share for the balance
11 of the examination, but when I do that, you'll understand I'm 12 referring to $63.08?

13 A. I'd do the same thing myself.

14 Q. We're already reaching common ground. That's great.

15 Now, that opinion is based, in part, on what you
16 referred to as the fact that on December 5, 2005, Boston
17 Scientific made an unsolicited bid to Guidant at $72 a share;
18 is that right?

19 A. It is. That's correct.

20 Q. And you don't know if -- Withdrawn.

21 You cite to a December 5, 2005, letter from Boston
22 Scientific's chairman, Pete Nicholas, to Guidant's board of 23 directors, which can be found behind Tab 1 of a binder I'm 24 about to hand you. I think everyone but you recognizes that as 25 a shorter binder than what we've had previously.

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 THE COURT: Oh, yes. You're lucky.

2 Q. So Tab 1, Best Exhibit 12, and if we can flip to the 3 last -- to Page 4 internally, Bates No. 4823. I just want to
4 draw your attention to one of the things that Mr. Nicholas said
5 in this letter. And do you see there that he said that the 6 letter of December 5 was not intended to create or constitute
7 any legally binding obligation, liability or commitment by us
8 regarding the proposed transaction? Do you see that?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. So this was a non-binding indication of interest; isn't
11 that right?

12 A. That's my understanding, yes.

13 Q. It was not an offer; is that right?

14 A. Well, you're really asking me a legal question. To an 15 economist, it's an offer, but it's, I guess, not a legally
16 binding offer, if that's what you mean.

17 Q. Well, let's explore that. In the world of economics, is an 18 offer something that needs to be acceptable? An offer is made
19 and, therefore, is available for the offeree to accept?

20 A. Well, you can define it that way, but like I said, the 21 concept is more one of law than economics.

22 THE COURT: You're not laboring under the 23 misimpression that this was a legally binding offer, a formal
24 offer that was the subject of a merger agreement, right?

25 THE WITNESS: No, I'm not.

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 THE COURT: You understand what it was?

2 THE WITNESS: Yes.

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 BY MR. COFFEY:

5 Q. Right. And just to confirm that, your understanding was 6 that the December 5 letter was not intended to give rise to any 7 legally binding obligation on the part of Boston Scientific,
8 right?

9 A. That was my understanding.

10 Q. Right. And the letter -- if we go further up on that page,
11 the letter also says that Boston's tentative proposal of 12 December 5, 2005, is subject to completion of confirmatory due
13 diligence; do you see that?

14 A. I do.

15 Q. So as a result that, Boston did not have to make a
16 definitive offer if, after doing its due diligence, it
17 determined that it did not want to proceed, correct?

18 A. That's the way I understand it.

19 Q. Or if, for some other reason, Boston decided it wouldn't 20 proceed, it was entitled to walk away without ever making a
21 definitive offer, correct?

22 A. I think it legally had that option, yes.

23 Q. For example, if the Boston Scientific board decided that it
24 did not want to proceed with a firm offer because some 25 condition that it felt was important had not been met, it could

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 decide not to authorize a firm offer, correct?

2 A. Again, I'm not an attorney, but that is my understanding.

3 THE COURT: Well, any reason, or no reason, really,
4 right?

5 THE WITNESS: Yeah, they basically said we think it's
6 worth $72, that's what we're offering now, but it's not a firm
7 offer that you can take. It's really our initial expression of 8 interest. We have to do confirmatory due diligence.

9 BY MR. COFFEY:

10 Q. Now, the Boston Scientific December 5 letter wasn't a bid,
11 was it?

12 A. Well, again, this depends on how you define a bid. The 13 Thompson database picks it up and calls it a bid, but that's 14 purely discretionary in what a bid is defined to be.

15 Q. It wasn't a bid that could be accepted by Guidant at that 16 time, given the two points of the letter I've already pointed 17 out, right?

18 A. Correct.

19 Q. Now, in your trial affidavit you do not consider what would 20 have happened if, after making its non-binding proposal on 21 December 5, Boston Scientific decided that it would not make a
22 definitive offer and Guidant's board of directors recommended
23 shareholder approval of Johnson & Johnson's offer; is that
24 right?

25 A. I don't offer a specific scenario in that respect, no,

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 that's correct.

2 Q. And you're not offering the opinion that if Boston
3 Scientific's December 5 proposal did not lead to a definitive
4 offer, Guidant shareholders would have rejected J&J's offer,
5 are you?

6 A. I have not, to this point, offered that opinion.

7 THE COURT: Not to this point, meaning not to this
8 point in time or not to this point in your declaration?

9 THE WITNESS: No, I haven't offered that opinion.
10 Maybe that's clearer.

11 BY MR. COFFEY:

12 Q. Well, let me be clear. If any of my questions suggest I'm 13 focusing on anything other than what you put in your trial
14 affidavit or in the report you submitted previously in this 15 litigation, please ask me to clarify because that's what I'm 16 focused on, is what you put in writing in this litigation.

17 A. Neither of those are in writing in this litigation.

18 THE COURT: But just so I understand, so December 5th,
19 an offer, non-binding to be sure, of $72 per share is made.
20 For some reason, as part of this hypothetical, a formal offer
21 is never made. Do you have a view as to whether or not the 22 $63-a-share offer that was part of the Johnson & Johnson merger
23 agreement would have been approved by shareholders?

24 THE WITNESS: Well, I think -- that's why I was 25 dancing around the answer, your Honor, because what do you mean

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 by "never"? Because the shareholders at the time that Boston
2 Scientific was so-called walking away, they wouldn't know they
3 were never going to make an offer. They may say they haven't
4 made one today, but who's to say they wouldn't come back in a
5 week or two?

6 So how would the shareholders credibly know that
7 Boston Scientific was going away forever, particularly if they
8 valued the assets of Guidant at $72? It makes no sense for 9 them to go away forever. They reached an impediment. They
10 would have to get around it, but they wouldn't have to go away
11 forever. I wouldn't believe that if I were a shareholder that 12 they were gone forever.

13 THE COURT: All right. Go ahead.

14 BY MR. COFFEY:

15 Q. Let me play off of that. So Boston Scientific under the 16 scenario, doesn't come back for, you said, ever, but let me
17 just say six months. And what the market knows is as of 18 December 5, there is a condition that -- well, what it knows is 19 that Boston has indicated it's interested. It put a number out
20 there. It's got investment advisers -- pardon me, financial 21 advisers. It's got firm commitments from some banks, but it
22 says our proposal is subject to completion of confirmatory
23 diligence.

24 Now, if an offer isn't coming -- forthcoming in the 25 next weeks or months, isn't it reasonable for the market to

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 take away that Boston isn't going forward because it came up
2 with some issues that it didn't like in the course of its
3 confirmatory due diligence? Isn't that a reasonable
4 assumption?

5 A. I think the reasonable assumption is that the answer is not
6 binary. With every day that passes, it would become less
7 likely that they were going to come forward with a binding
8 offer. So on December 6th, the fact that they didn't come up
9 with one the next day wouldn't effect me very much if I were a
10 shareholder.

11 THE COURT: How about if on January 6th they came
12 forward with a statement that said we've done the due diligence
13 and we've decided not to go forward with this bid, thanks very 14 much?

15 THE WITNESS: That's pretty strong. I mean, it
16 doesn't prove forever, but that's pretty close to it.

17 THE COURT: In the hypothetical, are you in a position
18 to form an opinion as to whether or not the Johnson $63 a share
19 would have gone forward?

20 THE WITNESS: Okay. Let's take that hypothetical.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 THE WITNESS: Under that hypothetical, I still think
23 there's a significant chance that the offer would not have gone
24 forward because you've now had a sophisticated party out there
25 bidding 72. Many shareholders have been upset with the drop

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 from 76 to 63, and given this added piece of the puzzle, I
2 think there's certainly a possibility that many would have held
3 out for a higher price.

4 THE COURT: All right. So I may have opened the door
5 to something you didn't want me to open, but that's the beauty
6 of being a fact finder.

7 MR. COFFEY: You saw me trying to cabin this. I
8 should have been a little bit more explicit, but that's all
9 right.

10 THE COURT: It's hard to object to a judge's questions
11 in a bench trial. I'm not sure that you can, but it's hard to 12 do that. But, look, I ask questions that I think are 13 interesting and might be relevant to my role, my unique role in 14 a bench trial. So I'm sorry if I made your lives more
15 difficult.

16 MR. COFFEY: In my experience, it's even more
17 difficult to object to a judge during a jury trial.

18 THE COURT: That's true, too. But I think the 19 difference is I don't ask questions during a jury trial other
20 than "could you restate" or I'm "not sure if I understood,
21 could you rephrase." I don't do any more than that.

22 MR. COFFEY: So you're unleashing your inner examiner
23 here?

24 THE COURT: Yes.

25 MR. COFFEY: Very good, Judge.

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 BY MR. COFFEY:

2 Q. Well, your opinion assumes that Boston Scientific was going
3 to remain in pursuit of Guidant no matter what; is that fair?

4 A. No matter what? No, I don't think, with probability. My
5 opinion assumes that you couldn't rule out that Boston
6 Scientific was going to be a significant player.

7 Q. And that's based on the documents and deposition testimony
8 that you cite in your expert report, that body of evidence?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. Your opinion also assumes that Boston Scientific would have 11 found a way to make a definitive offer without there being a
12 breach of the merger agreement, right?

13 A. I thought they would, yes.

14 Q. Now, your report makes no reference to any -- your report
15 does not -- withdrawn. Neither your report nor your affidavit
16 identify any party, other than Boston Scientific, that would 17 have bid for Guidant at a price above $63 per share or at any 18 price; isn't that right?

19 A. I have not identified any such party.

20 Q. Now, in formulating the opinion that's in your expert
21 report and your affidavit, you did not read the deposition
22 testimony of any Boston Scientific employees or former 23 employees, right?

24 A. I don't recall specifically; so I can't say for sure under 25 oath. I don't recall having read them, but I can't say for

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 certain at this point that I didn't.

2 Q. Well, at your deposition you said you didn't. Is there
3 some basis to think you might have done it since your 4 deposition?

5 A. No.

6 Q. So you just don't recall?

7 A. No, I don't think I've done it since my deposition.

8 Q. So that would mean that you did not read any of the 9 deposition testimony of Larry Best, who was Boston Scientific's
10 former chief financial officer, right?

11 A. I think it would mean that, yes.

12 Q. Now, have you been told anything about -- were you told
13 anything about his testimony as you were drafting your expert
14 report?

15 A. Not that I recall, no.

16 Q. Have you been told anything about his -- were you told 17 anything about his testimony prior to the time you filed your 18 trial affidavit?

19 A. Not that I recall, no.

20 Q. Are you aware, as you sit here today, that as has been
21 played during this trial, that Mr. Best has given testimony
22 that touches on the issue of whether Boston Scientific would 23 pursue Guidant no matter what?

24 A. No, I'm not.

25 Q. All right. So I'm going to play for your benefit a very

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 brief video clip of that because I think you just established
2 that your opinion is based on a body of evidence, and part of
3 what I want to do today, Professor, is expand the body of 4 evidence on which you're able to opine.

5 So, Marco, why don't we play this brief video clip of 6 Lawrence Best.

7 (Video being played)

8 When you rendered your opinion in this case,
9 Professor, were you not aware that Mr. Best had testified that 10 Boston Scientific's board would not authorize the company to 11 make a firm offer for Guidant without a sign-on-the-dotted-line
12 divestiture partner, were you?

13 A. I was not aware of that.

14 Q. That was not provided to you or shared with you?

15 A. I had not seen it.

16 Q. Now, were you provided any -- you're aware that the 17 divestiture party that Boston Scientific lined up was Abbott?
18 You're aware of that?

19 A. I'm aware of that.

20 Q. At the time you formed your opinions, were you aware or 21 made aware of any evidence suggesting that Abbott would walk
22 away from this potential divestiture unless it was given access
23 to confidential Guidant information?

24 A. I didn't have sufficient information to determine that one
25 way or the other.

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 Q. So let's call up John Exhibit 20, please.

2 THE COURT: In the binder or no?

3 MR. COFFEY: It's in the binders, yes, sir. No, it's 4 not.

5 THE COURT: I don't think it is.

6 MR. COFFEY: Okay.

7 THE COURT: So you'll flash it on the screen or you'll 8 hand this to us?

9 MR. COFFEY: I'll do that.

10 BY MR. COFFEY:

11 Q. So I just want to orient you. I will ask if you've seen
12 this before. I suspect you have not, but this is an e-mail in 13 December of 2001 from a Skadden antitrust lawyer to the general
14 counsel of Guidant, and I'd like to flip to a particular part
15 of the e-mail. You're familiar with the concept that 16 investment bankers and others involved with a corporate merger
17 deal, they'll come up with code names, right?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And do you know that Apple is the code name for Abbott?

20 A. That seems like a very poor choice to me, but....

21 Q. It's not exactly the ultra secret --

22 A. I wondered what Apple was doing involved in this case, but 23 okay now.

24 THE COURT: You think it's a poor choice because 25 there's a very prominent company called Apple, is that what

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 you're saying?

2 THE WITNESS: That's what I'm saying.

3 BY MR. COFFEY:

4 Q. But they succeeded in fooling you, so maybe the choice
5 wasn't so bad. All right. I'll represent to you that Apple is 6 Abbott, and what I want to look at in particular are a couple
7 of things that are being kicked around between Skadden and
8 Guidant.

9 And this is reporting to the general counsel of 10 Guidant that Apple -- excuse me, Abbott wants to see some 11 intellectual property licensing agreements, and we're okay with 12 this from an antitrust perspective, as long as certain people
13 who might be involved in this type of business on the other
14 side don't get it. And, of course, there are issues related to 15 certain confidentiality provisions in those documents.

16 But the part I want to direct your attention to is 17 Abbott called getting this access critical and said if they 18 were not given this access, they would walk from the deal and 19 then, "but then they've said that about a lot of things,"
20 right.

21 So in formulating your opinions, were you ever -- was
22 it ever shared with you that the divestiture party that Boston
23 Scientific was lining up said it would walk away from the deal
24 if it wasn't given certain Guidant information? Was that 25 shared with you?

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 A. That specific fact was not shared with me. It totally
2 doesn't surprise me because I've seen things like that said
3 many times, but I wasn't aware of this particular quote.

4 Q. Well, do you have any reason to -- do you have any basis to 5 disbelieve the threat that's being reported from Skadden to
6 Guidant that Abbott is threatening to walk away if they don't
7 get certain confidential information? Do you have any reason
8 to believe that's not an accurate threat?

9 A. I don't have any specific information in this case. It
10 would just be my general scepticism of those statements.

11 Q. Are you aware of testimony by two lawyers associated with 12 Boston Scientific in this deal, one in-house and one outside
13 counsel, that Abbott did not want Guidant to disclose to 14 Johnson & Johnson that Abbott was a potential purchaser of the 15 assets to be divested?

16 A. I don't specifically recall that.

17 Q. Well, let me ask you a preliminary question. Are you
18 aware, from your review of the record or any other source, that
19 Abbott had, earlier in 2005, entered into a licensing agreement
20 with J&J to take effect if and when Johnson & Johnson closed
21 the acquisition of Guidant? Are you aware of that fact?

22 A. Not that I recall, no.

23 Q. Are you aware from your review of the record or any other
24 source, that Abbott considered that licensing agreement to be 25 of value, something like a bird in hand?

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 A. I don't know.

2 Q. All right. I'd like to again expand the body of evidence
3 available for you to render your opinions by playing you very
4 brief clips of depositions of these two individuals. So let's
5 play Larry Knopf. This is an in-house lawyer at Boston
6 Scientific.

7 (Video being played)

8 All right. And now a brief clip from the deposition
9 of Clare O'Brien, who was a lawyer at Simpson Thacher -- pardon
10 me, she's at Shearman and Sterling, and as a lawyer
11 representing Boston Scientific in the deal.

12 (Video being played)

13 So you had not been made privy to the two clips or 14 even the written -- corresponding written transcript of these
15 clips prior to rendering your opinion?

16 A. That's right. I don't recall anything like either of those 17 two clips.

18 Q. All right. And just to expand that, at the time you
19 rendered your opinions, you were not aware of evidence that 20 Abbott was reluctant to go forward if its participation might 21 be revealed to Johnson & Johnson?

22 A. I don't specifically recall ever considering that.

23 Q. And you were not made aware of evidence that Abbott
24 insisted on getting access to confidential Guidant information,
25 or it would not participate as a divestiture partner?

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 A. I was aware that they wanted certain confidential
2 information. I was not aware of their threat to walk away.

3 Q. And you were not aware that the Boston -- according to the 4 CFO of Boston Scientific, they would not make a firm offer for
5 Guidant unless they had a sign-on-the-dotted-line divestiture
6 partner lined up first? You weren't aware of that either,
7 right?

8 A. Correct, I was not.

9 Q. I want to turn now to some of the analysis in your trial
10 affidavit about empirical evidence about whether Johnson &
11 Johnson would have been able to close the deal at $63. So why
12 don't we pull up -- you can look in your binder, but I'll be 13 putting this up on the screen, paragraphs 20 and 21.

14 At paragraph 20 you cite to empirical research by 15 Betton and Eckbo, which you say found that when a second bidder
16 emerges in a takeover contest, the original bidder acquires the 17 target only 17 percent of the time, and that, on average, the 18 winning bid in a multiple-bid contest was 18 percent higher
19 than the original bid. Do you see that?

20 A. I see the first part, but where's the 18 percent? I don't 21 see the number 18.

22 Q. It's probably in Paragraph 21. I don't know if we have
23 that.

24 THE COURT: Well, you have it in front of you.

25 Q. You have it there?

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 A. I can look at it here.

2 Q. Feel free to check.

3 A. Yes, I see both of those now.

4 Q. Right. But the -- but Betton and Eckbo presume in their
5 studies, do they not, that there actually is a second bidder,
6 right?

7 A. Yes, all of these -- the results I'm citing there are 8 conditional on a second bid.

9 Q. Right. A second bidder, who makes a definitive offer that 10 can be accepted by the offeree, right?

11 A. No, I think it's just a second bid as the database defines
12 it.

13 THE COURT: And how did the database define it?

14 THE WITNESS: Well, the database is a little vague
15 that way, but, for example, to be specific, Boston Scientific's
16 December 1st -- December 5th bid is a bid per the Thompson
17 database, and they say they include anything reported in the 18 press as a bid or an offer or an indication of interest to buy.

19 THE COURT: But they don't break it down by 20 announcements followed by definitive bids, as opposed to 21 announcements followed by retractions or just fizzling?

22 THE WITNESS: No, they don't. They don't break it
23 down that fine.

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 BY MR. COFFEY:

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 Q. Right. Well, let's leave Thompson to the side for a
2 moment. I'm interested in what you consider a bidder. Your
3 understanding is that Betton and Eckbo was talking about
4 instances in which a second bidder makes a firm offer?

5 A. By firm offer, one that can be accepted, that there's no
6 diligence, outs and so forth.

7 Q. Right.

8 A. No, I don't think that's what they're saying. As I recall,
9 it's not that strong.

10 Q. All right. Now, the analysis they did did not address the 11 question of what happens when a party makes a non-binding
12 indication of interest, and then decides not to make an offer;
13 isn't that correct?

14 A. They don't break that out. It might have happened in their 15 sample. They have a big sample, but they don't break that out.

16 THE COURT: And you haven't broken it out for them?

17 THE WITNESS: No, I haven't done any -- the Betton and 18 Eckbo, I just read the paper. I didn't go back and reproduce
19 their data or anything. There's nothing I know that's not in 20 that paper.

21 BY MR. COFFEY:

22 Q. Well, let's start with what -- it's not the case that the 23 Betton and Eckbo database is entirely instances where bids,
24 broadly defined as to include proposals, were made and none of 25 them became firm offers, right?

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 A. Correct. It's just -- it was a sample of all
2 tendered-offer bids during a certain period of time of a
3 certain size. I don't recall the exact criterion, but the 4 paper spells out very clearly what their data is.

5 Q. And these statistics that you cite are based in part,
6 perhaps even large part, on instances in which someone has made
7 a firm offer, right?

8 A. Correct. Those statistics would include second bids that 9 were firm offers, the way you define them.

10 MR. COFFEY: All right. I can go a little bit longer,
11 Judge, or --

12 THE COURT: Yes.

13 BY MR. COFFEY:

14 Q. Okay. Let's turn to Paragraph 22 of your affidavit. I
15 think this will actually come up because I think I got this 16 right. You also refer in Paragraph 22 to the results of your 17 own study, which you say found that following the emergence of 18 the second bidder, the original bidder acquires the target only 19 35 percent of the time, and that when the original bidder is 20 successful, the original bidder is required to increase its 21 original offer by 19 percent on average; do you see that?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Now, you also say here that your research in Paragraph 22,
24 your research indicates that there were no instances in which
25 the initial bidder acquired the target at the initial bid

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 price, right?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. So now, we have you and not the Thompson database to worry
4 about?

5 A. Well, not exactly because I use the Thompson database.

6 Q. Ahh. So, again, we are unsure where in the data that
7 you're analyzing we have situations where there's a tentative
8 proposal that is followed by a firm offer or a tentative
9 proposal that dies on the vine and there's no firm offer,
10 right?

11 A. Well, my sample is small enough that you can go back and 12 track each deal, you know, detail by detail. It's not as big 13 as the Betton and Eckbo; so you might be able to answer some of 14 those questions. And perhaps I have data that did, if you have 15 a specific question.

16 Q. But if we were looking for a study that had only instances
17 in which there were tentative proposals and none of the 18 proposals were followed up with a firm offer, if that's the 19 study we were looking for, that wouldn't be the study you did
20 here, right? And that's referred to here?

21 A. No, mine is different from that.

22 Q. So it does not purely address the situation where there's a
23 tentative proposal that is not followed up with a firm offer;
24 isn't that right?

25 A. It does not purely address that, correct.

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 THE COURT: Are you aware of any instances of that
2 among the ones that you considered?

3 THE WITNESS: Not that I can think of, no.

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MR. COFFEY: All right. Now would be an appropriate
6 time, your Honor, or I'm happy to keep going if everyone wants
7 to go.

8 THE COURT: We need to take an afternoon break. If 9 you want to do --

10 MR. COFFEY: Well, I can probably get to the very 11 point you raise before we take our break.

12 THE COURT: Sounds good enough. I'm feeling good.
13 Are you feeling good?

14 THE WITNESS: Fine.

15 THE COURT: I meant the court reporter.

16 THE WITNESS: Oh, the witness is not --

17 THE COURT: You haven't even worked up a sweat.

18 THE WITNESS: Okay.

19 MR. COFFEY: I'm fine too, Judge, in case you're --

20 THE COURT: Well, that goes without saying,
21 Mr. Coffey.

22 BY MR. COFFEY:

23 Q. Professor, in forming your analysis, you looked at a
24 database and isolated deals between 2002 and 2006 that were at 25 least $500 million in size and were change-of-control

ECHPGUI5

Cornell - cross

1 transactions, and this gave you 577 deals. Do I have that
2 right?

3 A. I think so. That sounds familiar, and it's described in 4 the report, too, and in the affidavit.

5 (Continued on next page)

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 Q. Right.

2 A. And in the affidavit.

3 Q. Now, of these 577 deals, only 29 involved multiple bids.

4 Isn't that right?

5 A. That's what I recall, yes.

6 Q. Which you then culled down to 18 bids by excluding those
7 that had no temporal overlap in the bids or where the target
8 was in bankruptcy. Isn't that right?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. And so you reduced it down to -- you had all these filters
11 and you got down to what you thought were 18 meaningful deals
12 to analyze, right?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And then you took one of those 18 deals out, right?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. The Reckson deal, right?

17 A. Correct.

18 Q. And that's an instance where the target company was Reckson
19 Associates Realty Corporation where a potential second bidder
20 came on the scene but did not make a firm offer, right?

21 A. I think so, I'm trying to remember if Mr. Icahn's second
22 offer after Macklowe and Mack-Cali had backed out was firm or 23 not. I don't specifically recall. He had a funky offer with 24 preferred stock in there. I don't know if it was firm enough
25 to be accepted.

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 Q. Well, do you recall in your expert report saying that you
2 excluded it because the bid wasn't taken seriously?

3 A. Well, there was a whole sequence of reasons I excluded it.
4 Some of them were in my report; some of them were discussed in
5 my deposition.

6 Q. Just to be clear, of the 18 meaningful deals that you
7 isolated, the one you excluded was the one in which there was a
8 tentative proposal and no firm offer followed. Do I have that
9 right?

10 A. I can't say for sure that a firm offer didn't follow.
11 There was an offer that followed, and it's the firm part that 12 I'm not sure of. I believe that that's correct though; that it
13 was not firm.

14 Q. Now, all of the second bids in the 17 transactions that you
15 used in the data set were situations where a second bidder made
16 a definitive offer. Isn't that right?

17 THE COURT: Well, made an offer.

18 THE WITNESS: I don't think it is definitive.

19 THE COURT: Yes, I thought you said a moment ago you
20 didn't distinguish between definitive offers and just announced
21 interests.

22 THE WITNESS: Well, later I went back and checked but 23 at the time I did the study, no, I don't recall distinguishing.

24 THE COURT: OK.

25 Q. You did not test what happens when a second party gives an

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 indication of interest but then never makes a definitive offer
2 for the target. Is that right?

3 A. That's right.

4 Q. And your study does not say anything about the probability
5 that an initial bidder will acquire a target at the contracted
6 for price where a second party makes a non-binding indication
7 of interest but never makes a definitive offer. Isn't that
8 right?

9 A. I do not assess that probability in my report or trial
10 affidavit.

11 Q. And neither do the Betton & Eckbo studies that you cite.
12 Isn't that right?

13 A. I don't recall them ever offering an answer to that
14 question.

15 Q. And you did no empirical research to determine how often
16 shareholders reject a deal where management recommends
17 approval, right?

18 A. I know that's quite rare, but I don't have any specific 19 study.

20 Q. Quite rare that shareholders will reject a management
21 proposal in a merger deal?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Just to follow that up, are you aware of any situation in 24 which there's a bid that's a premium to market at the time it's 25 made that has the recommendation of management in which the

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 shareholders have rejected that when the options are "take the
2 bid or stay a stand alone company"?

3 A. Well, the options are never that binary because you always
4 have the possibility that something else will happen, but with 5 that caveat, I'm not specifically aware of an example where
6 there's a premium bid that management and the board have said
7 should be accepted and the shareholders have voted it down.

8 MR. COFFEY: Now would be an appropriate time, Judge.

9 THE COURT: See you in about ten minutes.

10 (Recess)

11 (In open court)

12 THE COURT: Mr. Coffey.

13 MR. COFFEY: Thank you, your Honor.

14 Q. Now, Professor, with regard to the Reckson transaction,
15 which was removed from your sample, you did so because you
16 concluded based on a conversation, with a professor whose name
17 you couldn't remember at your deposition, that the bid wasn't
18 taken seriously by shareholders. Do you remember sharing that 19 with us at your deposition?

20 A. Generally, yes.

21 Q. You could have tested whether the Reckson shareholders took 22 that bid seriously by performing an event study, correct?
23 That's one way to determine whether shareholders take a bid
24 seriously?

25 A. Possibly, yes.

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 Q. But you did not perform an event study on Reckson, right?

2 A. No.

3 Q. And I just want to confirm this: Reckson is the only one
4 out of the 18 transactions that you initially selected where
5 the second so-called bid was an indication of interest that did
6 not ripen into a definitive offer. Isn't that right?

7 A. It's certainly right that it didn't ripen into a definitive
8 offer. I couldn't say for sure that it was the only one.

9 Q. All right. Well, that particular question came up in your 10 deposition. Do you remember that?

11 A. No.

12 Q. So you can either look at it or we'll put it on the screen
13 for you. We'll call up page 75 of your deposition, and I will
14 direct your attention to lines 5 through 16. I will read it
15 aloud and you can read it along with me:

16 "Q. As you sit here today, it's" -- referring to Reckson --
17 "As you sit here today, it's the only one out of 18 you're 18 aware of where the initial -- where the second bid as an 19 initial was originally initial an indication of interest and 20 never resulted in a definitive offer?

21 "A. I think that's the case, but I haven't, OK, specifically
22 investigated that question."

23 Does that refresh your recollection that the question
24 of what was in your sample and how it came up, and you answered
25 that you thought it was the case that the rest of them were

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 definitive, but you hadn't specifically investigated that
2 question?

3 A. I think that answer is fair.

4 THE COURT: Is that different than what you just said
5 a minute ago?

6 THE WITNESS: Well, since then I have gone back and 7 looked at the sample again to see if this is right, but
8 unfortunately, I did that several weeks ago too, and I don't
9 remember the precise answer to this question. But I can answer
10 this question now, I do have it in my work papers.

11 THE COURT: All right. Go ahead.

12 BY MR. COFFEY:

13 Q. In the course of your investigation, did you come up with 14 any basis to believe that your answer that you think it's the 15 case at your deposition was wrong?

16 A. I could go back and check that. That's what I would do to 17 answer your question completely.

18 Q. But you've done nothing that would suggest that your 19 answer, at least initially "I think that's the case" was wrong?

20 A. Yes, I have done something since then to check whether I
21 was right or wrong. I don't remember the answer to that check,
22 but I believe I have it in my work papers, my subsequent work
23 papers.

24 Q. All right. Let's take a look at Exhibit 2 to your trial
25 affidavit. We will look at the bottom one, the bottom part of

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 this because that focuses on your findings. I note that the
2 report, at least when I read it, said initial bidders, and then
3 it talks about rival bidders.

4 Do I understand your testimony today that a bidder
5 might be somebody who doesn't make a definitive offer or isn't
6 it the fact that we're talking about definitive offers here?

7 A. I'd have to check that to be sure, and partly the reason
8 it's confusing is your use of the word definitive because 9 rarely is an offer so definitive that it can just be accepted.
10 There's usually regulatory hurdles and whatnot that have to be
11 gotten over, and the M and A databases that we work with don't 12 go into that level of detail.

13 Q. Was the Boston Scientific offer January 8, 2006, was that a
14 definitive offer?

15 A. I would call it one, but I'm not a legal expert on what 16 that word definitive means. I would suspect that even if 17 Guidant had said yes, they couldn't have closed the deal on 18 January 9. There would be hurdles they would have to go
19 through.

20 Q. Let's turn to page 84 of your deposition.

21 THE COURT: Page 84 or paragraph?

22 MR. COFFEY: I'm so sorry, page 84 of the deposition.

23 THE COURT: The deposition, I'm sorry.

24 MR. COFFEY: Yes. Line 18. I want to explore this a
25 little bit more.

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 Q. If you will follow along, it should be on the screen. We
2 are going to start at line 18 and go through line 10 of the 3 following page. Again, the examiner asked you:

4 "Q. OK. And did this data set -- does this data set show
5 which -- in which of these cases the second offer was a
6 definitive offer as opposed to a preliminary indication?

7 "A. It doesn't, but I think most, if not all, were -- were
8 definitive offers because that's how they get into the data
9 set. I don't know that preliminary indication's gotten into 10 the data set."

11 Does that refresh your recollection that 17 deals
12 that made it into your data set and made it on to slide Exhibit
13 2 of your trial affidavit were instances in which a second
14 bidder arrived on the scene and made a definitive offer?

15 A. It refreshes my recollection of what I said, but I believe
16 I was wrong then.

17 Q. But we do know Reckson was an instance in which there was a
18 tentative proposal and no firm definitive offer, right?

19 A. I believe so, yes.

20 Q. We know that that was excluded from your database, right?

21 A. We do -- well, I did it both ways. I shouldn't say I
22 exclude it. I mentioned what the average statistics would be
23 with and without it, but I believed it should be excluded.

24 THE COURT: So you evaluated whether in that case the 25 initial offer price was in fact the price at which the

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 transaction got done?

2 THE WITNESS: It was the price at which the
3 transaction got done.

4 THE COURT: It was.

5 Q. And you would agree with me that the Reckson scenario
6 boiled down to its essential elements is the deal that most
7 closely approximates Professor Jarrell's "but for" scenario
8 which is that there is a preexisting offer, there is a
9 tentative proposal at a higher price, there is no subsequent 10 firm offer from that potential rival bidder, and the 11 shareholders are left with the first bid or a stand-alone
12 company. You understand that's Professor Jarrell's
13 hypothetical that he's addressing in his damages report, right?

14 A. That sounds like what Professor Jarrell was addressing. It
15 doesn't sound like the Boston Scientific transaction to me.

16 Q. But what I just described also sounds like Reckson, doesn't
17 it?

18 A. You'd really have to ask Professor Jarrell if that's what 19 he had in mind. He had access to my Reckson example.

20 Q. I understand. I've moved over from Professor Jarrell and 21 I'm posing the same question the points I made about there's a
22 first bid that's definitive.

23 There is a potential rival bid that is at a higher
24 price but tentative. There is never a follow-up firm offer,
25 and what the shareholders are left with is the initial bid or a

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 stand-alone company. I'm asking you if what I just described
2 sounds like Reckson?

3 A. No, I thought Reckson was a unique example involving Carl
4 Icahn where the second bid was not a legitimate economic bid as 5 I described and would therefore bias my sample and I chose to 6 exclude it.

7 Q. Well, it was a bid -- it was a deal in which there was a
8 preliminary interest of -- there was an indication of interest
9 that was non-binding, correct?

10 A. That is correct.

11 Q. There was no subsequent firm offer. Isn't that correct?

12 A. Well, there was a subsequent offer. When you say it wasn't 13 firm, I don't recall the details of Mr. Icahn's subsequent 14 offer and whether you would characterize it as firm or not.

15 Q. Well, how many of the precedents in your data set involved
16 second, you know, topping bids, using your terms, that did not 17 result in definitive offers?

18 A. I'd have to go back and check one at a time.

19 Q. Are you aware of any?

20 A. Well, not as I sit here, no. I just don't have that 21 committed to memory.

22 MR. COFFEY: Marco, I'm going to go right to paragraph
23 26?

24 THE COURT: Paragraph 26.

25 MR. COFFEY: Of the trial affidavit, yes, please.

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 Q. Now, part of your critique of Professor Jarrell is pointing
2 to deposition testimony and the comments in the marketplace
3 which you say indicates that J&J would have been unable to
4 acquire Guidant for $63 a share after Boston came on the scene,
5 so I want to talk to you about that.

6 You quote from the deposition testimony of a J&J
7 employee, Mr. Darretta, Robert Darretta -- do you see that?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. -- as support for that proposition. So first I put up on 10 the screen what you say in your affidavit. This is an actual 11 excerpt from the deposition. What I want to do is point you to 12 the next question and answer.

13 So, in the part you quote, you indicate that you focus
14 on the fact that "over the course of time, Johnson & Johnson,
15 or at least Mr. Darretta recalled this, determined that their 16 initial bid would be inadequate."

17 You notice he says "over the course of time" there in 18 his answer?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. Now, let's look at the next question and answer which is 21 not in your report. Can we get those synched up, Marco.

22 I'll read it aloud.

23 "Q. And what was your determination?"

24 There is a question that is excerpted in the affidavit
25 is page 70/lines 15 to 23, I would like to call up the next

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 question and answer, please. The next question.

2 "Q. So in December 2005, although not necessarily December 6,
3 2005, you determined that the $63 bid for Guidant would not be
4 adequate to complete the acquisition of Guidant Corporation.
5 Is that right?

6 "A. And I'm not sure of the date of our revised bid, but we 7 certainly would have had those discussions during December, and
8 we concluded those deliberations prior to making the enhanced
9 offer."

10 Do you see that?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. Do you notice that the examiner didn't clarify for 13 Mr. Darretta that J&J made its revised bid in January and not 14 December? Do you see that?

15 A. Well, it would be easier if I didn't have this big block on 16 the screen because, it's just -- why don't I just look at the 17 complete pages?

18 THE COURT: I think it would be easier for me too. We 19 can read it. It's small, but it's not too bad.

20 The question is beginning at line 15 on page 70 is 21 what is referenced in the affidavit. Is that correct?

22 MR. COFFEY: That's right, your Honor. It's page
23 70/lines 15 through 23.

24 THE COURT: And you want us to consider lines 24
25 through 25 on page 70 continuing on to page 71 all the way to

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 line 8. Is that right?

2 MR. COFFEY: That's right, yes, your Honor.

3 A. OK, I've got that.

4 Q. Right. And so the witness is tying the deliberations up to 5 and including the time that the enhanced offer was made. My 6 question is, you see that the examiner didn't clarify for 7 Mr. Darretta that the revised bid was made in January. Do you
8 see that?

9 A. Well, he doesn't say that it was made in December.

10 THE COURT: He's talking about discussions made in 11 December.

12 THE WITNESS: Yeah, discussions in December, but it
13 could have led to a bid in January.

14 Q. Right. My point being that it wasn't until -- let me move
15 on to the next question because I think I will wrap them all up
16 with another question.

17 You also quote from the testimony of Dominic Caruso?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. In paragraph 27. Call it up on the screen, this excerpt.
20 Having reviewed those two, would you agree with me that you saw 21 nothing in either of those excerpts of testimony which 22 suggested that J&J thought it would need to increase its bid if 23 Boston Scientific decided not to make a definitive offer.
24 Isn't that right?

25 A. That doesn't say one way or the other.

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 Q. Nor did you see that in the testimony by Mr. Rosenberg
2 which you also quote in this section, right?

3 A. Again, it does not say one way or the other.

4 Q. Now, Boston Scientific's firm offer was on January 8, 2006,
5 right?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. And you'd agree with me that Johnson & Johnson made no
8 increase in its bid prior to January 8, correct?

9 A. That is correct.

10 Q. Johnson & Johnson did not make an enhanced offer until 11 January 11, several days after Boston made its definitive
12 offer. Isn't that right?

13 A. I remember it's several days after, yes.

14 Q. Now, isn't the fact that Johnson & Johnson did not raise
15 its offer until after Boston Scientific had put a firm offer on 16 the table the best evidence that Johnson & Johnson had no
17 intention of increasing its offer beyond $63 per share unless
18 and until Boston Scientific in fact made a firm offer?

19 A. I don't think you can draw that conclusion just from that 20 one observation, no.

21 Q. You will agree with me that they didn't do so until after 22 the firm offer from Boston, right?

23 A. I will. I agree to that.

24 Q. Now, you did read the depositions of Johnson & Johnson's 25 witnesses, right?

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 A. Yes -- well, when you say witnesses, some of them.

2 Q. Some of them. Did you pick what you reviewed or were they
3 provided for you?

4 A. I don't really recall. I think I picked it, but it's been 5 some time.

6 Q. Do you recall in any deposition that you were shown where
7 any of Guidant's lawyers put any question to any Johnson &
8 Johnson witness about whether Johnson & Johnson thought it
9 would need to increase its offer if Boston did not come forward
10 with a definitive offer? Do you recall seeing such a question
11 in any of the depositions you reviewed?

12 A. I don't recall such a question.

13 Q. Are you aware that Judge Sullivan put that question to 14 Johnson & Johnson management during this trial?

15 A. No.

16 Q. So as you took the stand today, you were not made aware of 17 testimony that was arguably touching on this part of your trial
18 affidavit, that testimony of J&J management on the issue of 19 whether J&J felt it should make an offer, increased offer
20 without Boston Scientific first making a firm offer. You're 21 not aware of that testimony?

22 A. I am not.

23 Q. Let me call up just a very brief clip -- not clip -- a
24 transcript. It's of Bill Weldon, former chairman of Johnson &
25 Johnson. This is given in response to a question from the

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 Court after colloquy about Johnson & Johnson management
2 planning for the possibility of that counter. The judge
3 specifically asked a question that was not asked in the 4 depositions.

5 "Q. What was the plan had Boston Scientific not made a
6 definitive offer?

7 "A. We would have gone forward at $63."

8 Do you see that?

9 A. I see that.

10 THE COURT: That's my question? Usually, it says "The 11 Court" when I ask a question.

12 MR. COFFEY: Your Honor, I'm so sorry. You asked the 13 follow-up question. I'm so sorry.

14 A. That's just the question I would have asked.

15 Q. You would have asked that question?

16 A. Well, it's the first thing comes to mind when you see the 17 question and answer.

18 THE COURT: My follow-up is what's on there. "You're 19 confident shareholders would have taken it at $63?" And 20 there's a lengthy answer. I'm not going to read it. We 21 already have the transcript.

22 Q. Let me rephrase that. That question was posed in this
23 courtroom, and you just -- I think you just said that was a
24 question you would have asked, right?

25 A. Yes.

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 Q. Because that kind of direct question and that kind of
2 direct answer would inform your judgment about whether Johnson
3 & Johnson actually felt it needed to increase its $63 price in 4 the face of no firm offer by Boston, right?

5 A. Well, I can't really say that. It may have. I'm just 6 saying that when they say go forward and it takes two to tango,
7 I'd immediately want to know who the tango partner is.

8 Q. You talk a bit about analysts' reports in your trial
9 affidavit, so I'd like to go to paragraph 30 of your affidavit.
10 You discuss your review of certain analysts' reports issued
11 between December 5 and December 9, 2005, which you say reveals 12 that "most of those market professionals who explicitly discuss 13 J&J's $63.08 bid stated that either J&J was going to have to 14 raise its initial bid in order to acquire Guidant or that J&J
15 would not win with its $63.08 bid."

16 Do you see that?

17 A. Yes, I do.

18 Q. Now, in your review, you culled out 18 reports from the 19 three dozen or so that were issued during this period that 20 covered the transaction and discussed either the credibility of 21 the Boston Scientific's bid or the likelihood of J&J acquiring 22 Guidant for $63 a share. Is that right?

23 A. That's what I remember, yes.

24 THE COURT: So you had 577 total: 29 that you
25 identified as involving second or multiple bids. And from that

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 you culled down to 18. Is that right?

2 THE WITNESS: But he's asking me about the analysts'
3 reports now, not -- these are analysts' reports commenting on
4 Boston Scientific's bid after the bid.

5 THE COURT: And there are three dozen of those.

6 THE WITNESS: I recall there being fewer, but my 7 actual sample is in an exhibit to my trial testimony which is,
8 I think, Exhibit 4. Yes. Exhibit 4 was the content analysis I
9 was able to find from the way market analysts responded to the 10 bid in the week of the bid.

11 BY MR. COFFEY:

12 Q. You say that of these, seven analysts stated that they 13 believed Johnson & Johnson would not win the bid at $63, and 14 one thought that -- the one that thought there was -- and one
15 that thought there was a 50 percent likelihood that it could 16 win the bid at $63, right?

17 A. Yeah, there were -- yeah, eight who offered an opinion on 18 that that I recall seeing: 7 said they wouldn't get it at $63
19 and one thought 50/50.

20 Q. Now, these analysts were factoring into their analysis
21 publicly available information, right?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. So none of those analysts knew, as we do now know, that
24 there was a secret nonpublic condition that had to be satisfied
25 before the board would permit Boston Scientific to make a firm

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 offer, right?

2 MR. OHLMEYER: I object to that.

3 THE COURT: Let's make sure the witness understands
4 what Mr. Coffey means by that the secret nonpublic factor. Do
5 you understand what he means? I do.

6 THE WITNESS: I think he's talking about the deal with
7 Abbott and so forth.

8 THE COURT: In other words, there needs to be a
9 signed-on-the-dotted-line divestiture partner before Boston
10 Scientific would have made a definitive offer.

11 THE WITNESS: Yes.

12 THE COURT: Is that what you mean?

13 MR. COFFEY: That's what I mean, your Honor, and I'll 14 throw back the rhetoric a little bit.

15 THE COURT: I got it. There's no jury here and as 16 soon long as the witness gets it.

17 THE WITNESS: I get it.

18 THE COURT: And you understand that.

19 THE WITNESS: Yes.

20 Q. And none of those analysts knew, as we know now, that the 21 divestiture party that Boston Scientific had lined up, Abbott,
22 would not agree to go forward without getting confidential
23 Guidant information and getting it in a manner that did not 24 require its identity to be disclosed to Johnson & Johnson. The 25 analysts didn't know that fact either, did they?

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 A. Just to be clear, the analysts never know some of the 2 hidden details of any transaction. They're just dealing with
3 the public information. But I imagine they would think there
4 are specific complexities in any transaction they analyze.
5 That said, they relied on the public information.

6 THE COURT: But the need for a divestiture partner was 7 no secret, right?

8 THE WITNESS: I think the general need that they may 9 have antitrust problems that would have to be solved wasn't a
10 secret.

11 THE COURT: Do you remember that December 5
12 announcement specifically addressed the need for that?

13 THE WITNESS: Yes. Now that you bring it up, I recall
14 that it did, yes.

15 Q. Do you recall that the December 5 proposal did not indicate
16 to the public the Boston board's view that that divestiture
17 party had to be lined up before they would even make a firm
18 offer? That wasn't in that December 5 letter, was it?

19 A. I don't think so, but I'd have to go back and re-read it to 20 be sure what is and is not in there.

21 Q. Right. So this condition inside Boston Scientific that 22 it's not going to go forward with a firm offer unless and until 23 it lines up a divestiture party in advance of the firm offer
24 was a condition that was not known to the market, right?

25 A. Yeah. If it was even, as you say, a condition, it was a

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 stated condition, but whether it would have really been a
2 condition if push comes to shove, we don't really know that
3 either.

4 Q. Because one scenario was that Boston Scientific do what
5 Johnson & Johnson did, right, which was sign a definitive deal
6 and then handle the divestiture issues, right?

7 A. I would imagine that would be a possibility.

8 Q. Or another possibility could be that subsequent to 9 December 5, Boston Scientific lines up a joint bidder, and
10 together with this joint bidder they make a public offer, a
11 takeover proposal that includes a divestiture party as a joint 12 bidder. That's another scenario that could have played out,
13 right?

14 A. It seems like that's another possibility. Yes.

15 THE COURT: I guess another one would be that Abbott
16 would be willing to sign on the dotted line without due
17 diligence.

18 THE WITNESS: Yes. And another one I could think 19 of --

20 THE COURT: Is this Eleanor Roosevelt flying? Is that 21 where we're going with this?

22 THE WITNESS: Maybe. If we all get to put forth
23 possibilities, another one I thought of is you let them know
24 that you are putting a definitive $72 offer together, and you
25 let the vote go ahead, and the shareholders can say, well,

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 we're willing to take the $72 chance and we'll vote no on the 2 $63.

3 Q. In any event, none of the analysts suggested that if Boston
4 Scientific decided not to make a definitive offer, J&J's deal
5 at $63 would not be approved. Isn't that right?

6 A. I don't recall anything specifically calling out that
7 scenario.

8 Q. One of the opinions you render is that Johnson & Johnson
9 could not have gotten Guidant at the $63 number even if Boston
10 never made a firm offer. Isn't that right?

11 A. I think that's -- when you say never, even if they didn't 12 make a firm offer prior to the shareholders' vote because never 13 is a long time.

14 Q. What would you consider to be a period of time after 15 someone makes a public tentative proposal subject to due
16 diligence as firm financing lined up, financial advisors lined
17 up, and then doesn't pull the trigger on a firm offer before
18 you think that they've effectively left the stage. Do you have 19 any of time frame?

20 A. Well, they can -- one possibility is they can leave the 21 stage for awhile and come back to the stage, the way Johnson &
22 Johnson did. They were there at $67. They went away. They 23 came back. But I don't really have a firm answer to your 24 question.

25 Q. You're aware that when Johnson & Johnson and Guidant

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 executed the amended merger agreement in November of 2005 that
2 the price of $63 was a premium over the Guidant price in the 3 days prior to that announcement of the amended merger
4 agreement?

5 A. I remember that.

6 Q. Let's skip ahead to another analysts' report in December of 7 '05. PX-54 please. It's in your binder if you want to look at 8 it. We'll call it up on the screen.

9 This is a Lehman Brothers equity derivatives research
10 report dated December 12, 2005. And if you will go to page 3,
11 it's gaining out various scenarios. And the one I want to 12 focus on is the "but for" world that Professor Jarrell's
13 damages report is based on.

14 A. OK, so this is after the period for which the sample of 15 reports were in my affidavit. So this is not one that I cited,
16 but this is a new one.

17 Q. That's right, sir. This is a couple days after the end of 18 the period that you used to sample analysts' reports. So this
19 is December 12, this is a week after Boston Scientific's
20 tentative proposal. If you will please, sir, turn to page 3.
21 I've got it on the screen. This is scenario D, value of the 22 existing J&J offer on 1/15/06 if Boston Scientific decides not 23 to pursue Guidant. Do you see that?

24 A. OK.

25 Q. And the report states, "In this scenario, we would expect

EchQgui6

Cornell - cross

1 the market to assign approximately a nine percent break-even
2 probability to the Guidant/J&J deal with one month remaining to
3 go before completion. If BSX walks, the market will likely 4 perceive that as a sign that J&J is largely justified in its
5 price cut." Do you see that?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. My first question is: You would agree that this report is 8 contemporaneous evidence of all of these -- at least one person
9 in the marked viewed the likelihood to be of the J&J merger
10 being approved by shareholders if Boston Scientific decided not
11 to pursue Guidant, right?

12 A. That's what it looks like, yes.

13 Q. And you have no reason to disagree with this analysis, do
14 you?

15 A. Let me finish reading it. Well, the analysis really
16 depends on what he means by "walks." I mean, they announce
17 that they make a noisy retreat, "we are going away; we've done
18 some further work; and we're not going to make a bid." If 19 that's what he means by "walks," I probably don't disagree with 20 this.

25

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 Q. I want to talk a little bit about stock price, the impact
2 of stock prices on your opinions, Professor. So let's turn to
3 Page 33 of your trial affidavit. And --

4 A. Page 33?

5 Q. Paragraph 33.

6 A. I was going to say.

7 Q. It's on Page 14.

8 A. It wasn't long enough. Okay.

9 Q. And you cite to contemporaneous analyst reports indicating 10 that many investors thought the $63 price was too low; do you
11 see that?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. And then in the next paragraph, paragraph 34, you ask the 14 Court to consider what one would expect to see if, in fact,
15 Mr. Jarrell is correct that Johnson & Johnson would have 16 acquired Guidant in $63 but for the alleged breach; do you see
17 that?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And you posit that if market participants believe this was 20 likely -- if market participants believe this was the likely -- 21 potential outcome, Guidant's share price would have traded at 22 $63.08 because, ultimately, they would have known that this was 23 likely -- the likely relevant value of Guidant's shares; do you
24 see that?

25 A. Yes.

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 Q. So do I take it that you're suggesting that Professor
2 Jarrell's assumption is likely wrong because Guidant's share
3 price traded at above $63?

4 A. That is, in my opinion, evidence that the opinion is
5 incorrect, yes, or that the probability being, one, that it
6 would be acquired at 63.08 is incorrect.

7 Q. Now, I talked before about what the analysts did and didn't
8 know; so let me turn to the market, generally. You'd agree
9 with me that the market did not know that the Boston Scientific 10 board would not authorize the company to go forward unless and 11 until it had a sign-on-the-dotted-line divestiture partner,
12 right?

13 A. It would be my opinion of what the market knew and what 14 sophisticated analysts knew is pretty much the same set of 15 information, and as I testified earlier, it doesn't include the 16 fact you just mentioned.

17 Q. Both of those, the Abbott factor and the Boston Scientific 18 board factor?

19 A. That's correct.

20 Q. Right, and --

21 A. As far as I can recall, it doesn't include either.

22 Q. And based on your experience, if a number of conditions
23 like that were then to enter the bloodstream of the market,
24 would that tend to depress the market's view about whether the 25 Boston Scientific is likely to occur or enhance the

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 expectations?

2 A. Well, you know, I can't say for sure because the market
3 price hasn't gone up to 72 either. So to use an investment
4 banking term, the market is aware that all these deals are very
5 complex and, quote, have a lot of hair on it. In this case,
6 the hair would be, among other things, the two things you bring
7 up. So the market is putting in discounts for the fact that 8 there may be things that we don't know that are complex that 9 could derail this deal.

10 Q. Let's take the scenario where that's the state of play on 11 Monday, but on Tuesday morning, two of the pieces of hair are 12 specifically identified, and they're no longer conjecture but
13 the market now knows, hey, Boston is not going to make an offer
14 unless and until they have a sign-on-the-dotted-line
15 divestiture partner, and the one they've picked to do it isn't 16 going to go forward unless it gets confidential information and 17 J&J is kept in the dark about their participation.

18 Now, if that's introduced into the bloodstream, that 19 would tend, to the reasonable market participant, increase the 20 chance that this deal may not happen?

21 A. I think that would probably have occurred, and I suspect
22 that would probably depress the stock price somewhat.

23 Q. Now, you say in paragraph 35 that you looked at the price
24 movements of Guidant stock, and you point out that it went up
25 above $63 per share in the period between December 5 and

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 January 8. What I'd like to do is call up Exhibit 6 to your
2 trial affidavit, and we highlighted that period on the chart.
3 Now, eyeballing that, Professor, you'd agree with me that, for 4 the most part, the price during this period was in the 5 $66 range, thereabouts?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. You'd agree with me that that is not even halfway between
8 the $63 price in the J&J contract and Boston Scientific's
9 non-binding indication of interest at $72, right?

10 A. That's an empirical fact, yes.

11 Q. And if you were going to make it a -- because the Judge
12 likes football, if you were going to make this a standup
13 football grid, they're on about the 35-yard line, right?
14 Between the J&J end zone and the Boston Scientific end zone,
15 right? It's about a third of the way?

16 A. Give or take, yes.

17 Q. I'd like to show you a document marked as Plaintiff's
18 Exhibit 55. It's a Reuter's news article.

19 THE COURT: Is this in the binder?

20 MR. COFFEY: It is, your Honor. Exhibit PX55.

21 Q. And this, I think, falls in the period that you selected
22 for your selection of analysts. This is not an analyst report,
23 obviously. It's a Reuter's article, but just to put it in 24 context, and you'll see here --

25 A. And this is 55 in the binder book?

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 Q. Yes, sir.

2 A. Okay.

3 Q. Are you with me?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Okay. So you see it's a Reuter's article on December 7th,
6 and the headline, "Guidant stock price not reflecting bidding
7 war;" do you see that?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. So I'm going to read a little bit of it, and then ask you
10 if you remember reviewing this in connection with your report
11 in this case. So in the first paragraph you see there's 12 reference to, the Guidant shares trade as if there will be --
13 go back, please, Marco -- trade as if there will be no bidding
14 war reflecting what traders and analysts have said. Do you see
15 that?

16 A. Yes, I see that.

17 Q. If you go down a couple more paragraphs, there's, at least 18 in the reporter's view, that reflects downright scepticism over
19 Boston Scientific's highly leveraged acquisition. They term it
20 offer but we know it's a proposal. And then a couple more
21 paragraphs down, a couple of folks are quoted, noting there's a
22 risk you'll never see the $72 and some arbitrageur said the 23 shares and options were trading as though the bid was not real;
24 do you see that?

25 A. I think that's an odd statement to make, because it's

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 written on paper. I don't know what he means by "wasn't real."
2 What that is probably the euphemism for is there is complexity
3 that may lead to a deal not being completed.

4 Q. Or an offer not being made?

5 A. Well, what you've called a definitive offer not being made.

6 Q. Well, let's try and nail it down. What do you mean by
7 "definitive offer"?

8 A. I really don't have a good def- -- what I mean by 9 definitive offer means what exists in the stock market. If IBM
10 is at 153.1 to 153.11, I can push a button on my computer and 11 the transaction is done, that's a definitive offer. I can hit
12 the bid. If I can't hit the bid, in my mind, it's not 13 definitive. That, I think, is too strong a criterion for any 14 merger and acquisition transaction.

15 Q. Forgive me if you've answered this already. What, in your 16 opinion, was the proposal that Boston Scientific sent to 17 Guidant on January 8th, 2006, a definitive offer?

18 A. I agree with you it was more definitive, but I said that 19 term definitive is really a legal term, and it's the only way
20 I, as an economist, use the term definitive is something I can 21 hit.

22 THE COURT: So in your view, $63 a share, Johnson &
23 Johnson offer, was not definitive?

24 THE WITNESS: Yeah, and that's why I don't want to 25 be -- the answer to that question definitive, because I view it

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 as largely a legal one. None of them are definitive in the 2 sense that it's a bid that you can hit and the transaction is
3 done. There's always going to be regulatory review, and I've
4 looked at some of the legal literature on this. I know how 5 complex it is.

6 THE COURT: All right. But I guess you understand
7 we've been using the term to mean a bid that the Guidant board
8 can accept?

9 THE WITNESS: Yes, and/or the more definitive --

10 THE COURT: That would bind the offer on the acquirer?

11 THE WITNESS: Yes, I understand.

12 BY MR. COFFEY:

13 Q. Now, having looked at the parts of this article, do you
14 recall whether you reviewed it in connection with the 15 preparation of your report in this case?

16 A. If I did, it was prior to my deposition, and I don't 17 remember it.

18 Q. Would you agree that the observations here are 19 contemporaneous evidence of how some market participants
20 perceived the Boston proposal?

21 A. I think that's fair.

22 Q. Professor, do you -- this is probably unfair. Do you
23 happen to know what price Guidant closed at out at the end of 24 the year on December 30, 2005?

25 A. Well, if we go back a couple of exhibits, we could know. I

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 think it was about 68 bucks.

2 THE COURT: 68?

3 THE WITNESS: 68, yeah.

4 BY MR. COFFEY:

5 Q. Let's firm that up. I'm going to represent to you that the
6 next thing we're calling up is an except from Jarrell
7 Exhibit 1, which is in your -- Jarrell Exhibit 1, Exhibit 3 to 8 that, Page 6 of 7, he included a stock chart. I don't think
9 this is going to be controversial.

10 So this is an excerpt from a stock chart that's in the 11 record and it notes that on December 30, 2005, Guidant was 12 trading at $64.75; do you see that?

13 A. I see that one number, but I'd like to just see the 14 context, too. Can you blow up some of the ones below it, or 15 just make it so it's not so tiny around the end of the year?

16 Q. What would you like, plus, minus seven days?

17 A. That's good. I think that's -- I'm wrong about the 68, but 18 not very wrong.

19 Q. It was an unfair question. I knew I shouldn't have said
20 it. I should have gone right to this?

21 A. Okay. So there's the date.

22 Q. Now, on December 30, the market knows that J&J and Guidant
23 have a signed definitive agreement at $63.08, right?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. And the market knows that Boston Scientific has a

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 non-binding proposal out there at $72, right?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. Now, despite the market knowing the 72, 63 difference,
4 Guidant closes at only $64.75 at the end of the year, right?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Now, let's go back to your Exhibit 6, the stock chart, and 7 put the arrow on there. There we go. I think that's where 8 that $64.75 is. Now, by my math, that number is -- and it was 9 trading up and down around that, but this is the end of the 10 year; so we'll use it. That number is only $1.67 over the J&J
11 price, but it's $7.25 below the Boston Scientific tentative
12 offer at 72. Are you with me on the math?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And so I guess if I want to use the football analogy again,
15 we're back on the 20 now; we're even closer to the Johnson &
16 Johnson price?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. And we're not just pennies closer, we're several dollars
19 closer, right?

20 A. Yes. I always worry about year-end, very year-end data
21 because it's the end of the year or end of the quarter for 22 institutional investors. There's tax issues, but nonetheless,
23 your empirical observation is correct.

24 THE COURT: That's because the market has factored in 25 the risk that this is never going to blossom into a real offer,

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 right?

2 THE WITNESS: Yeah, there's no question they factored
3 that in, but I think the -- that's in, if you go back, your
4 Honor, like to the 20th of December, this very year end being
5 particularly low, I think may be things unrelated to the offer.

6 THE COURT: But before December 5th, when the only
7 offer on the table was $63 a share by Johnson & Johnson, the 8 price of the stock was less than that because the market had 9 factored in that this also might not be a sure thing?

10 THE WITNESS: Yes.

11 THE COURT: Okay.

12 BY MR. COFFEY:

13 Q. I take your point about the end of the year, Professor, but 14 am I right that the two yellow -- the yellow lines highlighted 15 on Exhibit 6 are there because, in your report, you rely on 16 stock prices at that time of the year, right?

17 A. Oh, I put it in there. I mean, it is what it is.

18 Q. So are you now caveating that by saying we shouldn't give 19 it a hundred percent credit because it's the end of the year?
20 Because I didn't see that in the --

21 A. I looked at the whole interval because, to me, it was 22 trading about the 35-yard line, like you said. I wouldn't give 23 too much credence to the fact that it seemed to go to the 24 15-yard line at the end of the year.

25 THE COURT: And after the beginning of the year, it

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 starts moving up. They get a couple of first downs.

2 THE WITNESS: Yes.

3 MR. COFFEY: Going to pay for the metaphor.

4 THE COURT: This is the only forward progress I've 5 seen all year, except when the Jets took themselves out of 6 first round draft pick running by winning.

7 BY MR. COFFEY:

8 Q. Would you agree that Guidant's stock price on December 30
9 implies that the market believes that J&J's deal is more likely
10 to happen even though the market knows that Boston has a
11 proposed deal out there at 72?

12 A. Well, the market's got to worry about neither of them
13 happening, too. It's not a binary consideration. Both -- I
14 mean, there could be a bidding war, neither could happen, one
15 of them, Johnson & Johnson, could go away, like I said, and 16 then Boston could reduce its offer. The market is trying to 17 weigh all the possibilities.

18 Q. Now, I'd like you to assume that on December 30, Boston
19 Scientific publicly withdraws from the bidding war, potential
20 bidding war, never makes an offer. Do you agree that Guidant's 21 stock price would decline below $64.75 by some amount based on 22 that news?

23 A. It depends on exactly what that news was. If they said
24 we're gone forever, we've looked at the company, we don't think
25 it's worth it, then I think that could happen.

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 THE COURT: Would likely happen?

2 THE WITNESS: Yes. The key thing would be the market
3 would be very interested in how Boston Scientific, which is a
4 very sophisticated entity, is bound to Guidant. If they say
5 we're walking away and we're walking away because we don't 6 think it's worth it, that would be very negative news to the 7 market.

8 BY MR. COFFEY:

9 Q. And enhance the chances that the J&J deal at 63 would be 10 approved by the shareholders; isn't that right?

11 A. Probably so.

12 Q. I'm going to talk about arbitrageurs just little bit, sir.
13 You say in your affidavit that since a substantial block of 14 stock was held by arbs, who purchased at an average price of 15 $68 and change, they were likely to veto a deal at 63 because 16 they would lose money, and I just have two questions on this.

17 If Boston makes a definitive offer and the board at 18 Guidant determines it's superior and accepts it, then there is 19 no shareholder vote on the J&J deal for those arbs to vote
20 against, right?

21 A. As far as I could see, that would be correct.

22 Q. So this veto only arises in a scenario where Boston hasn't 23 made an offer that has been accepted by the time of the 24 shareholder vote on the J&J deal scheduled for January 30,
25 right?

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 A. That would be something along the lines of Boston saying
2 that there are impediments to us making a definitive offer,
3 we're not going to be able to do it by the shareholder vote,
4 but we're still interested in this company.

5 Q. Now, there's nothing in your report that cites to this
6 proposition that Boston Scientific would not make a definitive
7 offer but would remain interested in the company, right?

8 A. I don't specifically draw out that scenario, as I recall.
9 There's just so many possibilities.

10 Q. Well, you don't allude to any evidence that supports the 11 proposition that Boston Scientific would, on the one hand, not
12 make a firm offer but, on the other hand, would remain
13 interested in the company; isn't that right?

14 A. Well, there is the evidence that they'd remain interested
15 because they not only made a definitive offer, but they raised
16 it, but they were able to do so fast enough, in their view,
17 that the other scenario never came into play.

18 Q. Well, you understand that in this phase of the trial, we're
19 assessing damages, which presumes that the Court has found
20 liability and the "but for" world that Johnson & Johnson is 21 putting forward is that Boston Scientific never would have made
22 that firm offer. Do you understand that's Professor Jarrell's
23 assumption?

24 A. I think that is Professor Jarrell's assumption, yes.

25 Q. Now, about arbitrageurs, I guess I have one more question

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 or a couple. I think we can all agree and stipulate that they
2 like to make money. I think that point is made in your
3 affidavit, right?

4 A. True, and it's not just true of arbitrageurs. It even
5 applies to lawyers, but yes.

6 Q. Well --

7 THE COURT: Not judges. It doesn't apply to us.

8 THE WITNESS: Notice I left you out, your Honor.

9 BY MR. COFFEY:

10 Q. Some lawyers take more risks than others, too. But arbs
11 are part of a business infused with risk, right?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. You make money sometimes, you make a lot of money, and you
14 lose money sometimes, right?

15 A. Correct.

16 Q. So while it's important to make money as an arb, it's also 17 important to cut losses, if you need to, right?

18 A. If you have to.

19 Q. So you're not opining here that arbitrageurs will never 20 sell below their basis, are you?

21 A. No. If they feel they have to, they will take their 22 losses, like anyone else. My only point was that they will be
23 highly incentivized to do all they can to keep Boston
24 Scientific in the game.

25 Q. Well, if the arbs believe that the options are to take the

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 $63 from J&J, $63 offer from J&J, or let Guidant remain as a
2 standalone company, their decision will have to be based on
3 what they believe Guidant is worth as a standalone company;
4 isn't that right?

5 A. If those were the choices, that's what they'd have to do.

6 Q. Now, I want to call up exhibit 5 to your affidavit, please.
7 It's another stock chart, and I want to point to this period of 8 time, the lower left part of Exhibit 5. And you see that the 9 Guidant stock, prior to the announcement of the renegotiated
10 merger agreement on November 15, was trading at around 56 or 11 $57 a share; do you see that?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. And when the revised deal was announced, the stock went to 14 just under $63; do you see that?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And that was an indication that the market believed that 17 this deal was likely to close, wasn't it?

18 A. Relatively likely, yes.

19 Q. Thank you. We can take that down, Marco. Thank you.

20 Now, you understand that Professor Jarrell's preferred
21 measure of damages is the difference between the price at which 22 J&J contracted to purchase Guidant and the investment value of 23 Guidant to Johnson & Johnson, as evident from the amount that
24 Johnson & Johnson was prepared to pay for Guidant, don't you?

25 A. I understand that that was -- I think he said in his

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 testimony that was his preferred method.

2 Q. And he refers to the amount that J&J was prepared to pay
3 for Guidant as Johnson & Johnson's "revealed preference;" do
4 you remember that?

5 A. That's when he was talking about the bids, as I recall,
6 yes.

7 Q. Yes. You're familiar with the concept of a revealed
8 preference?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. A revealed preference refers to behavior that demonstrates 11 the value that a person places on something like an asset?

12 A. That's one context in which it's used, yes.

13 Q. And as used here, per Professor Jarrell, the amount that 14 Johnson & Johnson was prepared to pay for Guidant demonstrates 15 the value that Johnson & Johnson placed on Guidant; isn't that
16 right?

17 A. Well, Jarrell was using that term, but it got a little 18 confusing to me when he applied it in a situation where they 19 hadn't actually made a bid.

20 Q. Are you talking about the $75?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Okay. With that caveat, do you agree with my prior 23 question that the revealed preference is the amount that 24 Johnson & Johnson was prepared to pay for Guidant and it's 25 evidence of the value that Johnson & Johnson placed on Guidant?

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 A. That's what the concept of revealed preference says.

2 Q. Now, the price of $63.08 when that was negotiated, that
3 showed a revealed preference that, at that time, Johnson &
4 Johnson valued Guidant by no less than that amount, right?

5 A. Presumably, that would be the revealed preference answer,
6 once again.

7 Q. And presumably, if it's willing to pay $63 for something,
8 it's hoping to get some value on top of that, right?

9 A. Generally, yes.

10 Q. Right. Now, you have no reason to -- well, you cite no
11 evidence in your affidavit contrary to the proposition that 12 Johnson & Johnson was prepared to make a $75 bid for Guidant,
13 right?

14 A. I don't recall evaluating that one way or the other.

15 Q. Do you recall being asked in your deposition that question
16 and saying, no, you had no reason to question that?

17 A. Really just gave the same answer now. Really, that is 18 still my opinion. I don't have an opinion one way or the 19 other.

20 Q. And that $75 planned bid indicates a revealed preference
21 that Johnson & Johnson valued Guidant at no less than $75,
22 right?

23 A. Well, that's why I say it gets a little sticky. Revealed
24 preference usually means revealed by an actual action; so the 25 68 and the 71 would be examples of the concept. But a planned

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 action? I don't believe he used revealed preference in that
2 context.

3 Q. Well, the 71 you anticipate, 71, you would consider
4 revealed preference?

5 A. I think so.

6 Q. And so it's a revealed preference because it reveals what
7 the purchaser -- how much the purchaser values the asset,
8 right?

9 A. It reveals that they should value it at least at 71 if 10 they're rational, yes.

11 Q. And the important part of that analysis is the number that 12 they have concluded that they're willing to pay, right?

13 A. I think so.

14 Q. All right. So if Johnson & Johnson -- hypothetically, had 15 senior management concluded that they were about to make a
16 $75 offer, but it had not yet been communicated, what's 17 important there is that they had come to that conclusion of 18 value even though they had yet to communicate it; isn't that
19 right?

20 A. Well, maybe, but how do you know they really -- the whole
21 point of revealed preference is it gets around this internal 22 mechanism by saying, you did it and I can see it. So what
23 you're suggesting is some other theory than revealed
24 preference. Maybe it's an appropriate one, maybe it's not, but 25 it's not revealed preference.

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 Q. Okay. So now, let's just zero in on that for a second. If
2 the reason -- if the reason that the number isn't communicated
3 is because -- another scenario. The number isn't communicated
4 because there are second doubts -- second thoughts on the part
5 of the acquirer, that could be -- I think that speaks to what
6 you just said, right?

7 A. It could not be communicated for a lot of reasons, but the 8 whole concept of revealed preference is to avoid getting in 9 disputes like, why wasn't it communicated? Why wasn't this 10 done or that done, and to look at what just actually happened.

11 Q. But you talk about a number of reasons why it might not be 12 communicated, but I'm trying to tie this back to your prior 13 testimony about what's important here is the assessment of 14 value just prior to the communication.

15 And if the reason it's not communicated is because of 16 an external reason that it would be futile or that -- that it
17 would be futile, and that's the only reason it's not sent,
18 you'd agree with me that that value does speak to what the 19 potential purchaser feels about the value of that asset, right?

20 A. Well, depending on the record, it may. I'm just saying
21 it's not revealed preference. You're now offering another
22 explanation for why that number might be used as a measure of 23 their perceived value.

24 Q. Would your view change if you knew that the Chairman of J&J
25 asked the Chairman of Guidant if they could get a deal done at

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 $75?

2 A. Well, it wouldn't change regarding whether it's revealed
3 preference or not. We're now arguing about how strong the 4 evidence is that J&J felt confident that it was willing to bid
5 75, even though it did not.

6 Q. Well, I guess this tweak in my hypothetical now involves 7 actually communicating to the seller the number 75, can we get
8 this deal done at 75. All right? So it's not just keeping it
9 internally, it's actually conveying it. Does that give it more
10 weight, in your view?

11 A. I think it might give it more weight, but I still wouldn't 12 call it revealed preference, if it's not what you referred to 13 previously as a definitive bid.

14 Q. Well, if J&J believed that a transaction of $75 per share
15 would be a positive net present value to J&J, you would agree
16 that that bespeaks a revealed preference of $75?

17 A. Again, we're sort of quarreling over the definition of 18 revealed preference. I would agree that it's some evidence of 19 what they valued the company at, but I don't think it's 20 revealed preference. Revealed preference means revealed by an 21 actual action, and I thought think Professor Jarrell meant an 22 actual bid from the real world.

23 Q. So in your view, a discussion between the chairman of the 24 two companies, can we get this done at 75, is not a revealed
25 preference?

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 A. In my view, it would not be.

2 THE COURT: It might still be a valuable way to assess
3 value, but not a revealed preference, as the term is defined,
4 as you understand it?

5 THE WITNESS: That's my answer.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 BY MR. COFFEY:

8 Q. Okay. Let's go to paragraph 40 of your trial affidavit, a
9 discussion about the DCF calculations. And in this section you
10 opine that Professor Jarrell's damages calculations are highly 11 sensitive to the uncertainty as to the investment value of 12 Guidant to J&J; do you see that?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. But his damage calculation is the revealed preference,
15 right?

16 A. Well, but the revealed preference only has validity, in my 17 mind, to the extent that it reveals the underlying valuation.
18 So the driving force behind the entire thing is the credibility
19 of the underlying valuations.

20 Q. Well, you would agree with me that Johnson & Johnson is a
21 sophisticated investor in the healthcare area?

22 A. I don't -- Well, it's an awfully big company. So when you
23 say Johnson & Johnson, I presume you mean certain people within 24 it, but I don't have any evidence to the contrary.

25 Q. Right. And you understood -- you understand that Johnson &

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 Johnson was willing to put tens of billions of dollars at risk
2 in bidding on Guidant, right?

3 A. That's a fact.

4 Q. Right. And so you're not prepared to say that Johnson &
5 Johnson was making these bids willy-nilly, right?

6 A. No, I would not say that.

7 Q. But you do criticize Professor Jarrell because of his, at 8 least part of his report, discusses DCF valuations; isn't that
9 right?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. Now, you understand, as you testify today, that Professor
12 Jarrell, were the first of those analysis only as evidence to 13 support his alternative method of measuring damages, the 14 revealed preference; do you understand that?

15 A. Yes, but I found that to be odd. I mean, I don't see how 16 Johnson & Johnson, as an entity, through Professor Jarrell, can 17 claim that their damages are whatever they bid. I mean, that 18 just doesn't seem to make sense to me. It has to be the 19 underlying economics on which they based the bids, which is the 20 DCF.

21 Q. Now, am I right you didn't -- you didn't address the 22 revealed preference argument in your expert report, right?

23 A. Correct. I thought the key fact was the underlying 24 economics on which the bids were based.

25 Q. And now, you do it in your trial affidavit, right? You now

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 attack this revealed preference idea?

2 A. Well, Professor Jarrell, I didn't realize what a big deal
3 he was making of it until he testified. It didn't seem to be 4 relevant to me because the relevant question is the underlying
5 economics.

6 Q. Now, I want to address something you say in paragraph 57 of 7 your affidavit. It's a one-paragraph section, heading: The 8 fact of J&J's bidding behavior does not provide independent
9 evidence of Guidant's investment value to Johnson & Johnson.
10 Do you see that?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. Well, isn't what J&J was looking to pay for something the 13 best evidence of what it -- how it valued Guidant?

14 A. Well, it's just evidence that they relied on their 15 underlying economics. I don't see how you can use someone's 16 bid as a measure of damages without understanding where that 17 bid came from.

18 Q. Well, and that's what Professor Jarrell did, right? He 19 used these other methods to cross check the bidding behavior,
20 right?

21 A. Well, in my mind, the bid is just a reflection of the 22 underlying investment value as contained in the workpapers that 23 were provided.

24 Q. Let's anchor this to the $71 per share offer that J&J put 25 on the table after Boston's firm offer. Are you saying that

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 the fact that Johnson & Johnson made a bid at 71, which was
2 accepted by Guidant, which would have been about a $24 billion
3 deal, is no more informative about the investment value of 4 Guidant to Johnson & Johnson, than Johnson & Johnson's internal
5 financial estimates standing alone?

6 A. It just means that the management believed the internal
7 investment. That's why they made the bid in the first place.
8 They looked at the assets, they valued what they thought they 9 were worth to them, and determined what they would be willing
10 to bid on that basis, I presume.

11 Q. Well, isn't the fact that Johnson & Johnson committed to 12 pay about $24 billion to acquire Guidant proof positive that
13 J&J placed a value on Guidant of at least $24 billion?

14 A. Assuming they were rational agents, yes.

15 Q. So absent some evidence of irrelevant rationality by 16 Johnson & Johnson, a multi-billion dollar, multi-national
17 corporation, that would be proof positive that Johnson &
18 Johnson placed a value on Guidant of at least $24 billion;
19 isn't that right?

20 A. I think so.

21 Q. Now, you know --

22 A. At that time.

23 Q. I'm so sorry?

24 A. At that time, at the time they made the bid.

25 Q. Now, the fact that J&J's DCF valuation changed over time

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 and was sensitive to changes in the inputs to the model, the
2 DCF model doesn't change the fact that at the end of the
3 process, Johnson & Johnson committed to pay almost $24 billion
4 for the company; isn't that right?

5 A. It doesn't change that, no.

6 Q. The same is true also of Johnson & Johnson's planned bid of 7 $75 per share; isn't that right?

8 A. Same is true. They did an analysis and, you know,
9 concluded at that point they could bid 75. Though, it's 10 somewhat ironic because a month earlier they said 63 was top
11 dollar, and no further good news about Guidant.

12 Q. And I'm going to come back to that in just a little bit.
13 Now, assuming the evidence shows that Johnson & Johnson was 14 prepared to pay $75 per share, the fact that J&J's DCF
15 valuation was sensitive to changes in the inputs of the model
16 doesn't change the fact that J&J valued Guidant in an amount of 17 at least $75 per share at that point in time?

18 A. It doesn't change the conclusion of what J&J was valuing it
19 at, no.

20 Q. Do you have a term, sir, for -- I'm going to buy something
21 for $8 and it's worth $11 to me, but I'm going to get it for 8.
22 Do you have a term for the three bucks' difference?

23 A. That's commonly called consumer surplus, in economics.

24 Q. What would you call it in M and A? I'm going to buy it for 25 X dollars a share, and I think it's worth, to me, three bucks

1 more than that. What's the three bucks there?

2 A. What I often call it is wishful thinking, but I'm being a
3 little humorous. That's the expected value you hope to achieve
4 by undertaking the transaction or to earn for yourself.

5 Q. I'm trying to -- if I use expected value -- I just want to 6 use a term that a doctor would use, doctor in economics.

7 A. Well, the word expected, if it's your expectations, it's
8 your hope or value creation from the transaction.

9 Q. One of my smarter colleagues suggested, expected net
10 present value. Would that be a phrase?

11 A. Okay. That's commonly referred to as that.

12 Q. I just want to make sure I understand.

13 A. But expected with respect to the individual doing the 14 forecasting because some other individual might forecast it
15 differently.

16 Q. All right. Well, if you'll turn to paragraph 41 of your 17 trial affidavit, I want to spend a little time on this 18 particular paragraph. There is actually a reference to 19 expected net present value there; do you see that?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. Okay. So what this section of your affidavit analyzes,
22 J&J's estimates of Guidant's investment value and how they
23 changed over time, is investment value another way; would you
24 say?

25 A. Investment value is there. The value of the investment to

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 them, that's what I think is meant in the context of these 2 things.

3 Q. Well, I just want to make sure we get our terms right.
4 Maybe we should stick with expected net present value?

5 A. Well, the expected net present value is 3.7.

6 Q. Right. And that's going to be, I'm going to pay X and it's
7 worth Y, and the difference is the 3.7 billion?

8 A. Yes. I think it's worth Y. My current projections tell me
9 that it's worth Y, to me. Just to be clear.

10 Q. Understood. Got it.

11 A. Because the payment is known. The other thing is based on 12 projections.

13 Q. All right. Now, as I understand, this is the first
14 paragraph in this section, but what you're doing here is 15 putting down where J&J was on its estimates as of the date of 16 the initial merger agreement in December of 2004, right?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. And the DCF value that J&J had come up with was 19 approximately 27.6 billion; do you see that?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And the expected net present value to J&J, if it acquired
22 Guidant at 76 bucks, was 3.7 billion; do you see that?

23 A. I do.

24 Q. And, you know, that expected present value -- withdrawn.
25 Withdrawn.

1 I'd like now to turn to the next paragraph, when you
2 fast forward in time. And for the record, there are a couple
3 of words at the end of that that are in the original paragraph,
4 just carry it over to the next page. Just so you understand
5 what's on the screen is missing words after that sentence, but
6 we're going to come to them next. It's just a carry-on 7 sentence to the next page.

8 A. Okay.

9 Q. Okay. So 11 months later, at the time of the amended
10 merger agreement, you note that the DCF estimate has dropped
11 about 13 percent to 24 billion; do you see that?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. Now, I looked for it, but I didn't see your analysis of the 14 change in the net expected -- excuse me, the expected net
15 present value to J&J as of the amended merger agreement. Is 16 that in your report?

17 A. Might be in the exhibit. I don't think it's in the text.

18 Q. Okay. Is there some reason why you included it for the 19 initial merger agreement but didn't include it when you went to 20 the next date?

21 A. Not that I can think of. The point I'm making here is just 22 the change in the valuation. So it's not really relevant to 23 this point that I'm making.

24 Q. In other words, the point you're trying to make is that 25 their estimate of the value of Guidant -- that Guidant's value

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 had decreased by 13 percent, from the 27.6 billion number to
2 the $24 billion number, right?

3 A. That's the point I'm making, yes.

4 Q. Do you know whether the expected net present value to J&J
5 declined proportionate to that?

6 A. You know what, I think, as I recall, it declined. It may 7 have declined proportionally. It didn't go to zero. This was 8 still the positive net present value. I don't remember the 9 number. It may be in an exhibit.

10 Q. You'd agree with me that that could be an important number,
11 right? Because there could be a scenario where, even though
12 the value of the thing I'm buying is less, to me, I think it's 13 worth more or maybe even more than I thought it was worth
14 before my net expected net present value?

15 A. If the market price dropped more than your valuation, your 16 expected net present value could go up.

17 Q. Well, you cite as authority for this sentence, these 18 Korbich Exhibit No. 10; so I'd like to call that up, please.
19 Now, this is a presentation to the J&J board of directors. I'm 20 just -- let's stay on this page for a second, Marco, just to 21 orient the witness.

22 Are you with me, Professor?

23 A. I'm with you. I'm just doing something else, too. I'm 24 multitasking here.

25 Q. I think you're looking in your affidavit?

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 A. Because I was curious. I said I thought this was in an
2 exhibit, and so I'm also going through my affidavit, but I'm
3 ready. I see what you have.

4 Q. I would be, with the Court's indulgence, I'd be happy to 5 see if you could find that in your trial affidavit somewhere.

6 A. Yeah, if you look at Exhibit 9 in my trial affidavit.

7 Q. Okay. Exhibit 9? Okay.

8 A. And look at Line 3.

9 Q. Okay. So --

10 A. So there are all the MPV's as well.

11 Q. Right. Well, why don't we come back to this, and then I
12 think I'll link it back to your exhibit.

13 A. Okay.

14 Q. But the MPV, you put it in for December of '04 into the 15 text, but for November of '05 we're going to have to go back to 16 Exhibit 9, right?

17 A. Yes, and for the other dates as well.

18 Q. Okay. So this is a document you relied on for the sentence
19 we just analyzed, in November 2005 declined in the value of 20 Guidant. And so this is the cover page, and I want to flip to 21 the page that you cited, which is unreadable, unfortunately.
22 But we're not going to do anything with it other than have me
23 note that it's Page 4547, which is the specific pin is cite in 24 your affidavit.

25 What I want to do now is look at the next page, the

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 page right after this, and this is the bridge of valuation
2 changes. And if you see, at the time of signing, the net
3 present value as calculated by J&J was $3.6 billion. So I
4 think it's a little different than your report, but that's
5 what's on this document. And then if you look at November 1st,
6 2005, the net present value is higher, isn't it?

7 A. That's exactly what's in Exhibit 9, yes.

8 Q. Right. In Exhibit 9 but not in the text of your affidavit,
9 right?

10 A. Right.

11 Q. And so what happened here, it wasn't a proportionate drop
12 or something like a proportionate drop. In fact, as of the 13 amended merger agreement, Johnson & Johnson was getting a
14 better deal, right?

15 A. They dropped. As I said, this can happen even though the 16 valuation went down. Their offer went down more, so the MPV
17 went up.

18 Q. Without getting into too much detail on the pluses and 19 minuses, there are several minuses, things that have happened
20 to the company, and there are estimates of what that is. But 21 you see the reduced purchase price, right?

22 A. That's exactly what I just said, yeah, it can happen.

23 Q. Right. So in the section -- so we've established that as 24 of November 2005, we know from reading the text of your 25 affidavit, Guidant's -- Johnson & Johnson's estimate of

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 Guidant's valuation has declined, but we know from Korbich 10
2 and from being directed now to Exhibit 9 of your affidavit,
3 that it was a better deal for Johnson & Johnson by a
4 billion-and-a-half dollars; isn't that right?

5 A. According to their projections, yes.

6 Q. Right. Well, you used -- withdrawn.

7 Now, if we could go back to the carryover paragraph in
8 the affidavit. I believe it's still paragraph 42. Right.
9 There we go. There are those words that I was looking for 10 before. So the next entry here, the next date you focus on is 11 two months later, where the DCF estimate of Guidant's value has 12 decreased further, and that now it's down to 22.8 billion, and 13 drifted up a few days later.

14 And once again, we'd have to go looking in Exhibit 9
15 for the data point that you included for the initial merger
16 agreement, but did not include for either November of '05 or 17 January of '05, meaning the net estimated present value, right?

18 A. If you wanted to see the MPV, which really wasn't what I
19 was talking about there, yes, you'd have to go to Exhibit 9.

20 Q. Now, here you cite to Darretta 22; so I'd like to call that 21 up, and I think your point is, over time, the Guidant value had 22 declined by quite a bit. I think you make that point in 23 paragraph 42. We'll come to that.

24 A. The estimated value by Johnson & Johnson had declined quite 25 a bit.

1 THE COURT: You keep saying that. Is there an
2 intrinsic value that is measurable some other way, or are we
3 stuck with what people thought it was worth at that time?

4 THE WITNESS: Well, there is a Guidant market price
5 throughout this period until it stops trading. That's why I
6 keep saying -- I want to distinguish these various concepts,
7 the market price, the value projected by J&J, and the value
8 that could have been projected by anyone else, such as 9 stockholders.

10 Whenever I buy a stock, I do a DCF or I do my own
11 projections. So I just want it to be clear that when he's 12 talking about this, he's talking about a set of projections
13 prepared by one entity and what that leads to.

14 THE COURT: All right.

15 BY MR. COFFEY:

16 Q. Well, so in Darretta 22, it's cited by you, and I'm not 17 going to ask you, but I could not find in here the support for 18 the sentence you cited, the precise for -- it may be my
19 problem, but I do want to take you to the same bridge
20 valuations changes in this report that's on January 10, 2006.

21 And, here, the board is being apprised -- a recap.
22 There was the original MPV of 3.6, and then when they 23 renegotiated the deal at 63, it was 5.1. And then again, they 24 have mostly subtractions but, nonetheless, as of January 10,
25 they still think -- withdrawn.

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 The 64.30 is, you understand, to be the current value
2 of the J&J consideration because the stock price of J&J has
3 gone up? Let me back that up. You're aware that J&J was 4 prepared to pay part in cash and part in stock?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And we've been using the $63 shorthand because that was the 7 value as of the date of the amended merger agreement?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. And as of January 10, that 63 has risen to $64.30 because 10 of the appreciation of the J&J stock; is that right?

11 A. Yes, the J&J stock price moves around. The amount they're 12 offering changes, effectively, when you convert it to dollars.

13 Q. Right. And here on January 10th, we still have, in J&J's
14 view, that the estimated net present value if they were to 15 acquire J&J -- excuse me, Guidant, is four-and-a-half billion
16 dollars; do you see that?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. All right. And that's still north of the net present value
19 they were going -- they believed they were going to get if the 20 original deal went through, right?

21 A. At that point, with the offer that was on the table then,
22 yes.

23 Q. And the board then is informed that if, in fact, we were to 24 increase our bid to $71, there's still $2 billion to be 25 pocketed, as it were, or expect to be pocketed, right?

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 A. Expected.

2 Q. Right.

3 A. I wish it was always pocketed when I expected it.

4 Q. Right. And that's because often things don't work out the 5 way you think, right?

6 A. Right.

7 Q. Projections can turn out -- the real world can turn out
8 better, it can turn out worse?

9 A. Always seems to.

10 Q. And that's why when you do valuations, you don't peek into 11 the future, right?

12 A. If you're trying to do an appraisal at a point in time, you
13 typically do not peek into the future.

14 Q. Typically, or almost universally?

15 A. Well --

16 THE COURT: I'm sorry to interrupt, but that's baked
17 into the stock price, isn't it?

18 THE WITNESS: Well, the stock price at a point in 19 time, by definition, can't peek into the future because it is 20 done then. The question is, if I'm doing an appraisal --

21 THE COURT: I mean, the offer price is a peek into the 22 future, isn't it?

23 THE WITNESS: Well, it's a projection into the future.
24 I think by peek into the future --

25 BY MR. COFFEY:

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 Q. Looking backwards, saying you were just talking about
2 expecting and things don't work out the way they do, and
3 projections are rarely spot on, right?

4 A. Correct.

5 Q. And so down the road, someone may be unhappy because the 6 projections didn't turn out to be as rosy as they'd hoped?

7 A. Correct.

8 Q. And typically, in that kind of scenario, there's somebody
9 who's really happy because they're on the other side of the 10 deal and it worked out beautifully, compared to what was 11 projected, right?

12 A. That's right.

13 Q. And that's why when we have evaluation disputes, courts
14 take a snapshot of what the value was at the time of the deal,
15 right?

16 THE COURT: I don't think he's an authority to explain
17 why courts do what they do. Are you?

18 THE WITNESS: No. I was just about to say that.

19 MR. COFFEY: Let me rephrase that, your Honor.

20 BY MR. COFFEY:

21 Q. Valuation experts do that?

22 A. Not necessarily. It depends on what the legal context is,
23 if they're testifying in the legal context.

24 Q. Well, in the legal context, if the instruction of the court
25 is to value something as of a date certain, then you would

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 value it as of that date and not peek down the road to see what
2 happened, right?

3 A. If that is the standard. And, for example, I've seen that
4 standard used in cases where I've worked, like a minority
5 squeeze out, where a minority shareholder got $10 for their
6 shares and they said that wasn't fair. The Delaware Court
7 asked for an appraisal, an appraisal was done, and that 8 appraisal would be as of the date that the shareholders were
9 squeezed out, and it would not peek ahead. In that context,
10 I've seen exactly what you say.

11 Q. And if the minor shareholder says, look, they projected
12 $10 a year and they made a thousand dollars a year, I should 13 get part of that, if the appraiser goes back and says, as of 14 the date I'm to evaluate this, to appraise it, the appraisal is 15 reasonable, I don't look to see what happened; isn't that
16 right?

17 A. In that context, you would not look to see what happened.

18 Q. And conversely, if the projection was $100 a year, and it
19 worked out to be $10 a year, the person on the other side of 20 the deal doesn't come in and say, hey, I need some money back
21 here because this didn't work out the way I thought?

22 A. In that context, that's correct.

23 THE COURT: That's in part because they then would 24 have been able to invest those dollars differently, if they 25 wanted to?

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 THE WITNESS: Well, it's also because the minority
2 shareholder is out. They're not going to own the stock, in any
3 event. It's just a question of making sure that when they were
4 taken out, they got a fair price at the time they were taken
5 out.

6 THE COURT: Right, but everything that happens
7 subsequent to that is sort of speculative, right?

8 THE WITNESS: And it wouldn't matter to them because
9 they're out, in any event.

10 THE COURT: All right. I guess we better stop for the 11 day. How much more do you have of this witness?

12 MR. COFFEY: I'm about to turn to a new area. It's 13 going to take a while to warm up to it.

14 THE COURT: Let's stop. How much more do you think
15 you have with this witness?

16 MR. COFFEY: I don't know because -- I would say --

17 THE COURT: Because I keep interrupting, is that what
18 you're saying?

19 MR. COFFEY: No. This is -- I thought I knew it
20 pretty well, but I deleted the page numbers this morning by 21 accident. So I think I'm well over halfway.

22 THE COURT: So you think you have a couple more hours?

23 MR. COFFEY: No, I don't know. I would say an hour
24 and change.

25 THE COURT: Okay. And then, Mr. Ohlemeyer, how long

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 do you think you'd be, ballpark? I'm just trying to figure out
2 timing tomorrow.

3 MR. OHLEMEYER: Thirty, 45 minutes.

4 THE COURT: And then after that?

5 MR. OHLEMEYER: We're done.

6 MR. COFFEY: And then we have Stoll, which we'd like
7 to play.

8 THE COURT: We'd like to be wrapped up by lunch.

9 MR. OHLEMEYER: Yes, I still don't understand -- I
10 don't know why we're going the stay and watch a videotape that 11 we've all seen.

12 THE COURT: Yes, I'm not sure -- there's not going to 13 be any questions. It's just to going to be seeing my reaction,
14 a silent movie star.

15 MR. COFFEY: Judge, I'll speak clearly. We agreed and 16 they agreed that we would be entitled to reopen our case and 17 play that tape; so I don't want to hear from the other side
18 that they don't want that now. That was part of the deal. We 19 want to open --

20 THE COURT: Well, I didn't make the deal.

21 MR. COFFEY: I know you didn't, Judge.

22 THE COURT: But what is the necessity of me doing --
23 us doing it all together, or me promising I'll look at it
24 later? What's the difference?

25 MR. COFFEY: Well, I think that as -- I think it is

ECHPGUI7

Cornell - cross

1 worth your Honor seeing this immediately on the heels of some
2 of the testimony you heard today and yesterday, immediately, we
3 do think. So we feel strongly about it.

4 THE COURT: Well, let's see where we head.

5 MR. COFFEY: Mr. Ohlemeyer, he can leave, but we think
6 it would be reasonable for the Court to leave the room and
7 begin to think about things. We'd like this to be part of the 8 mix as you start to think about things, Judge. That's our 9 request.

10 THE COURT: All right.

11 MR. COFFEY: And it's short. It's 20 minutes.

12 THE COURT: Okay. 20 minutes of Mr. Ohlemeyer's time,
13 do you know what that costs?

14 MR. COFFEY: I have no comeback for that.

15 MR. WILSON: Only a percent of his.

16 THE COURT: All right. So we'll pick up again
17 tomorrow. Professor, let me remind you, I think you probably 18 already know, you're on cross-examination now; so don't discuss
19 the substance of your testimony with anyone. You can talk
20 logistics and things like that, but if you could be here ready
21 to go by 9:30, make sure you build in a little cushion time.

22 THE WITNESS: The downstairs?

23 THE COURT: Yes, exactly.

24 THE WITNESS: Yes.

25 (Witness temporarily excused)

ECHPGUI7

1 THE COURT: Terrific. Thanks very much. Leave
2 everything there. We'll see you tomorrow. Okay? Thanks a lot
